SACCO AND VANZETTI FACE EXECUTION AT MIDNIGHT

Counsel Rushes to See Another of Supreme Court Justices When Second One Refuses Stay

CORDOBA (Argentina) Aug. 21 (AP)—A powerful bomb exploded at the Ford shops here this morning, doing much damage. The walls were blown out in some places and neighboring houses were partly wrecked. Scores of residents rushed into the streets.

It is thought that the bomb outrage was connected with the protests against the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti.

BOSTON, Aug. 22. (AP)—Unaware that the latest move undertaken by their counsel in their behalf has failed, Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, awaiting their fate in the death house at Charlestown State Prison, at midnight entered the last twenty-four hours of life allotted them in the sentence granted twelve days ago by Gov. Fuller.

Sacco went to sleep last night without knowing but having been informed that Justice Harlan F. Stone of the United States Supreme Court had declined to intervene at this time and that their attorney, Arthur D. Hill of Boston, was motoring through the night by automobile and motor boat to appeal to Justice Brandeis at the latter's summer home on Isle Au Haut, off the Maine coast.

Hill had left on Saturday to obtain a stay of order from Justice Stone yesterday morning pending a conference with Justice Brandeis because Brandeis' personal relations with Governor Fuller, dismissed in the case, the counsel had not time in seeking the third justice of the United States Supreme Court, the only remaining. At the same time a telegram was sent to Chief Justice Taft, cruising at Murray Bay, Can., asking information as to how the appeal might be brought to his attention.

William Murray, chaplain of the prison, was the last visitor admitted to see Sacco and Vanzetti. Standing Madeiros, who is to die in the electric chair for another murder along with the two Italians before entering the cells to which the priest had not been admitted by Justice Brandeis's decision said he did not impart it to the two men, as all three of them he said are mentally well.

COOLIDGES GO TO PARK

President Has Slight Cold

Stays Home from Church, But Able to Board Train for Yellowstone

Long Fishing Trip in Hot Sun Believed to Have Caused Indisposition

CUSTER (S. D.) Aug. 21. (AP)—With a week of outdoor recreation before them, President and Mrs. Coolidge left the Black Hills in a special train tonight for Yellowstone National Park.

His special train was due at the north entrance to the park tomorrow afternoon and from there Mr. Coolidge will progress southward and east, spending the days in fishing, horseback riding and walking as fancy suits him.

SON WITH HIM

Accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge and his son John, Secretary and Mrs. Everett Sanders, Col. Blanton Winship, the President's aide, and Maj. James F. Coupal, White House physician, Mr. Coolidge chose a line of travel which will take him northward through Wyoming into Billings, and Livingston, Mont., early tomorrow morning.

It was the first time the President decided upon a trip outside of the Black Hills territory since coming West, and, except for a few hours in Nebraska on his way to the Pine Ridge (South Dakota) Indian Reservation, is the first time he has left this State this summer.

SEE WEEK ON HOOF

The Yellowstone itinerary called for none but operating stops on the way to the park and a return directly to the summer White House after the week's pleasure trip is over.

The usual large party of newspaper writers and photographers which accompanies the President looked forward to a week of constantly "being on the hoof" since Mr. Coolidge expects to see as much of the park as possible during his five or six days there.

COLD FAILS TO DELAY START FOR PARK

RAPID CITY (S. D.) Aug. 21. (AP) President Coolidge suffered a slight indisposition which kept him from church service, but failed to interfere with his plans for going to Yellowstone National Park tonight.

A slight cold was believed to have kept the President in bed in the morning. He was able to arise for the noontime meal, however, and go ahead with his arrangements for leaving the hills tonight.

A long fishing trip in the hot sun yesterday also played a part, it is understood, in the President's indisposition. This is the first time he has missed church service since coming here. Mrs. Coolidge and John, however, attended the service at the Hermosa Congregational Church.

MONTECITO GIRL SHOT

Heiress Found Dead on Lawn

Coroner and Rich New York Man Both Say Tragedy Was Accidental

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 21. (AP)—Cornelia Van Rensselar Erving was found dead in the front yard of her father's Montecito estate today with a 32-caliber revolver at her side.

The girl, Coroner E. G. Dodge said, had prepared to go on a hunting trip with her father, J. Langdon Erving, retired Montecito resident, and had asked him to teach her to shoot, she never having fired a gun.

When her father went to the garage at 10:30 o'clock this morning she obtained his revolver. Missing her, Mr. Erving conducted a search and found her, probably fifteen minutes after she had died, with a bullet wound through her heart.

The Coroner and her father declared the shooting accidental.

An inquest will be held tomorrow morning. The girl's mother was at Pebble Beach yesterday and was returning tonight.

J. Langdon Erving is a wealthy and retired New Yorker, who established his residence some years ago at Montecito. Miss Erving was born in New York and was a graduate of a girls' school in Santa Barbara.

Danish Steamer Calls for Help

BORDEAUX (France) Aug. 21. (AP)—The Danish steamer Cyril, in distress in the Bay of Biscay, sent out a wireless call tonight for immediate assistance.

The steamer reported a heavy gale blowing and high sea running.

CLEANS AUTO WITH GAS, LIGHTS MATCH; DEAD

SAN RAFAEL, Aug. 21. (Exclusive) John Perry, 28-year-old ranch hand at Bolinas, lit a cigarette while cleaning an automobile with gasoline yesterday. He died a short time later at Ross General Hospital.

Ten Boats Burn in Stockton Fire

STOCKTON, Aug. 21. (AP)—Seven gasoline tugs, three speedboats, and two barges owned by the Island Transportation Company, were destroyed by fire early today in Smith's Canal, a mile from the city limits, with loss estimated at $200,000. The cause of the fire was undetermined.

William Hollenbeck, a watchman who was sleeping on one of the tugs, cut three of the vessels free and worked them away from the flames, but the tide carried them back, and they were destroyed. Hollenbeck was burned slightly.

LARGE RATTLER KILLED

PORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—The largest rattlesnake ever seen in Oregon was killed near Canyonville, Or., by Henry Archambeau. The reptile measured five feet in length and was more than ten inches around. Thickness was three inches. There were twenty-nine rattles and one button.

ONE KILLED IN AUTO WRECK

FRESNO, Aug. 21. (AP)—William Fisher, 48 years of age, of Indianapolis, was killed, and Joe Cotto, Fresno ranch hand, was seriously injured when their automobiles collided near here this afternoon.

Will Rogers Remarks:

COLUMBUS (N. M.) Aug. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Just crossed Arizona and New Mexico. I never saw 'em looking greener and finer. Coolidge's coming to the West certainly has been a godsend to this country. Course he may be wasting a lot of rain on such few voters, but right now these States are standing in grass up to their waists and "choosing" him for "'28." The Democrats with their usual foresight had already sold their cattle.

Regards to Dan Moody and Amon Carters.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

FOG BALKS EXPERIMENT IN SPEEDING OCEAN MAILS

Plane, Failing to Locate Leviathan in Atlantic Murk, Returns to Base Baffled

NAVAL AIR STATION, QUANTUM (Mass.) Aug. 21. (AP)—Heavy fog off the Massachusetts coast early today defeated the first attempted shore-to-ship air mail flight. The fog forced the PN-10, United States Navy flying boat, to return to its base here after the large plane had battled the thick weather for an hour and a half in an effort to reach the liner Leviathan, 375 miles off the coast.

Carrying 100 pounds of mail dispatched from New York to Boston by train after the Leviathan had sailed for Europe, the twin-motored seaplane hopped off the water here at 6:10 this morning. Three hours later the ship returned, the attempt frustrated by the fog barrier.

Gray skies and a forbidding horizon attended the departure. A heavy fog bank at the outer bay was succeeded later by generally thick weather that kept the plane's ceiling at 100 feet. Visibility became so low that Lieut. C. H. Schildauer, in command of the plane, brought her about to return to base.

In addition to Lieut. Schildauer, Lieut. Bradford E. Grow, assistant pilot; two aviation mechanics and a radio man formed the crew of the PN-10.

PILOT PLANE OFF

The PN-10 left the water with apparent ease and the two ships headed for the coast, the PN-10 flying at about a 400-foot level with the escort on a parallel course about 200 feet higher.

Shortly after leaving the station the two planes plunged into rolling clouds of fog. As the fog thickened, Lieut. Thomas signaled the report and shouted, "Looks bad."

ESCORT DROPS OUT

Over Nantucket the weather cleared slightly. Dropping under the nose of the mail plane, the occupants of the escort plane waved farewell at a point halfway across Massachusetts Bay.

At 8:40 a.m., the PN-10 radioed, "Running into fog."

Again at 9:24 the unit "Returning. Quantum due unfavorable weather; 100 miles from Boston; ceiling 100 feet; visibility one mile."

The mail had been packed in twenty-five pound parcels in four waterproof sacks. It was planned to swing the plane at slow speed over the forecastle of the Leviathan, dropping one sack at a time at the end of a 500-foot line.

GEOLOGIST DIGS OUT

Trench Shovel Saves Guide

Tells of His Imprisonment By Tons of Loose Dirt; Finds New Exit

CHATTANOOGA (Tenn.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Digging his way out with a small army trench shovel, which he always carried on his cave trips, L. S. Ashley, Nick-a-Jack Cave guide and geologist, this morning at 9:30, returned to a world that had virtually given him up as dead.

Ashley told a story of being imprisoned by tons of loose dirt, of wandering for two days in search of water for his carbide lamp and of finally finding his way out through a small exit never before known to exist. He went into the cavern Monday morning, last, and when he emerged this morning, estimated that he had wandered close to seventy miles.

STORY DOUBTED

Ashley's story was doubted by O. P. Pile, chief state mine inspector. When he saw Ashley he expressed doubt as to the existence of the unknown exit and told the geologist he would have to be shown. Ashley informed Pile he would be glad to take the inspector to the exit as soon as he has rested a bit from his experience.

As has been generally thought Ashley went into the cavern Monday, last, to explore the secret cavern which he says he discovered a few weeks ago.

"That was my undoing," he said. "I should have left it alone because it has little water and is too hard to get into to ever be of any use for tourists.

"I had plenty of food to last a week or so because I always keep a little hidden away here and there. I also had another lamp in addition to the ones they found and a big can of carbide. My only trouble was finding water.

STARTS SLIDE

"I had come to a steep descent, probably seventy feet. Being equipped with a heavy pack and having trouble seeing I thought to place a candle on a rock to light me down. I clambered up to get to the ledge and started a slide of loose earth. It went down with a roar like thunder and completely filled the small entrance through which I had been forced to crawl on my stomach. At first I thought I could dig my way through with my shovel but soon saw I couldn't."

Ashley then tells how he walked miles through the cave in search of a stream. Finally he became exhausted. He thought that was some time on either Tuesday or Wednesday. He went to sleep and when he awoke several hours later he imagined he heard the sound of water. He soon realized that it was water and finally found a small stream and filled his carbide lamp. He says that while filling his lamp he lighted a candle and noticing the flame bend over, realized a current of air was near and after searching came upon a cavern at the opposite end of which he could see daylight.

HOOKWORM FIGHT WON BY SCIENCE

Disease Almost at End Declares Health Report of Rockefeller Foundation

NEW YORK, Aug. 21. (AP)—Hookworm disease has almost disappeared from the United States and is rapidly coming under control in many parts of the world, says a report of the international health board of the Rockefeller Foundation for 1926, made public today.

The greatest achievement, however, the report asserts, is not the social and economic rehabilitation of more than 7,000,000 sufferers from the disease during the past fifteen years, but the development of administrative measures which will prevent millions yet unborn from suffering from its ravages.

In this prevention work the health board during the past year has assisted in programs for the control of the disease in fifteen countries.

Control of malaria is unfolding along the same lines that has led to the virtual extermination of hookworm disease, it is asserted, with the result that only in the rural districts is the problem one of difficulty.

THREE DIE IN TYPHOON ON CHINA COAST

Wind Reaching Velocity of 115 Miles an Hour Hits City of Samshui

HONGKONG, Aug. 21. (AP)—Two children and a man were killed and five persons seriously injured at Samshui, where a house collapsed during a typhoon. The military camp and Samshui stood the storm well and reported no damage. Shipping was hurt only a little, but in Kowloon Bay the British steamship Rawalpindi had to be assisted by a government rescue tug.

The greatest velocity of the wind was 115 miles an hour. The rainfall for twelve hours was 4.16 inches.

The British steamship Rawalpindi left London June 17 for Kobe and arrived at the latter port July 30. It was on the return trip when caught in the storm.

Oklahoma Now on Way Home

MUNICIPAL AIRPORT, OAKLAND, Aug. 21. (AP)—The monoplane Oklahoma, piloted by Bennett Griffin and navigated by Al Henley, left the airport here at 12:35 p.m., today for Oklahoma City. The flight will be made by easy stages.

Miss Juanita Herod, a friend of Griffin, was the third occupant of the plane.

RIDGE ROUTE FIRE RAGES

Three Trapped in Wall of Flame

Santa Barbara National Forest Protected Only By Piru Creek

A wall of roaring flames last night hid the fate of a small family reported marooned on the Kelly ranch east of Sandbergs resort on the Ridge Route as one of the most serious brush fires in the history of Angeles National Forest swept across the highway into Pine Canyon and entered the heavy brush near the Kelly ranch house cutting off all hope of escape.

A man, his wife and small child were said to be at the ranch, but in the excitement no one was able to learn their names.

The plight of the isolated family was learned first when the fire jumped the inland highway and headed eastward, blocking all north and southbound traffic more than four hours. Frantic telephone calls to Sandberg's resort came from the ranch requesting advice on what to do.

FIRE CUTS PHONE LINE

Seeing that the flames had blocked escape over the regular trails and highways, rangers advised the family to remain at the ranch, which was protected by a small firebreak, according to meager reports reaching Los Angeles.

A few minutes later another terrified call for aid came from the ranch saying the fire was roaring through the brush at such speed that it seemed certain it would sweep through the ranch and raze its dwellings. At this time the flames destroyed the telephone connection and no further word was received from them.

The fire is reported to have started on the edge of the grounds of the Sandberg Summit Hotel at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning. It spread quickly along the inland highway and soon leaped the pavement and swept toward the east into the tinder-dry brush of Pine Canyon.

TWO CAMPS FORMED

Rangers and county fire wardens rushed to the scene and within a few hours had commandeered a force of 500 fire fighters, conscripted from Los Angeles, valley towns and week-end camping parties. But at a late hour last night the fight was fruitless and the fire was admitted to be completely out of control. It was burning at the rate of one mile an hour.

Two huge camps for the fire fighters were established immediately, one for government men and one for county fire fighters. Trucks from Los Angeles and the forest service headquarters at Newhall rushed fire-fighting equipment to the scene.

At the first call for aid 200 men were assembled by the Midnight Mission in Los Angeles and rushed northward. Yesterday afternoon when the second call was received an additional 100 men were obtained by the Midnight Mission for fire-fighting duty. An appeal for clothing and shoes for those who return today from the fire line was broadcast last night by the mission executives, who fear the men will strip their clothes to shreds in the fight against brush and flame.

Traffic over the Ridge Route was delayed from the time the fire first started until 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon when motorists were permitted to continue their way at their own risk. The pavement was strewn with rocks and embers left by the fire. In many places large boulders loosened by the heat had cracked and fallen into the road.

AIR SURVEY MADE

Supervisor George H. Cecil of the Angeles National Forest, with his entire staff of deputies, is at the scene of the fire directing operations. County Fire Warden Turner has joined the rangers in the fight and placed his equipment and men at the disposal of the government men.

At a late hour last night the fire was officially reported to be out of control on all fronts. East of the inland highway it had burned over an area of more than 2000 acres, spreading to an eight-mile front. It also was reported to have spread from the Pine Canyon area into Castaic Canyon fanned by a twenty-mile-an-hour north wind.

On the western front the fire had burned over a similar area and spread into Liebre Canyon, reached the summit of Liebre Mountain and was nearing Reservoir Summit. It was said to have damaged the Liebre pumping station. Should the flames

SEARCHING FORCES FAIL TO FIND SEVEN FLYERS

Not One Clew Comes From Pacific Wastes to Unlock Mystery in Fate of Racers

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21. (AP)—The vast Pacific Ocean continues to hold fast the fate of the seven who dared to fly over its thousands of miles of landless water from the shores of California to the islands of Hawaii. Not all the resources of the Navy, the Army, the scores of steamships plying the swelling sea, nor the hopes and prayers of relatives, friends and the world that pays tribute to brave effort, brought one word to indicate whether the ocean had claimed them, or they were still afloat, waiting for rescue, eagerly extended, but slow to come.

Five days have passed since the Golden Eagle and the Mist Doran, bearing four courageous men and one woman, roared away from the crowded Oakland airport that cheered them to win glory and the prizes offered by James D. Dole for the first and second planes to cross 2400 miles of the Pacific. And nothing has been heard from Pilot Jack Frost and Navigator Gordon Scott of Los Angeles, of the Golden Eagle, nor from Miss Mildred Doran, the young school-teacher who bravely shared the dangers of John (Auggy) Pedlar and Lieut. V. R. Knope, who piloted and navigated the plane named in her honor.

JEST WITH DEATH

Two days have gone by since Capt. William P. Erwin of Dallas, Tex., and Alvin H. Eichwaldt of Alameda, Cal., with the courage that laughed in the face of death, flew out to sea to search the waves along the whole route to Honolulu for traces of those who had preceded them. From their plane, the Dallas Spirit, they radioed gay messages to friends with the jesting spirit of men going light-heartedly to great adventure.

And then through the 600 miles of air came their SOS, piercing the night that overspread the ocean. It was at 9:02 p.m. Friday:

"We went into a tail spin—SOS—we came out of it, but were sure scared. It was a close call. We thought it was all off, but we came out of it. The lights on the instrument board went out and it was so dark that Bill couldn't see the—we are in another—SOS——"

HIS LAST MESSAGE

That was the last heard from Erwin and Eichwaldt—Erwin, holder of the Distinguished Service Medal for heroic service for his country in France during the war of nations, and Eichwaldt, a young navigator whose hand on the telegraph key sent the message that will show others how to die to aid their fellows.

Scores of ships of the navy continued today to plow the sea in search for the brave seven. The liners parting the waves between the mainland and the islands maintain their ceaseless vigil. Out from the Golden Gate of California soared army planes, working with those catapulted from the decks of the airplane carriers Langley and Arcostook, and, far out in the Pacific, other army and navy planes spread their wings over the waters of Hawaii.

What human agency could do, was done; will be done.

But whether those sought ride the waves, or whether the waves of eternity roll over them, is not known.

HONOLULU OFFERS PRAYERS FOR FLYERS

HONOLULU, Aug. 21. (AP)—Prayers for the rescue and safe return of seven aviators missing in the Pacific, were offered today by worshipers in Honolulu churches.

Precedent set by the late Commander John Rodgers in remaining afloat for nine days after his seaplane had been forced down near Hawaii in 1925 on a nonstop flight, remained today as the greatest hope to those to whom passing days have brought increasing anxiety.

HOPES HANG ON PRAYER

Petitions Ascend for Flyers

Faith Turns to Higher Power As Human Efforts for Rescue Fail

FLINT (Mich.) Aug. 21. (AP)—Despairing of man's effort to find their idol, the "flying school ma'am," this thriving industrial community bowed down in prayer today and besought aid of a higher power in the search for Miss Mildred Doran and the other missing Dole flyers. Morning, afternoon and evening services were conducted in practically every church of the city in behalf of the lost flyers and pastors reported record attendance.

At the Lakeview Methodist Episcopal Church the pew which Miss Doran customarily occupied was piled high with bouquets from friends and well-wishers. One was sent by the family of Capt. Vilas Knope, navigator for the Miss Doran plane.

Rev. R. H. Prouse, pastor of the Lakeview Church, characterized the flyers as pioneering explorers, following in the footsteps of the greatest of all pioneers, Jesus Christ.

"These persons who are blazing the trails of unknown paths of the world are deserving of the praise of the nation. They had power, vision and courage to go on where others quit the race. The same was true of Jesus Christ, the greatest of pioneers. These pioneers of the air are actuated by love for others that they might be helped. May we all have the nobleness of purpose to know that we are doing something worth while in the world."

Tributes to Miss Doran were numerous at all services.

One parishioner declared:

"One of the sweetest memories I have of Miss Doran is that after the death of her mother she wrapped her life around her family and devoted herself to their care, rather than to her own interest. Before she left I committed her to God's care in prayer. My faith is unshaken in God that He will protect her."

PILOT ERWIN'S MOTHER STILL CLINGS TO HOPE

DALLAS (Tex.) Aug. 21. (AP)—Clinging to hope despite discouraging reports of her son, Capt. William P. Erwin, lost with the Dallas Spirit monoplane in the Pacific Ocean, Mrs. W. A. Erwin, mother, today said that she did "not feel that my son is lost to the world."

Mrs. Erwin maintained her composure in spite of the fact that her husband, Rev. W. A. Erwin, who arrived here late last night from Pawhuska, Okla., is prostrated with grief.

"I feel that my son is alive," Mrs. Erwin said. "He can't be lost to the world. I believe that he is clinging to the rubber raft or wreckage of his plane and that he is alive."

Mrs. Erwin said she knew that the fuel carried by the machine would have been exhausted by this time but she said she had not lost hope.

Friends of Capt. Erwin and sponsors of the flight, as well as Col. William E. Easterwood, Jr., donor of the $25,000 prize for a Dallas-to-Hongkong flight, expressed sorrow for the flyer today. Col. Easterwood announced that when it was determined that Capt. Erwin was definitely lost or dead he would send Mrs. Erwin, who is in North Collinswood, N. J., a check for $5000.

Prayers were offered in every Sunday-school and church in Dallas for Capt. Erwin and his companions, as well as for the other five flyers lost in the Pacific.

Rev. Mr. Erwin sobbed when asked what he thought of the flight. He begged to be excused, saying he was too grief-stricken to discuss the fate of his son.

Rome Flight Balked Again

REDFERN PREPARED FOR BRAZIL FLIGHT

GOVERNORS' HOPES HIGH

Colorado Confab Opens Today

Agreement Held Possible in Spite of Stand Taken By Arizona

California Concessions to be Used as Arguments to Move Gov. Hunt

BY C. A. JONES
"Times" Staff Correspondent

DENVER, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—The conference of the Governors of seven Southwestern States, representing the drainage basin of the Colorado River, will open here tomorrow in the State office building with all apparently eager to settle the turmoil over the Colorado River compact, but with Arizona still holding back.

The preliminary conference between Arizona and California failed, as such discussions have failed for several years, and it is expected that the contentions of these two lower-basin States, which were aired with amplitude last winter in Los Angeles, will be presented again before the Governors' conference.

EXPOSE THEIR HAND

"Incommunicado" was the expression describing the Arizona commissioners today, after their attempt to force a modification of the compact by the allocation of additional river waters to the lower basin was squelched. California air-dy had refused to join with Arizona in this demand on the upper-basin States. Although they required a secret session yesterday, the whole strategy of the Arizona commission was revealed for the benefit of newspaper men when the Arizonans shouted their policies behind an open transom.

Arizona never has ratified the compact and insists she never will without this change. Upper-basin States, however, are hopeful that Arizona will descend from this position if offered concessions from California. It appears that California is ready to make reasonable offers to Arizona on the division of waters or by the appointment of an arbitration board.

The importance of the conference rests in the fact that upper-basin Governors have announced that for the protection of their own States they will be forced to oppose the Swing-Johnson bill unless all the States agree to the allocation of the river's flow contained in the Colorado River compact.

ARIZONA CENSURED

The reaction to Arizona's demand for modification has put that State in an unfavorable light and the Arizona commissioners openly have been accused of not presenting this demand to upper-basin States on their recent tour, preferring to wait and seek California's aid in the project.

Gov. Balzar of Nevada is the only missing executive, State Engineer Malone representing him. Gov. Young arrived today and expressed himself as being hopeful of an agreement. Gov. Hunt of Arizona motored in today. Gov. Dern of Utah said he believed Arizona will be placated. Gov. Emerson of Wyoming and Gov. Dillon of New Mexico announced the same opinion, which is held by Gov. Adams of Colorado, the host.

UTAH GOVERNOR HOLDS HOPES FOR CONFERENCE

DENVER, Aug. 21. (AP)—Getting Arizona and California together on a basis agreeable to both is "by no means a hopeless job," Gov. Dern of Utah said today upon his arrival to attend the seven-State Colorado River conference which opens here tomorrow.

"As a result of the conferences I have had during the past few months with representatives of California, Arizona and Nevada," said Gov. Dern, "I am inclined to feel highly optimistic over the outcome of the present meeting.

"While most of the time will be devoted to the problem of dividing the water among the lower basin States, certain tangent questions will be considered in all probability. These include ownership of the water and of the stream bed, plans for development and so forth. Utah does not feel that the Santa Fe compact should be altered, but Utah is participating in this conference with a view to obtaining full signature to the document. We, therefore, feel that certain concessions may be necessary."

Gov. Dern originated the idea of a seven-State Governors' conference and suggested it last March.

PAUL REVERE WANTS HORSE

Descendant of Famed Rider Joins Army, But Insists on Having Mount

NEW YORK, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Paul Revere reported today to Col. Edward Croft, commanding the Sixteenth United States Infantry on Governor's Island, announcing that he wanted a horse. Paul is 26 years of age and lives in Brooklyn. He is said to be a descendant of the famous rider of Revolutionary days who roused the countryside at the Battle of Lexington.

Paul has attended the Citizens' Military Training Camp at Plattsburg for four summers, qualifying for a reserve commission. Today he reported for training as a reserve lieutenant and insisted on serving with a machine-gun company, for these are the only units in which the officers are supplied horses to ride on the march.

GUARDSMEN WILL GET WEST POINT PLACES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (AP)—A call for nominations to West Point from the enlisted ranks of the National Guard has been sent out by the War Department. New York is allotted five candidates, Pennsylvania three; Ohio, Massachusetts and Texas two and all other States one each. Selections will be made by the Governors from competitors at preliminary examinations to be held between November 1 and 15, and the successful guardsmen will enter West Point next March. Allotment is based on the enlisted strength of guard in each State.

SACCO DOOMED TO DIE TONIGHT

within a day's reach of Boston. The summer address of Chief Justice Taft, vacationing at Murray Bay, Quebec, was said to have been requested in particular.

Tomorrow it is expected a record of the case will be filed with the clerk of the Supreme Court, completing an effort initiated last week to have the high tribunal review the proceedings in the Norfolk County Superior Court of Massachusetts, where the men were tried and convicted, and also the action of the State Supreme Court in refusing to review the case on its merits.

FILES ACCESSIBLE

Michael A. Musmanno, one fo defense counsel, yesterday appeared before the clerk of the United States Supreme Court to file petitions, but was advised a record of the case also is necessary. He said this will be forwarded from Boston, and the case will be docketed on its receipt.

The Department of Justice announcement today was made by Mr. Farnum, who said the files will be opened to Gov. Fuller, the Attorney-General of Massachusetts or the Lowell committee on request. He said, however, that he told Hays and Kane, who were accompanied to his office by Frank P. Walsh of New York, that they are not authorized to convey to the Massachusetts authorities "any suggestion or message in any shape or form on my behalf."

Reiterating the government's position that it has no jurisdiction over the case, Mr. Farnum said he advised his callers that he is informed a checking of the government's files failed to disclose "any evidence of any collusion whatsoever between the State and Federal authorities" in connection with the case.

His announcement in full reads:

STATEMENT MADE

"Last night I received a telegram from Vermont signed by Arthur Garfield Hays of New York City and Francis Fisher Kane of Philadelphia, stating that they would be at the Department of Justice this morning at 9 o'clock to interview me with reference to the Department of Justice files relative to the Sacco-Vanzetti case.

"They called this morning at 9 o'clock and I accorded them the courtesy of an interview which lasted four hours. They were accompanied by Frank P. Walsh of New York City. They stated that they were representatives of an organization which they described as the Citizens' National Committee, and also represented counsel for Sacco and Vanzetti.

WHAT HE SAYS

"They requested that this Department of Justice files be opened. I stated that I had been informed after a thorough and recent re-examination of the files at Washington, New York and Boston, that they contained no evidence tending to establish the guilt or innocence of Sacco and Vanzetti, or either of them, of the crime for which they were convicted in the Massachusetts courts, nor any evidence of any collusion whatsoever between the State and Federal authorities prior to the arrest of Sacco and Vanzetti or prior, during, or subsequent to the trial of these two men. I explained that the Federal government had no jurisdiction whatever over this case, and that it was solely a matter for the State authorities of Massachusetts.

"I declined to permit access to the confidential files of the government to representatives of unofficial organizations and counsel on behalf of Sacco and Vanzetti as requested, but did say:

ALREADY EXAMINED

"'While I do not authorize you to convey to the authorities of the commonwealth of Massachusetts any suggestion or message in any shape or form on my behalf, I do say to you that if it should happen that a request is received from Gov. Fuller, the Attorney-General of Massachusetts or the Lowell Commission appointed by the Governor, for access by them to our files, it will be immediately accorded.'

"In reference to a suggestion that some one attorney be selected by me to examine the files, I stated that I saw no purpose to be served at this late date, as the files had already been checked and rechecked under conditions which tended to insure as impartial an examination as could be obtained."

EXAMINATION OF FILES SEEMS UNLIKELY

BOSTON, Aug. 21. (AP)—Although no high State official would go on record in the matter today, it is inferred here that there is no intention of taking advantage of the offer of Acting Atty.-Gen. Farnum in Washington to permit Gov. Fuller or his representatives to examine the Federal government files in connection with the Sacco-Vanzetti case.

Whatever attempts have been made to search the Department of Justice records during the seven-year battle to save Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti from the electric chair have been directed by counsel for the condemned men or sympathizers with their cause.

Several men and women were arrested on Boston Common this afternoon when police charged into a group of about twenty persons carrying placards bearing inscriptions relating to the Sacco-Vanzetti case. A crowd of several thousand persons was scattered.

Those arrested were taken into custody in various sections of the common after the police had broken up the crowd.

A few minutes previously the police had arrested Miss Paula Holloway of New York, who appeared on the Common wearing a red slicker which bore on the back, the appeal: "Save Sacco and Vanzetti. Is justice dead?"

ANOTHER APPEAL TO SUPREME COURT JUSTICE

BOSTON, Aug. 21. (AP)—Arthur D. Hill, chief of counsel for Sacco and Vanzetti, announced here late today that United States Supreme Court Justice Brandeis having declined today to consider the case, he will apply to Justice Stone of the United States Supreme Court at his summer home, Isle au Haut, Me., for a stay of execution.

Justice Brandeis based his refusal to act on "personal relations with some of the people who had been interested in the case," Hill said after a visit to the justice at his summer home at Chatham, Mass.

The call on Justice Brandeis was the second attempt within a few hours to obtain a stay of execution from a United States Supreme Court justice, an application to Justice Holmes at his summer home in Beverly, having been refused yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Hill returned from Chatham this afternoon and announced, through Graham Carey of defense counsel, his plan to see Justice Stone. He said he will make the same application for a stay of execution that was made to Justice Holmes.

THESE TWINS GET TWO BIRTHDAYS

Girl and Boy Born Between Two Days in Nebraska Family

COLUMBUS (Neb.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Twins, a girl and a boy, will celebrate their anniversaries on different days. The little girl, weighing six pounds, was born a few minutes before midnight, while the boy, six and one-half pounds, was born just after midnight. Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Russell of Fullerton are the parents.

He started immediately for Maine by automobile.

LOCAL WORKERS ASKED TO STRIKE

An impassioned appeal to organized workers of Los Angeles to declare a one-day strike today as an eleventh-hour protest against the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti was made by Tom Connors, self-styled I.W.W. agitator and secretary of the Sacco-Vanzetti Defense Committee, at a mass meeting in the Labor Temple yesterday afternoon.

The hall was filled almost to capacity. The opening talk was made by Mortimer Downing, who was arrested by Los Angeles police Sunday, the 7th inst., on a charge of suspicion of criminal syndicalism. Connors, according to police records, was arrested on the following day on charges growing out of the mass meeting which was scheduled to have been held at the Plaza.

At the close of his talk Connors asked all in the audience who believe in the Sacco-Vanzetti defense to contribute. It was announced from the platform that something more than $300 had been raised.

The audience was comprised of representatives of virtually every race and some of the speeches were delivered in alien tongues.

REGRET END OF PLAN FOR FLIGHT TOUR

Mexican Officials Deplore Abandonment of Houston-to-Mexico City Air Trip

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Mexican government officials have issued statements deploring the abandonment of the Houston-Mexico City flight after Secretary of State Kellogg refused to grant the Texans permission to fly the Spirit of San Diego on a good-will tour to strengthen commercial relations between the two nations.

Such postponement will seriously hamper the mapping of direct air routes between the two countries, and will probably result in loss in commercial trade, which would have been strengthened should the flight have been allowed. It is claimed. It was intimated that another attempt would be made for a similar trip.

Subsecretary of Foreign Relations Genaro Estrada, in charge of the office at the present, declared, "It is to be deplored that the good-will flight was postponed, which was to have opened new routes between Houston, Tex., and this city."

Lausanne Church Sessions Closed

LAUSANNE, Aug. 21. (AP)—World Conference on Faith and Order ended today where it started—in Lausanne Cathedral—with prayers of thanksgiving for the progress made during the seventeen days' deliberations.

"We differed," said one of the leading American delegates, "but our purpose in coming together has been largely realized by the discovery of deep, underlying unities."

The continuation committee decided to refer the report on "unity of Christendom" to a special commission for possible revision and to report back to it.

MINERS FIND BEARS TAMED BY KINDNESS

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—A remarkably strong friendship has sprung up between several wild bears and a number of miners employed at the Barbara camp, 5000 feet above sea level, where one of the richest copper deposits at Britannia Beach, B. C., is being worked. The bears were driven from their haunts by an unusually early snowfall. When they appeared in camp they apparently were starving and eagerly devoured food offered by the big-hearted men. Quickly gaining confidence, several of the huge animals now take scraps from a man's hand and show no signs of fear or viciousness.

SEA SILENT ON FATE OF FLYERS

All available submarines and three submarine tenders are searching the waters east of the Hawaiian Islands. Two submarines are proceeding from Honolulu to San Francisco in the search. In order that the vigilance of the search be unrelenting, the oil tanker Neches has been ordered to the searching area to stand by and refuel the destroyers at sea.

William Mallonka, Michigan millionaire, who financed the Doran plane, declined to give up hope for the finding of that craft.

"I won't give up hope until six or seven days have passed," said Mallonka. "I don't believe now that they went down near the islands. I think they must have met with a mishap about 1000 miles from San Francisco. If they had gone near Hawaii, I feel certain they would have been picked up before this.

WEATHER GOOD OVER PACIFIC OCEAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Weather conditions between California and Hawaii have undergone practically no change during the last twenty-four hours and will remain the same during the next thirty-six hours, according to United States Weather Forecaster Reed. Reed said today that the wind situation is favorable for the preservation of the flyers providing they still are afloat, and that their main danger is from exposure. His official report is:

"The weather is generally cloudy over the whole route between here and the islands with fogs from our coast westward from seventy-five to 100 miles and occasional local showers beyond that to the islands.

"From the California coast to a point 500 miles out the winds are moderate west and northwesterly. From that point to the island they are moderate northeasterly.

"No storms and no gales are indicated, and the situation will continue the same for the next thirty-six hours."

REVIVED HOPES FOR FLYERS FOUND VAIN

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 21. (AP)—A carrier pigeon found at Long Beach, a brass spring clip on its left leg and a white metal band on its right leg bearing the number AJ37A9041, gave impetus for a time to a new hope that some word soon would be heard from the lost Miss Doran plane, an entry in the Hawaiian air derby, as two army carrier pigeons from the Crissy Field lofts are said to have been taken aboard the craft before its hop-off.

Investigation of the number found on the pigeon at Long Beach revealed that the bird was one entered in a pigeon race last Sunday from San Diego to Long Beach and was owned by a San Diego resident.

FIRE RAGES ON RIDGE ROUTE

cross Piru Creek and enter the Santa Barbara National Forest, rangers predict it will burn for more than a week and destroy a tremendous area of watershed.

An aerial survey of the burning area was made by Angeles forest rangers yesterday by airplane. The seriousness of the situation was seen in an appeal sent to the United States Forestry Service in San Francisco for additional rangers and fire wardens to assist in directing the fight. This aid was promised immediately.

MARIPOSA THREATENED BY STUBBORN FIRE

MARIPOSA, Aug. 21. (AP)—Succeeding after an all-night fight in completing a back-fire barrier against the fire which was menacing this historic mining town, fire fighters tonight were reorganizing their forces for another battle with the flames, which were being carried by the wind to the eastern edge of the town.

Since early in the week the fire has been spreading and now is burning on a twenty-five-mile front, consuming trees, brush and range grass. The advancing wall of flame stretches from Hornatos to five miles below Mariposa in the White Rock district, a distance of approximately twenty-five miles. It is burning in a number of directions, according to various shifts of the winds.

Below Mariposa the blaze is eating toward Raymond and is encountering but feeble resistance, the majority of men being concentrated in this vicinity in an effort to save the town from burning.

EMIGRANT GAP AREA IN GRIP OF FLAMES

RENO, Aug. 21. (AP)—Two men from the Truckee (Cal.) ranger station today were sent into the Big Bend country near Emigrant Gap to aid men of that division in combatting a reported serious forest fire in the Sierra. The fire started in brush country, but valuable fir timber is in the district, rangers said.

HELIUM SUPPLY AT LOW EBB

Survey Shows $3,000,000 Needed to Assure Adequate Supply for Army and Navy Craft

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—An official survey of the sources of helium gas, a vital necessity for the operation of Army and Navy lighter-than-air craft, reveals that an expenditure of $3,000,000 in developing and expanding the industry will assure a supply adequate for the nation's military needs, officials of the Bureau of Mines said today.

While the production of helium has declined during the past year because of the gradual exhaustion of the Petrolia field in Texas, officials of the bureau assert that by the expenditure of additional funds new helium gas-bearing fields can be tapped which will make a much greater production possible. It is asserted that only a minimum expenditure is necessary to assure adequate helium gas for the inflation of the new giant dirigibles to be built by the Navy.

FAR BELOW NEEDS

Last year's production of helium was only 6,344,082 cubic feet, far below the needs of the Army and Navy air services for experimental work. Mine officials said today that money made available by the last Congress will make it possible to step this production up to 12,000,000 cubic feet within another year. Congress appropriated $1,063,000 for expansion and development of the helium project during this fiscal year. Should Congress grant appropriations carrying at least $2,000,000 more for use during the next two years, the production of this essential gas can be run up to 18,000,000 cubic feet annually by the time the new airships are completed, it is said.

Solving of the helium problem is regarded by naval officials as an absolute necessity if this country is to successfully operate the giant airships.

"Past and present airship operations have felt and now feel the shortage of an operating supply of helium," Lieutenant-Commander C. E. Rosendahl asserted in a recent statement.

NEARS NOTHING

"An airship subjected to the severe weather of the United States without an available replenishing supply of lifting gas may find herself in a serious predicament. On several occasions our reserve operating supply of helium has dwindled to nothing and, coupled with certain other unavoidable material conditions, has forced the dirigible Los Angeles out of operation.

"Our original helium project has proved entirely insufficient for even our peace-time needs. The advantageous competitive results that might have been obtained from simultaneous operation of the Shenandoah and the Los Angeles were lost because the supply of helium made it impossible to have both ships inflated at the same time."

GEN. WOOD EULOGIZED

Former War-Camp Comrades Praise Memory of Late Phillippine Chief

FORT RILEY (Kan.) Aug. 21. (AP)—At the foot of a hill near the summit of which was the headquarters of Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood while he trained two army divisions at Camp Funston in war time, thousands of soldiers and civilians attended services today in memory of the late Governor-General of the Philippines. They gathered around the towering obelisk which Gen. Wood himself had ordered built—this monument to his men of the Eighty-ninth and Tenth divisions.

Col. Fred W. O'Donnell, a Junction City (Kan.) physician who had been Gen. Wood's comrade, not only in the medical profession, but in the Eighty-ninth Division, delivered the eulogy.

The ceremonies were arranged by Lieut.-Col. Gordon Johnston, executive officer at Fort Riley, who served under Gen. Wood in the Rough Riders of '98 and who later was on the general's staff in the Philippines.

GREAT AMERICAN

"Leonard Wood was the greater American of his time," declared Col. O'Donnell. "The nation lost a figure which will shed a greater light in history than during the period in which he lived. He demonstrated gifts which many makers of empires never revealed."

Col. O'Donnell, who as chief surgeon in the Eighty-ninth Division, told of the parting between Gen. Wood and the division, which he trained when the troops started overseas and their commander was ordered to return to Camp Funston.

"There is nothing to be said," the general told us," the speaker related. "The soldier always obeys orders.'

"If you seek the secret of Gen. Wood's greatness, you will find it in his heart," Col. O'Donnell concluded. "He was a good loser because he was true to his ideals and true to his thoughts."

PRAISED AS CHRISTIAN

Gov. Paulen also made a brief address, praising Gen. Wood as "a true Christian, a great statesman and a gallant soldier."

"Gen. Wood was sent to us by Providence," the Governor said. "I am sure it was not by chance that he was entrusted with the training of thousands of men for the great war."

Capt. Roy N. Hillyer of Horton, Kan., chaplain of the One Hundred and Fourteenth Cavalry, Kansas National Guard, gave the invocation.

The bugle corps sounded "honors of the Governor-General," a choir sang two of Gen. Wood's favorite hymns, "Lead Kindly Light" and "Abide With Me."

The colors of a dozen military organizations and of two veterans' organizations were banked near the speakers' stand.

PLANS FOR AIR LIGHTS COMPLETED

Commerce Department Will Illuminate 3400 Miles of Airways Next Year

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (Exclusive) Plans for the establishment of lighting facilities on 3400 miles of airways during the next year have been completed by the air section of the Department of Commerce. The airways are lanes between airports with intermediate landing fields thirty miles apart. For the safety of airplane flights at night, electric revolving searchlight beacons will be constructed at intervals of ten miles along the routes. Airways extension superintendents will lease the sites for the intermediate fields and the beacons.

Bids were opened the 8th inst. for construction of twenty-five beacons and six intermediate fields between Chicago and Lacrosse, Wis., covering about 260 miles of the Chicago-Twin Cities airway.

The Department of Commerce announced today that the National Air Transport Company will not take over the carrying of mail on the New York-Chicago section of the transcontinental airway until September 1.

John M. Somers, Canadaigua, N. Y., has been appointed airways superintendent in the airways division of the lighthouse service. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan.

Angeleno Given Divorce at Reno

RENO (Nev.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive) Testifying that among other acts of cruelty his wife drenched him with a garden hose, beat him in the presence of her sister with a dogwhip, and slapped his face while they were dining in a cafe, Leslie M. Scott, ex-Los Angeles realtor, was granted a divorce from Anna Mary Scott. Plaintiff declared his wife had a violent temper, and struck him frequently in public.

He said that once while visiting in the country his wife deliberately tried to ride him down, when he refused to go horseback riding with her. Mrs. Scott failed to offer any defense.

DEATH AT CROSSING FLAGS TRIP TO ALTAR

LAFAYETTE (Ind.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—A wedding party on its way to Crown Point, Ind., was halted by death twenty miles southeast of here this afternoon when the bridegroom, R. G. Helbron, 40 years of age, of Little Rock, Ark., was killed, and the prospective bride, Miss Anne Cohee, Louisville, Ky., badly injured, in an automobile collision at a crossroad. Joseph Keys, farmer of Colfax, Ind., was killed and his two companions, Lloyd Fisher, 23, and Herman Riley, 21, seriously injured. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Clark, Louisville, Ky., occupants of Helbron's car, were badly hurt.

SUGAR FOOT STOMP DANCE

CHICAGO, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Dance patrons have survived the Bunny Hug, the Texas Tommy, the Charleston and Black Bottom and now are wrestling with the Sugar Foot Stomp, which is a gallop, canter, lope and stomp and comes direct from the race track.

The originator of the Bunny Hug got his inspiration from the Zoo. The man who evolved the shimmy caught his idea while watching dancers on a crowded floor and figured out the wriggle that enables a pair to twist and squirm on a dime.

The Charleston came from the cotton pickers amusing themselves on the wharves of Charleston. The Black Bottom is a slow, slithery, [illegible] ated by the [illegible] pt delta and [illegible] wet land of the [illegible]

Forts and Ships in Chinese Duel

LONDON, Aug. 21. (AP)—Reuter's Shanghai correspondent reports that shots were exchanged again this morning between the Tsingtao squadron's flagship Haichi and the Woosung forts. No damage was done.

A Shanghai dispatch of the 20th inst. reported five warships, believed to be the Northern Tsingtao squadron, had appeared off Woosung, north of Shanghai, that morning. One of them, it was added, had fired a few shots at the Woosung forts.

Atlantic Flyer Delays Hop-off

SOUTHAMPTON (Eng.) Aug. 21. (AP)—Capt. Frank T. Courtney late tonight decided to postpone the start of his long-delayed trans-Atlantic flight, until Tuesday. Weather conditions were unfavorable.

Earlier in the day he had received satisfactory weather reports and had ordered his plane, the Whale, loaded with gasoline, intending, if possible, to start at dawn Monday.

HOME CLOSED TO STEP-DAUGHTER

Detroit Court Enjoins Girl From Visiting With Her Mother

DETROIT (Mich.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—August F. Scroby, 7069 Libson avenue, has obtained a temporary injunction from Judge Theodore J. Richter, presiding judge of Circuit Court, restraining his step-daughter, Louise Wilson, from coming to his home, or taking her mother out with her at night. Scroby claims his step-daughter has been taking her mother away from home several nights each week, going to dances, and often being brought home by other men.

GIRL FLOGGED BY MASKED MEN

FLORENCE (Ala.) Aug. 21. (AP)—Miss Marie Bishop, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bishop, last night told S. E. Stafford, Muscle Shoals detective, that eight masked men kidnaped her from her home the night of July 6, took her to a woods and whipped her with a leather strap.

The girl has kept the whipping secret under threats of death, she told Stafford. Her father and mother also were threatened with violence if they reported the affair.

The girl told officers that she recognized three of the men, who wore hoods bearing the letter "K."

SECRECY VEILS WINGFIELD PLAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—George Wingfield, Nevada mining man and banker, today refused to confirm the report that a reconciliation between himself and his wife, Mrs. Maud Murdock Wingfield, is in progress.

"I prefer not to discuss the matter," said Wingfield today at his rooms at the Hotel St. Francis. "Whatever I have to say will be said on the witness stand."

Wingfield recently filed suit for divorce in Nevada on grounds of cruelty.

Unfound War Dead Only 70

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (AP)—An official check-up by the War Department made public yesterday that 99.9 per cent of the Americans killed during the World War have been identified and now sleep in registered graves either at home or in France.

The total number of deaths in the A.E.F., including those who died on transports, is placed at 77,771. On June 30 of this year the number of registered graves was 77,701, of which 46,284 were in the United States, 605 in foreign countries for private interment and 30,813 remaining in Europe, leaving only seventy in unknown graves.

Of those in Europe 20,880 are buried in France, 431 in Great Britain, 373 in Belgium, while 123, at the request of their families, have been left undisturbed on the battlefields where they were originally buried.

MacMILLAN RETURNS FOR ARCTIC SUPPLIES

ST. JOHNS (N. F.) Aug. 21. (AP)—Commander Donald B. MacMillan of the MacMillan-Field expedition, carrying on scientific research in the Arctic, arrived in St. Johns yesterday on the coastal steamer Kyle. He came to purchase supplies and will return next week to the base of the expedition near Nain in Northern Labrador. While here he received news from the expedition of the discovery of valuable fossil remains in Prohibiter Bay.

PARACHUTE JUMPER DIES IN LONG FALL

LEIPZIG (Germany) Aug 21. (AP)—Anton Merkelback, noted parachute jumper, was killed today in a leap with a parachute of his own construction. A leather strap broke precipitating him from an altitude of 1000 feet.

PRICE QUOTING INQUIRY BEGUN

"Pittsburgh Plus" Case at Bottom of Action

Three Ways of Fixing Costs Will Be Studied

Federal Trade Commission to Help Public

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (Exclusive) — As an outgrowth of the "Pittsburgh-plus" case in which Chicago and other Middle Western manufacturers brought about a change in the method of basing steel prices, the Federal Trade Commission yesterday announced that a comprehensive investigation will be made into methods of quoting and charging prices of various commodities.

In the Pittsburgh-plus case the commission three years ago ordered the United States Steel Corporation to desist from its system of fixing prices on a Pittsburgh base plus the freight rate to the destination, even though the shipment might be made from a factory located in the Middle West.

THREE METHODS

The steel case illustrated one of three methods of quoting prices which will be studied by the commission, the Pittsburgh-plus arrangement being known as the basing-point method. The other two systems are the factory-base method illustrated by the practice of automobile companies in selling their cars f.o.b. factory and the delivered-price method in which a corporation delivers its products to customers in any part of the country at a given price without making allowances for differences in transportation costs.

The commission in announcing the inquiry stated that methods used in quoting and charging prices of the necessaries of life are of vital interest to the consuming public.

"It is expected that facts and data of lasting value to business and industry will be the result of the commission's inquiry into the various practices regarding price bases and that through this study of competitive conditions will develop new and constructive measures for obtaining greater efficiency and economy," said the commission. "The report also will form a basis for determining what are fair practices in this regard.

WELFARE OF PUBLIC

"This will be the fourth recent undertaking of its kind by the commission on its own initiative for employing its corps of experts on problems involving the welfare of the buying public."

The commission adopted a resolution directing Dr. Francis T. Walker, its chief economist, to conduct the inquiry. He is directed to inquire into the report on (1) the factory base method, the basing point method and delivered price method of quoting and charging prices (including their respective variations) together with any other method of differentiating prices with respect to location; (2) the causes for the adoption of the several methods employed and the purposes intended to be served by them (3) their actual and potential effects on prices and competitive conditions and (4) any constructive measures which may be employed to promote greater efficiency, economy or fairness in the methods of quoting or charging prices.

Suits Will Test Chinese Tariff

[Copyright, 1927, by the Chicago Tribune]

SHANGHAI, Aug. 21. (Exclusive) The first cases growing out of the Nationalist tariff autonomy program have been filed in the United States and British supreme courts here, both cases pertaining to shipments of beer upon which the Nationalist government is assessing 30 per cent duty in place of the previous 5 per cent.

One case was filed by the American firm of Longfellow & Adams against the Dollar Steamship Company, which refuses to release the cargo from its bonded warehouse unless the dealers pay the increased tariff. The other case was filed by the Gandy Price Company against a British warehouse on a similar claim.

The purpose of the cases is to test the legality of the Chinese tariff autonomy which the importers declare is in violation of the treaty.

GERMAN EXPORTS SOAR

July Figures Highest This Year; Imports Also Set Record

BERLIN, Aug. 21. (AP)—Germany's July exports, figures for which were published yesterday, were the highest since the beginning of the year and considerably in excess of the same month in 1926 and the monthly averages for the two previous years. The total was 845,500,000 marks, an increase of 1,000,000 over the exports for June.

Imports were valued at 1,282,000,000 marks, which is the highest monthly total reached since the war. The incoming goods chiefly comprised raw products and foodstuffs. Finished products constituted about one-sixth of the total.

DEATH-HOUSE VICTIM ASKS FOR REPRIEVE

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Claiming new evidence has been uncovered which will prove him innocent, A. V. Milliken, who is in the death house at Huntsville, Tex., awaiting electrocution for the murder of Mrs. Virginia Petty, pretty San Antonio real estate dealer, at Lamda Park, thirty-two miles from San Antonio, last May, has appealed to Gov. Dan Moody for a reprieve. Milliken filed his appeal through John D. Cofer, Austin (Tex.) attorney, who has been retained by the doomed man to make his last fight for life.

CUBA SEEKS AID OF AIR CORPS OFFICERS

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—The service of three United States Army Air Corps officers is desired by the Cuban government to assist in organizing an aviation school, according to a communication received at Eighth Corps Area headquarters from the War Department. The message states the War Department looks with favor on the request, but desires the Cuban government to make a definite proposal as to the conditions upon which they desire the services of the American officers.

SHIRT MALADY MYSTERY SOLVED

Disintegration of New York Family Washings Found to Be Due to Sulphuric Acid in Air Formed from Coal Smoke and Moisture

NEW YORK, Aug. 21. (Exclusive) The mystery of the malady which has been attacking the family wash in New York City and throughout the metropolitan area has been solved after five years of laboratory effort, it was announced today by R. A. Fhair and J. G. Lukash of the research laboratories of H. Kohnstamm & Co. Clothing hung out to dry has been attacked by diluted sulphuric acid in the air formed by immense quantities of coal smoke and gases in reaction with moisture.

Cotton goods principally have been attacked by this air acid, it was said in the announcement, and great numbers of garments have been destroyed by this agent while hanging on the line. Laundries have been heavy sufferers from this source during the past ten years, and many housewives have complained that certain garments, especially shirts, seemed to fall apart after hanging on the clothes line an hour or so on damp days.

Fhair and Lukash found that the destructive effect could be exactly duplicated by sprinkling the garments with minute amounts of sulphuric acid diluted in water.

Sydney, Australia, will spend $1,800,000 in improving its harbor.

NOTED MEXICAN REBEL EXECUTED

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Manuel Reyes, one of the most dreaded of recent bandit-revolutionists, was captured by Federals and executed at Toluca today, according to Excelsior's correspondent. The execution took place in one of the city parks with Reyes placed against a church wall. His body was left on public exhibition for the day.

Reyes revolted about eight months ago and operated through the States bordering the Federal District, sometimes threatening suburbs of the capital, necessitating heavy guards on all roads entering Mexico City. Among his most daring exploits was the detention and search about five months ago of more than fifteen cars on the Cuernavaca road.

SHIP'S MASCOT REAL SEA DOG

Airedale Left Behind on Stop at Los Angeles Manages in Some Mysterious Manner to Get Back Aboard Boat at San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—When the Panama mail liner Ecuador docked at Los Angeles Harbor last week en route from New York to San Francisco Pooch, an Airedale owned by Purser Ned Lorenzen, made a dash for shore as soon as the gangplank was in place. Pooch failed to return to the Ecuador at sailing time and Lorenzen thought the dog had become disgusted with sea life.

Last night as preparations were being made for the return voyage to New York Lorenzen entered his stateroom and found Pooch sound asleep under his bunk. How Pooch made the trip to San Francisco is a mystery, but Lorenzen believes the dog was picked up on the streets in Los Angeles and brought to San Francisco, where he escaped and immediately made for the water front. He had a short piece of broken leash attached to his collar, indicating he had been tied up somewhere in his travels.

CHILD CRUSHED UNDER TRUCK

FRESNO, Aug. 21. (AP)—Frank Santos, Jr., 4-year-old son of Frank Santos of Riverdale, was instantly killed late last evening when his skull was crushed beneath the wheels of a milk truck.

PINCHOT AGAIN SCORES MELLON

Treasury Chief Blamed for Dry-Law Failure

Bitter Charges Fill Speech at Winona Lake

Wheeler Declares Statutes Enforceable

WINONA LAKE (Ind.) Aug. 21. (AP) Gifford Pinchot, former Governor of Pennsylvania, addressing the congress of the World League Against Alcoholism, tonight assailed Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, as being the "chief obstacle to complete enforcement of Federal prohibition in the United States."

"Back of him and therefore chiefly responsible, is President Coolidge," the speaker declared. Much of the former Governor's address was devoted to a resumption of his attack on Secretary Mellon, whom he charged with refusing to have the prohibition law enforced.

"For many reasons, Secretary Mellon is utterly unfit to have charge of the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment," Mr. Pinchot declared. "First, he is wet. When appointed as Secretary of the Treasury, Mellon, if not the largest, was one of the largest makers of whisky in America through his ownership in the Overholt Distillery. Both because of his personal views and his business interests he was just the wrong man to enforce the law. The result has proven it.

COOLIDGE SCORED

"The trouble with the Coolidge administration is that it has talked in favor of the drys, but acted in favor of the wets. President Coolidge personally obeys the law. He has, it is true, said in messages to Congress that the law ought to be observed and ought to be enforced. He did, it is true, call a conference of governors on law enforcement, the result of which was utterly nothing. I was there and I know.

"Under the Coolidge administration there has been dry talk enough to keep the drys contented—most of them—but not dry action enough to keep the wets from getting all the drink they wanted."

After relating his experience as Governor of Pennsylvania, Mr. Pinchot declared emphatically that prohibition can be enforced.

"My four years of struggle to make Pennsylvania dry proved that what is needed to enforce the law is just one thing—a determination to see that the law is enforced," he said.

CHIEF OBSTACLE

"During these four years of incessant effort to enforce the law, the chief obstacle against which I had to contend was not the bootleggers and wet politicians and it was not the breweries and distilleries. The chief obstacle was the Federal government in Washington. The thing which hampered me beyond all else was the refusal of Andrew Mellon to have the law enforced.

"When the Eighteenth Amendment was first passed, criminals generally assumed that the government would respect and enforce its own Constitution. Consequently the figures of crime, poverty and drink steadily declined until Secretary Mellon came into office. The present enormous development of bootlegging has taken place entirely under Mellon's administration. If he had done his duty it never would have taken place at all.

"I call upon President Coolidge to put the whole power and influence of his office vigorously behind the Constitution of the United States and thus cure a cancer that carries infection to every part of our country—a cancer which the President and the President alone can cure."

STATUTE ENFORCEABLE

"Prohibition statutes in America not only are right, but enforceable," declared Dr. Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel and legislative superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of America in another address.

"Where national prohibition enforcement has failed in the United States," Dr. Wheeler said, "that failure is largely due to the appointment or election of men who were opposed to the law or who publicly declared that they did not believe it could be enforced. Some of these wet officials enforce the law, if at all, in a way to make enemies to it.

"Prohibition law will not be enforced if its friends demobilize. America has cast out the saloon, but th bootlegger, moonshiner and rumrunner must not be allowed to return in force. The moral forces of the nation must array themselves for a greater conflict now than in the fight for adoption.

"One need is fewer changes in enforcement administration methods. Since national prohibition went into effect, there have been four different programs.

GENERAL AMNESTY

"The permissive features of the law, and the control of nonbeverage liquors make necessary establishment of an administrative bureau of prohibition.

"The general amnesty, offered to the small bootlegger by some Federal officers who declare they can prosecute only larger offenders, is one of the most dangerous invitations to crime. The distinction drawn is as false as to suggest that only wholesale murderers shall be punished or that embezzlements over $10,000 shall be penalized.

"As long as a liquor criminal continues to violate law after his first conviction, no sympathy should be wasted on him. A bootlegger is neither a good citizen nor a good sport. He is a traitor to his country, a leech on society, a poisoner and assassin of his fellow-man. The man who buys from him also violates the law.

"The time has come to stop coddling these criminals and treat them as conspirators against the government, liquor outlaws and enemies of the Republic."

SECRET SERVICE JAILS FUGITIVE

Boston Man Captured After Four-Year Chase

Deposited $25,000 Bail in Chicago and Left

Federal Indictment Charges Fraud by Mail

BOSTON (Mass.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—That Uncle Sam does not forget was proved again this week when Herman F. Vogel, alias Joseph B. Durkin, who jumped his bail of $25,000 in Chicago in 1923, was brought back from New York to answer a Federal indictment charging him with fraudulent use of the mails.

The government claims that Vogel and Leroy Marvin and J. C. Cooper, all with various aliases, were members of a gang who operated here some years ago and attempted to make some easy money posing as wealthy men with plenty of money in the West.

Their specialty was, it is said, to answer newspaper advertisements of persons with real estate to sell. In Boston, their liking was garages and government records show that in September, 1925, they got in touch with J. P. Collins, a local business man, through his "ad," which indicated that he had a large garage to sell for $75,000.

One or all of the members of the party, Federal officers say, introduced themselves as from the Far West and declared they wanted to buy his property. They declared they had money on deposit in the First State and Savings Bank of Roseburg, Or., and offered to pay $25,000 cash for Collins's garage and give a mortgage for the remaining $50,000.

They said they would send to Oregon for the money and asked the privilege of having some of their mail come to Collins's office.

Later there came a check for $25,000, ostensibly from the Oregon bank, but Collins's attention was called to the fact that the check, apparently certified, had been made out to Collins by mistake.

They asked Collins to deposit the check in his bank, give them a check for $23,000, which they would deposit, and take out the remaining $2000 as the first payment on the purchase price of the garage. This is alleged to have been done. A few days later, they drew out $23,000 and decamped.

Postoffice Inspectors Byron S. Hall and John W. Hunt worked on the case at the time and officials say that the trio turned the same trick on two Needham men, but the latter got suspicious and it was discovered that the First State and Savings Bank of Roseburg does not exist, although an officer of a Boston banking institution stated to Collins, it is said, that the "check was good."

EXPORTS TO MEXICO FOR MONTH GAIN

American-Made Automobiles and Foods Major Items in Shipments

LAREDO (Tex.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Thirty-three carloads of American eggs were exported to Mexico through the port of Laredo during the month of July, there being 500 cases in each car, with 360 eggs to the case, or 180,000 eggs to the car. This represents the heaviest exports of American hen output to Mexico during a single month in some time past, and proves conclusively the popularity of the product of the American hen with the people of the southern republic.

Other items of interest contained in the monthly report of the National Lines of Railways of Mexico covering exportations into Mexico through the port of Laredo during the month of July include fifty carloads of American-made automobiles (or about 840 automobiles of all makes and models;) fifty-five carloads of silicate sand; fifty-four carloads of lumber; thirteen carloads of wheat; nineteen carloads of cattle and other items.

A total of 494 carloads of American merchandise was exported to Mexico during the month of July.

LATEST AUTO LIKE HOTEL ON WHEELS

LONDON, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—A two-story motor car with accommodations for eleven persons and fitted with a bathroom complete with a shower, a kitchen, a glassed-in observation platform and a bedroom de luxe has been designed by G. C. Gore Crellin. The car will have a speed of fifty miles an hour. A stairway leads to the second floor. The "hotel on wheels" is to cost $30,000.

Calles Told of Police Outrage

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Jesus R. Valdes, president of the anti-reelectionist party of the middle class has sent a message to President Calles charging that authorities of Jalapa, State of Vera Cruz, have been committing members of the party to the Three Mary's Isles, Mexican penal colony in the Pacific Ocean, without other reason than they belong to the anti-re-electionist faction.

Valdes declares, in his message, that the Chief of Police of Jalapa, acting under instructions of the State Governor, Senor Jara, captured three members of the party and charged them falsely with being agents of the rebels. He alleges that the men were put on the train and taken to the islands without legal defense.

Engraving Plant of Paper Burns

SAN JOSE, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—The engraving plant of the San Jose Mercury Herald was destroyed by fire last night which resulted in the loss of several thousand dollars worth of equipment. It is believed that the fire was started by an explosion of ether fumes used in the engraving process. An employee of the engraving company, George Collins, was alone in the plant when the flames suddenly enveloped the room, but he fortunately escaped uninjured.

The plant will be rebuilt as soon as possible, according to the reports of J. O. Hayes, president of the Mercury Herald Publishing Company.

AMBITION REALIZED

Realizing a lifelong ambition, F. W. Harvey, a hairdresser of Wallasey, Eng., has just been ordained a deacon and licensed to a curacy. He had been a hairdresser for twenty-five years. At 25 he was approached with the view of entering the ministry, but family reasons prevented, and not until about three years ago could he begin his studies to prepare for his chosen field.—[Washington Star.

MEGAPHONE BUG BITES SHAW

CHICAGO, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—George Bernard Shaw, playwright and author, craves to be a motion-picture director, at least to direct one picture. To date he has refused to sell the use of his prize-fight story, "Cashel Byron's Profession" to Reginald Denny, the pugilistic actor, unless he can be present when the picture is made and personally see to it that the text is carried out as he sees fit.

Denny was through Chicago today, returning from a six weeks' vacation in Europe. During his stay there he negotiated indirectly with Shaw, and said he was still hopeful that he might win the consent of the author to have the story filmed in this country as the buyers see fit.

Tatsch was shearing the mule when it seized him and the force of the animal's teeth broke the bones in the right arm below the elbow.

PLAY TO OFFSET SUICIDE MANIA

Boston Theater Lover Posts Prize for Drama

Theme Must Teach Youth of Nation Life Love

Contest Open to Students in All Colleges

NEW YORK, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Shocked by the increasing number of suicides among American college students, an anonymous Boston theater lover has offered $1000 for the best American play which shall hold up faith in life to the youth of America, it was announced today by the trustees of the Repertory Theater of Boston through whom the award will be made. The competition is open to any student of an American college, university or dramatic school.

The committee of final award, it was announced, would consist of Winthrop Ames and David Belasco, producers; Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America and head of the newly organized society, the Shurch and Stage; Dr. John H. Finley, former Commissioner of Education for New York, and now editor of the New York Times, and Mrs. Frances Jewett, representing the trustees of the Repertory Theater of Boston.

In addition to the $1000 prize, the Repertory Theater will give the winning author a scholarship in its Workshop, the dramatic school connected with the theater, the trustees said. The competition will close on January 1, 1928. Plays must be in three acts, or the equivalent, providing a full evening's program. Manuscripts should be submitted anonymously, the author's name and address to be mailed with the play in a sealed envelope to the Prize Play Committee, the Repertory Theater, of Boston, Huntington avenue, Boston, Mass.

The prize play will be announced shortly after January 1, and will be produced in the Repertory Theater early in the new year. Arrangements will be made for its production in as many leading cities of the country as possible, it was said.

The Repertory Theater of Boston is the only civic repertory theater in America, exempt from city, State and Federal taxation as an educational institution not conducted for private profit, although it is entirely professional in its scope.

YAP ISLE FOLKS STAY AT HOME

Ten Countries Fail to Send Immigrants Here in Year Just Past

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Nobody came! The sigh is by Harry E. Hull, commissioner of Immigration, who has just made public his annual report for the fiscal year ended June 30, last. It is in the last three lines of his report, which incidentally gives immigration and emigration figures for the State of New York.

Hull says that there are ten countries or regions in Asia and elsewhere, each of which has an annual immigration quota of 100, "yet nobody came from them."

One of the countries is Yap. The others are French Cameroon, Ethiopia, Muscal, Nepal, Tanganyika, British Togoland, Mauru and New Guinea.

Put Up Mail Box for Motorists

SAN JOSE, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—A mail box has been installed at Market and San Fernando streets for the convenience of motorists, and is believed by John R. Chase, local postmaster, to be the second mail box of its kind in California, the first being installed in Oakland recently.

The new mail box enables the motorist to drive up and mail his letters without leaving his machine. Fifteen daily collections are made by the postoffice.

MANSLAUGHTER LAID TO FLYER

Kelly Field Cadet to Face General Court

Piloted Plane That Killed Soldier on Field

Aviator Pleads Bumpy Air Cause of Tragedy

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Cadet Elmer P. Rose, Kelly Field, will face a general court early in September on charges of manslaughter in connection with the death of Private Robert E. Griffith, Troop E, Seventh Cavalry, who was beheaded by a flying plane during the joint cavalry-air corps maneuvers at Fort Bliss, El Paso, Tex., on July 27.

Following a preliminary investigation by Maj. R. O. Henry, judge advocate-general's department, Maj. J. A. Willis of that department announced completion of the necessary papers today. The case will come up before a corps area general court at Fort Sam Houston, of which Col. C. R. Day is president.

Master Sergeant Bernard Wallace, who was leading the formation at the time of the accident, also faces charges of reckless and careless flying.

Griffith, a first-class private, was riding across a mesa near Fort Bliss in the maneuvers when a formation of planes passes over him. One of the planes dropped lower than the formation and the landing gear struck Griffith, beheading him. The first intimation Rose had that he had killed a man on the flight was when he was notified after landing.

Following the accident, Rose said he was flying in bumpy air. He hit a bump near the earth which sent his plane still lower and it is thought this drop is the one that resulted in the death of the cavalryman.

Strike Murder Trial Continues

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Trial of George Pesce and Gus Madsen, charged with the murder of MacIvan Campbell, American plan carpenter, during the carpenters' strike riots last October, will be resumed tomorrow morning in Superior Judge Conlan's court.

When the hearing was adjourned Friday afternoon Pesce and Madsen had been on the stand most of the day. Both repudiated confessions made to the police soon after the murder and charged that the confessions had been extorted by violence and duress. The accused men are on trial for the third time.

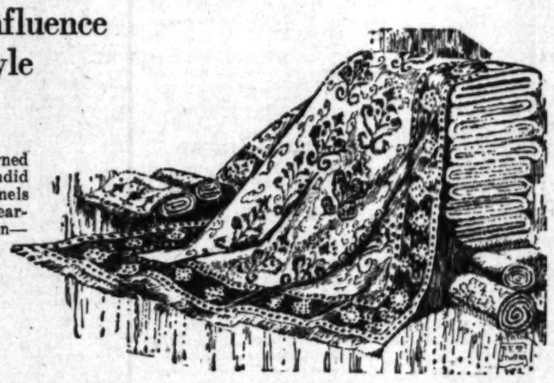
Bed, Chiffonier, Toilet Table and Bench

The fluted posts, finely carved pediments and the beautifully turned legs are striking for their delicacy of design—mahogany of splendid texture composes the tops and sides of the cabinet pieces with panels in rare burls, borders and inlays in Zebra wood and ebonized Pearwood. A worthy creation by the skillful Berkey and Gay craftsmen—

Twin or Full Size Bed $122.50—Chair $17.00
Dresser $175.00—Night Stand $28.00



2-Pc. Living Room Suite, $219.50

(Sofa and Chair)
Specially Priced

A gracefully fashioned suite with a distinct appeal of standardized quality throughout the construction. The dull, satin finished mahogany exposed frame is delightfully carved and shaped—upholstered in a most durable fabric in neutral colors, with reversible cushions in gorgeous frieze.

Living Room Chair, $49.00

Although very decorative—the shaped back, padded arms and spring seat construction give the requisite feature of comfort. The rich brocade velour covering gives the desired color tone—exposed frame in solid mahogany artistically shaped and turned—

ARE you getting as much office space as you pay for?

The actual value of your office space can be based only on the amount of usable space. You are paying an uneconomical rate if there is area wasted because it can not be conveniently or efficiently used.

Every foot of space in the Western Pacific Building can be utilized for these three reasons: (1) Scientific design leaves practically no odd or irregular spaces; (2) Every foot has light and air; (3) Space can be efficiently subdivided to suit your exact requirements.

Thus for every rental dollar you receive maximum space. Our planning service will gladly work out tentative plans for you to help you improve present working conditions without increase of rent. No obligation whatever.

New Unit Opens January 1

Early reservations are advised while choicest space is available. Phone, call or write for FREE booklet showing scientific arrangements of suites for firms desiring special layouts.

Outstanding Features of This Notable New Office Building

—strategically located adjacent to, but just out of the zone of heavy traffic and noise. Convenient to financial, wholesale, retail, municipal, industrial and residential centers.

—twenty-five second elevator service.

—unusually courteous and efficient service.

—very moderate rentals.

FIGHT CENTERS ON DU PONT HEIR

Glendenning Will Contest Wife's Reno Decree

Plans to Wage Battle for Custody of Child

Father Will Ask New York Courts to Decide

NEW YORK, Aug. 21. (Exclusive) The courts of New York will be the battleground in which the warring factions of the Du Pont-Glendenning romances will struggle for possession of a 5-year-old child and to decide the validity of the Reno decree which a year ago won freedom for Alicia Maddox Du Pont, heiress to the Alfred I. Du Pont millions.

Located today in New York, Harold S. Glendenning, the Rhodes scholar and son of a Norwalk (Ct.) postman, refused to give details of his planned legal moves which began with the publication of his notice that he no longer will be responsible for his wife's debts.

"All I can say now is that the New York courts alone will have jurisdiction. I cannot say now whether the first move will be to start divorce proceedings here or to seek my rights with respect to the child," he declared.

According to friends of Glendenning, who is a lawyer, separation proceedings, based on desertion, will be brought against the wife, who already believes herself divorced. The Reno decree, obtained by Mrs. Glendenning on the grounds of cruelty, is attacked by Glendenning as "fraudulent, invalid and worthless."

A year ago, Mrs. Glendenning, by a writ of habeas corpus, obtained possession of their child under an arrangement which permitted the father to visit his child four months each year.

"By taking my boy 1000 miles away and not letting me know where he was, my wife attempted to torture me into a framed-up Reno divorce."

Youthful Bride Wants Divorce

STOCKTON, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Marjorie A. Jaost, 15 years of age, wife of Henry G. Jacot, owner of a department store in Manteca, has brought suit in the local Superior Court for divorce, alleging extreme cruelty. According to her complaint, the couple were married secretly and following the marriage, Jacot refused to acknowledge her as his wife. The wife threatened annulment proceedings but, according to the complaint, her husband coerced her into signing an agreement abandoning those plans.

Mrs. Jacot asks $600 a month alimony, $7500 attorney's fees and that her husband be enjoined from disposing of any of his property while the suit is pending. The property is described as consisting of Bank of Italy and California Packing Corporation stock, a Berkeley residence, the Manteca department store and other property. The store is said to value $250,000.

Exports Out of Mexico Decline

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Official figures, relative to the trade between Mexico and the United States for June have been released through the American Chamber of Commerce, of this city. As has been the case the past few months, the results showed a slump with Mexico exporting only $9,500,000 to America and receiving from that nation, goods worth $12,000,000.

During the period of six months, ending June 30, United States exports to Mexico totaled $67,344,158, same length of time in 1926.

Imports into the United States from Mexico during the first six months of this year were valued at $79,680,719 a decline of 16 per cent over 1926.

Survey Asked to War on Magpies

WINNEMUCCA (Nev.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Nevada farmers and stockmen have asked aid from the Biological Survey to exterminate the vast flocks of magpies in the valleys irrigated by the Humbolt and other rivers. The fierce birds are declared to be killing lambs, colts and calves, and driving songbirds from the farms.

The magpies perch on back of young live stock and tear out the kidneys of their victims. Farmers assert they are the most savage birds they have ever known, even surpassing the fierce desert hawks in cold ferocity.

Death Ray Gems to Be Exhibited

STOCKTON, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Calaveras and Amador counties' famous "death ray" crystals which the United States Navy has discovered have a remarkable power in controlling explosions at a great distance, will be shown at the California State Fair in Sacramento, September 3 to 10, according to Jarvis Lloyd, who is preparing the Calaveras county exhibit.

The crystals which are found in large quantities in the McSorley mine in Calaveras county and other mines in the Mother Lode, are said to have a power that will revolutionize warfare. Thousands of tons of the crystals have been contracted for by the government.

EMERALD DISPLACES DIAMOND FOR VALUE

LONDON, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—That the diamond has been ousted by the emerald as the most precious of the precious stones is the declaration of W. Ogden, jeweler, of King street, who says: "A specimen emerald is worth anything up to $5000 a carat. Only the other day I sold an extra fine specimen at something over $6000 a carat. The call for diamonds, on the other hand, is for large stones, one being for a diamond of ten carats which cannot be had in England. The price per carat in large stones runs between $1000 and $2500 a carat, much lower, as you can see, than emeralds."

SHIPPING and Los Angeles Harbor NEWS

SCHEDULE SHIFT ON DOLLAR LINE

All Ships to Spend Christmas Day in Some Port

Order for Revision Involves Considerable Cost

President Wilson to Observe Yuletide at Harbor

Dollar Steamship Company, which spends prodigally and bursts many buttons to keep its globe-girdling liners meticulously on schedule, is now sending out instructions intentionally to break those schedules. That is, to revamp them all slightly for Christmas Day.

Every ship in the service, and in others of the Dollar Line as well, are to be in some port next Christmas Day. It means several material changes. A number of the vessels will have to gain time, from a day up to several, to celebrate Yuletide in the different havens around the world. Much additional fuel will be spent to increase this speed, and overtime paid many dock forces, but Santa Claus must be served.

The President Wilson will have the privilege of passing Christmas at Los Angeles, having to gain a full twenty-four hours on her regular schedule around the world.

Incidentally the world-circler President Monroe, Capt. A. Ahman, is due at Los Angeles from New York today on the eightieth globe-belting trip for the Dollar fleet. Among the passengers aboard are Dr. Sterart P. Keeling of Philadelphia; Dr. D. L. Pennery of St. Louis; Rev. Henry J. Bennett of Boston and Mrs. W. Scott Bardwell, son and daughter, of York, Eng.

MOVEMENT OF SHIPS EQUALS WEEKLY RECORD

One hundred and fifty-six vessels entered Los Angeles Harbor during the week closing Saturday night, equaling the week early in April, which was the record during the four years the Marine Exchange has tabulated ship movements. Carriers of types, this week and the one previous, are as follows: Passenger, fifty-one and forty-seven; cargo, fifty-four and thirty-five; oil, thirty and thirty-four, and lumber, twenty-one and nine nineteen. Lumber receipts were 27,328,000 board feet, a gain of 6,306,000 over the previous week. Oil shipments dropped 306,924 barrels to 1,961,968. Ships represented eleven nations, Americans numbering 139.

Mitsui & Co., Inc., now making Los Angeles Harbor a discharging port only, will make the harbor a terminal for a new trans-Pacific service as soon as the China situation clears, according to Capt. N. Iwata, master of the freight motorship Akagigan Maru, in yesterday.

The new service will be maintained by twin-screw Diesels, several of which now are building in Japan. They will be fast enough to carry silk shipments to San Francisco along with other freight, and then will proceed here to finish loading and sail direct for this port. The new motorships will be of 9000 tons deadweight.

The company now sends five of its trans-Pacific ships here via San Francisco to discharge only, and pick up bulk cargo such as 500 tons of Diesel oil and bunkers taken by the Akagisan Maru. They then load lumber and bulk in the Northwest. The new service would offer direct dispatch of general cargo from Los Angeles to the Orient. The company will maintain twenty-five ships, many of which are motorized, in several services out of Nippon.

Dr. Carlos Letiva, recently appointed first secretary of the Salvador Legation at Washington, is a passenger with his wife aboard the Panama Mail liner Ecuador, out tonight for Central America and New York. Dr. Letiva will visit his home before taking up his new duties. Others aboard are Benjamin Sol, Salvador banker and plantation owner; W. N. Buechse, egg cheese wholesaler of Jersey City; C. M. Tallack, vice-president of the Imperial Bank of California, India, en route to London, and Mrs. Thomas N. Rathbone, wife of a Panama Canal pilot, returning

Admiral liner Emma Alexander will resume its seasonal excursions to Ensenada at 11 p.m., the 25th inst., when it sails from the Wilmington terminal with members of the Optimists Club and Uplifters Club of Los Angeles. The liner will return at 7 a.m. the 28th inst. The Ruth Alexander will make a Labor Day excursion to the Mexican resort, leaving here at 5 p.m. September 2 and returning at 6 a.m. September 5.

Horace Elder announces the formal opening of new offices of Wheeler, Elder & Elder this morning in the La Barca Building, 256 North Main st., Los Angeles. The new offices are more spacious than the old location, 129 North Broadway, and are directly in front of the United States customs house. The brokers represent seven passenger and freight, oil and lumber steamship lines and maintain a freight forwarding division. A branch office recently was established at 116 West Seventh street, San Pedro.

The Matson Line steamer Maloio, a new vessel to be put in service between San Francisco and Honolulu, will stop at Los Angeles November 16 en route from New York to her new home port. It was announced yesterday by Matson Line officials. She will sail on her maiden trip to Hawaii November 17, and, after that, it is planned to have the Maloio leave San Francisco every other Saturday, arriving at Honolulu the following Wednesday. She will carry 650 passengers, all first-class. The new ship is scheduled to sail from New York October 27. Her master will be Commodore Peter Johnson, now in his thirty-eighth year with the line. After the Maloio is placed in service, several Matson passenger ships will be laid up one or more voyages for overhaul. The Manoa will lay up November 7 to have beds and running water installed in all staterooms.

Students of a dental college are offering themselves to be given toothache for experimental purposes. When the ache is produced a drug is administered, and the time it takes to relieve the pain is recorded.

General Makes Large Lease in Magunden Area

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Completion of one of the largest single leases during the last several weeks in the area south and east of Bakersfield, was announced today by Charles Bloemer, local realtor.

Bloemer has leased 1200 acres in five different sections south of Magunden to the General Petroleum Corporation. The lease covers 220 acres of Sec. 1, 30-28, sixty acres of Sec. 12, 30-28, 500 acres of Sec. 7, 30-29, 160 acres of Sec. 18, 30.29, 320 acres of Sec. 19, 30-29 and several smaller parcels in the same area.

The major portion of the holding lies south of Magunden, on the eastern boundary of the Union avenue district. The lease, one of the largest and forms requiring drilling within three years, calls for one-eighth royalty.

Complete Plant for Dried Fruit

SANTA CLARA, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Libby, McNeil and Libby has established a dried fruit plant in Santa Clara which will handle between 10,000 and 15,000 tons of dried fruit annually. The plant is located on a six-acre site near the Southern Pacific station, the plant and site approximating $250,000, according to reports. The dried fruit plant is said to be the first placed in operation by the company which is planning eventually to enlarge the quarters and make it one of the largest dried fruit plants in the world.

The present plant unit is a two-story reinforced concrete structure with a concrete roof over 300 feet long and 140 feet wide. A storage capacity of 3000 tons has been provided. The plant is expected to furnish employment for 160 people during the busy season.

AIR MAIL SCHEDULE

Now in effect: Universal postage rate of 10 cents per half ounce anywhere in the United States or Canada applies on all matters sent via Air Mail.

Transcontinental air mail service to and from Southern California is operated in both directions daily, leaving Air Mail Field (Los Angeles) at 7:35 a.m. Pacific Time and arriving at Hadley Field (New Brunswick, N. J.) at 5 p.m. Eastern Standard Time the second day. Arrival at the New York City terminal is one hour later.

Westbound departure from Hadley Field is at 12:15 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, with arrival at Los Angeles at 5:25 p.m. Pacific Time, the second day.

The Los Angeles daily closing for air mail is 6:30 a.m. at Arcade Station and at 8:45 a.m. or a little later at the air mail letter boxes, painted red, white and blue, and located in various parts of the city.

Items for the Air Mail are restricted to not more than fifty (50) pounds in weight and not more than eighty-four (84) inches in length and girth combined

1928 ESSEX SUPER-SIX COACH Breaks High Gear Record up Mt. Baldy

An enclosed 1928 Essex super-six ran the 8½ miles of steep mountain grades between the Toll House and Ice House Canyon at Mt. Baldy in 12 minutes and 45 seconds sealed in high gear. This remarkable time is 46½ seconds faster than the best previous time. This is a tremendous triumph for the power and speed of the new Essex as the previous record was made by an open model 8-cylinder car with top, windshield, etc., removed, while the Essex used was a closed car, without a single article of standard equipment missing. The run was timed and observed by Los Angeles and Pomona newspaper men, one of whom rode in the car during the run to certify to the fact that the car was sealed in high gear throughout the record breaking run. The improved super six motor with the lengthened stroke made this severe test easy for the new Essex.

The NEW 1928 ESSEX Super-Six MODELS—NOW ON DISPLAY!

YOUTH WILL BE SERVED---

So Johnny Doeg, right, and George Lott, the two outstanding young tennis players of the country, received places as alternates on the United States team for Davis Cup play. There were many critics who believed Doeg, a Santa Monica boy, should have been picked outright over Richard Williams, a veteran. If the youngsters get a chance to show their stuff against the French artists next month they should produce a sparkling brand of tennis. [P. & A. Photo.]

MOLLA MALLORY WINS

National Women's Tennis Champion Victorious in Tilt With Mrs. Chapin on Rye Courts

RYE (N. Y.) Aug. 21. (AP)—Mrs. Molla Bjorstedt Mallory, national women's tennis champion, defeated Mrs. A. H. Chapin of Hyannis, Mass., in the finals of the eastern women's championship here today. The scores were 2-6, 6-2, 7-5.

Mrs. Mallory started poorly and her apparent carelessness started the tide against her. Mrs. Chapin completely outplayed the champion in the first set and had a lead of 2-1 in the second set when Mrs. Mallory began to assert herself. She won five games in a row to take off the set.

In the final set the Massachusetts player gained a lead of 2-0, but Mrs. Mallory then took command of the situation, playing marvelous tennis in the seven games that brought her victory. Her tremendous driving at times put Mrs. Chapin off balance in attempting to return.

JUNIOR CHAMP STARS TO WIN

Home-Club Youngster Cops Annual Play, 7-5

Leads Youthful Clubmate 5 Up at Turn

Brown and Mrs. Voorhees Lead Foursomes

BY BILL WISE

Charles (Chick) Seaver, Southern California junior champ, played better golf than J. A. (Jim) Talbot yesterday, and defeated his youthful Beverly clubmate, 7 and 5, in the thirty-six-hole finals match for the invitational championship of his home organization, the Los Angeles Country Club.

The Beverly club's most popular youngster, son of one of Southern California's most respected sportsmen, collected a lot of breaks, but contributed a lot of championship shots in his match with Talbot yesterday.

Despite the strain of a week of high-powered competition, Seaver went out and stroked an approximate 75 over the first eighteen holes yesterday morning and was 6 up, partly through good golf and partly because Talbot started wobbling on the greens. Two stymies played an important part in the first-half results, but Talbot, out in 39 to Seaver's 36, required forty-two strokes coming home. Seaver negotiated the last nine in 36, even par.

Talbot, west coast hydroplane (outboard kicker) champ, received word just before noon that a substitute pilot had practically ruined the motor in his boat while trying to qualify in a speed regatta at Balboa and the news did not help his game in the afternoon. Jim claimed a lot of just fame when he defeated Jack Neville on the twentieth hole during the Los Angeles invitation two years ago, and lost a chance yesterday afternoon to again rise to tea-and-green heights.

Seaver slipped way up to a 43 for the first nine holes after lunch but Talbot, with a 42, had won back but one hole and was still trailing, 5 down. Seaver parred the next four holes to end the match, 7 and 5.

When presenting yesterday's finalists with trophies representing the highest awards in interclub golf, Uncle Ed Tufts, dean of west coast golf, characterized the youngsters as "the most promising juniors in Southern California."

Seaver in particular is starting upon what promises to be a golf career even more imposing than that attributed to his father, Everett Seaver, former Southern State amateur champ. The tousle-headed blond youngster—aside from being the most promising golfer in local circles, is the finest—and most courteous little sportsman of the lot. The same goes double for Jimmy Talbot, but Jim doesn't play regularly enough to be a dangerous factor in major amateur events.

More than three-score teams elected to compete in the two-ball mixed foursome event that

JACK DEMPSEY BEGINS LIGHT TRAINING TODAY AT LINCOLN RACE TRACK

CHICAGO, Aug. 21. (AP)—The Lincoln Field training camp of Jack Dempsey was made ready today for the former champion, who will begin light training there tomorrow afternoon.

Jack made his first public appearance since his arrival at the police field meet today and was made an honorary member of the department by Chief Michael Hughes.

George Getz, the millionaire coal man acting as the legal promoter of the September 22 title match, introduced Jack to the crowd from the home plate of Wrigley Field, the Cubs' baseball park, and the packed grand stand responded with a tremendous roar.

Dempsey watched the police athletes a few minutes and then hurried north for a visit with his wife.

Dave Shade, Dempsey's chief sparring mate and adviser, is due tomorrow, in time to go with Jack on his first trip to Lincoln Field. Marty Burke and Allentown Joe Gans have been called to report Tuesday, but Dempsey's actual boxing is not expected to begin before Saturday, or perhaps next week.

GENE TUNNEY

JACK DEMPSEY

Gus Wilson and Jerry Luvadis, Dempsey's trainers, moved out to the race course today to prepare Jack's quarters and break in a new cook. The ring was set up in front of the clubhouse yesterday, and the indoor paraphernalia installed inside the clubhouse on the first floor.

With Dempsey starting training Monday, and the public ticket sale beginning the next day, only the presence of the champion, Gene Tunney, is lacking from the picture.

Tunney has announced he will not transfer his camp from Speculator, N. Y., to the Fox Lake district until after September 1, but Tex Rickard is endeavoring to persuade the titleholder to come here at an earlier date.

The seating plan of Soldiers' Field, revised to conform to the ideas of the Illinois State Athletic Commission, will be submitted to the commission tomorrow for its formal approval.

Dempsey's formal application for his Illinois boxing license, may be submitted at the same time, although he can wait five days before the fight to file.

TUNNEY GOES THROUGH WORKOUT BEFORE 5000 FANS

SPECULATOR (N. Y.) Aug. 21. (AP) Gene Tunney entertained the usual Sunday crowd of automobilists and fight fans who flocked to his training camp here to see the heavyweight champion working kinks out of himself for his contest with Jack Dempsey in Chicago next month. Fully

Landis Turns Down Protest Made by Cubs

NEW YORK, Aug. 21. (AP)—The New York Giants' 6-to-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs at the Polo Grounds July 13, last, will stand, despite Chicago's protest of a decision by Umpire Rigler, John A. Heydler, president of the National League, announced today. President Heydler decided the "umpire's ruling was final and must be upheld."

JOHN McGRAW

Rigler's disputed decision came in the eighth inning of the tenninning game. The score was tied. With Heathcote on second, Pick hit to Reese at third base. The umpire called Heathcote out for interfering with Reese's effort to field the ball by passing close in front of him. The rules require a base runner to go out of the base line and pass behind a fielder who obstructs his proper path.

Webb and Stevenson Back to Old Places on American Four as Guest and Cowdin are Benched

PORT WASHINGTON (N. Y.) Aug. 21. (AP)—With the first match of the international polo cup series against the British only two weeks off, the American line-up experienced a sudden shake-up today that put J. Watson Webb and Malcolm Stevenson back on the "big four" in place of Winston Guest and J. Cheever Cowdin.

Midway in a hotly contested practice match between the American regulars and the "junior varsity" at Fleischmann Field, Webb went into his old position at No. 1 in place of Guest, the 21-year-old Yale star, whose selection for the international four just two weeks ago was a sensation. Stevenson was moved up to No. 3 in place of Cowdin, who joined Guest on the second-string team for the rest of the match.

Murphy Has Easy Time With Sacs in Last Game

BY BOB RAY

After playing the part of door mats all week, Oscar Vitt's Hollywood Sheiks rose up in all their manly beauty yesterday afternoon at Wrigley Field and wound up the series by drubbing the Sacramento Senators in both ends of the double-header. The scores were 6 to 0 and 10 to 3.

MICKEY HEATH

It seems that even the "welcome" sign on a door mat will wear off from a continued wiping of shoes and that's evidently what happened on Saturday when the Solons raced across it seventeen times while compiling a 17-to-3 victory.

Sacramento had cinched the series with Saturday's victory, but the Stars' strong finish managed to give them a 3-to-4 break for the week, which is not as bad as it could have been.

In the first struggle Frank Shellenback, the eminent spitballist from Hollywood, salivaed the Sacs into shutout submission with ease, the visitors getting but three scattered hits off of his slightly damp offerings. While Shelly and his moist slants were causing the Senators no little embarrassment, the Stars were treating Spec Shea in a manner that was nothing if not rude. Spec stuck it through to the finish, but was punched for eleven hits. Mickey Heath, with a home run and two doubles, and Pat McNulty, with two singles and a double, led the attack on the four-eyed flinger.

MURPHY HAS EASY TIME

"Arizona Bill" Murphy's work was made easy by the Stars in the second game. Murphy held the Sacs to one run for six rounds, during which

English Wightman Cup Stars Strive for Laurels

FOREST HILLS (N. Y.) Aug. 21. (AP) Sixty-four of the best woman tennis players in the United States and Europe start play tomorrow for the national championship held by Mrs. Molla Mallory, seven-times champion. By Saturday the field will have narrowed to two, who will fight it out for the title.

Heading the list of seeded players is Miss Helen Wills, champion for three years prior to last season when ill health kept her from competing. By virtue of her victory in the English championship and her success in the Wightman Cup matches, Miss Wills will be the favorite.

HELEN WILLS

Others expected to figure in the final rounds are Mrs. Mallory and the English Wightman Cup players, including Mrs. Kathleen McKane Godfree and Miss Betty Nuthall. A third nation is represented by Miss Kea Bouman of Holland, champion of France, who is handicapped, however, by ill health and has expressed little hope of winning.

Among the leading American players besides Miss Wills and Mrs Molla Mallory are Miss Helen Jacobs, 18-year-old California girl, who is hailed by many as a coming champion, and such high-ranking veterans as Miss Eleanor Goss of New York; Mrs. Charlotte H. Chapin, Hyannis, Mass., and Miss Penelope Anderson, Richmond, Va.

Single by Wright Beats Dodgers in Ninth Frame; Giants Take Twin Bill From Redlegs

BROOKLYN, Aug. 21. (AP)—Pittsburgh shaved another half-game off the Cubs' hold on first place in the National today by trouncing Brooklyn, 2 to 1, giving the Pirates a sweep of the series. The idle Chicago club now leads the pack by three games. The defeat relegated th Robins bhind the Braves in seventh place.

Carmen Hill worked against Bill Doak in a pitchers' battle which was decided in the ninth when Wright's single drove in Cuyler who was running for Barnhart after the latter had hit safely. Grantham hit a home run in the third, but the Dodgers tied the count in the eighth when Statz led off with a double, advanced a base on an infield out and scored when Grantham dropped Gooch's throw as Hendrick stole second, after getting a base on balls. The attendance was 20,000. The score:

GIANTS BEST

NEW YORK, Aug. 21. (AP)—The New York Giants concluded a series with the Reds today by a double victory, 9 to 8 and 6 to 1, before more than 45,000 fans. The McGrawmen came from behind with a three-run rally in the ninth of the opener, Leslie Mann's pinch double with the bases full deciding the game. Critz hit a home run in the second inning with two on the sacks during a six-run attack by the Reds. Hornsby slammed his twenty-second circuit drive in the fifth and Jackson followed with another in the same round with one on base. Dressen also banged a homer.

In the closing tussle, Mann clouted a four-bagger with one on in the third while Roush connected for the circuit with one on in the eighth.

Long George Kelly split a finger in practice, Wally Pipp replacing him at first for the Reds. The scores:

DEMPSEY WILL BEGIN TRAINING

5000 persons saw him in the ring today with Paul Cavalier and Billy Vidaback, who has withstood many training punches from the former marine.

Before he went into the ring for three rounds apiece with the two sparring partners, Tunney rattled the light bag for several minutes. This morning he arose early and did six miles of road work.

Beavers Split Pair of Games

PORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 21. (AP)—San Francisco finally won from Portland, taking the first game today, 6 to 3, but the Beavers then won the second, 6 to 2, behind Yerkes's fine pitching, making the series outcome six out of seven from the Seals. Attendance was 8200. The Beavers take the road tonight for Sacramento after winning thirteen out of fifteen games on the home grounds, and climbing from fifteen games below the .500 mark to only two. time his mates had collected ten runs in the fifth. Manuilty scored the first run on a walk, a steal of second, Sheehan's bunt and Heath's long sacrifice fly, while Frederick's double and Kerr's home run over the left-field wall brought in the other counters.

Murphy's single, Singleton's error on Gooch's drive to the box, Lee's triple over Osborne's head and Sheehan's sacrifice fly produced the final three runs in the sixth.

Sacramento's last two runs came across in the seventh and both were unearned. After French had been retired, Monroe, batting for Singleton, reached first on Kerr's bobble. Kopp singled, but was forced at second by Backer. Osborne then doubled to center and Monroe and Backer counted. Rohwer followed with a hit, but Koehler ended the struggle with a roller to Lee. VON ELM FACES STELLAR FIELD

The big advance interest other than instances here and there of local pride continued to center in George Von Elm, the champion, and Bobby Jones, who lost the title to the Los Angeles player. The champion and former titlist played this morning in the same four-ball match and both were close enough to their game to consider themselves next door to "on."

IRONS WEAK

Bobby's supporters shook their heads over only one feature of his play; he was a bit shaky, they said, in his iron play. His putting touch, however, was reported well in hand.

Playing with Bob Gardner, who captains Walker Cup teams among other golf achievements, Von Elm played Bobby and Max Marston, another former champion. George scored a par 72 in spite of two penalty strokes at the thirteenth hole, where he took his second six of the round. He had seven birdies on his card. Bobby scored 73 with a six at the fourteenth, where he found a trap. Bobby had three birdies. Marston gave Bobby some timely assistance, the Philadelphian, getting around in 75, giving the best performance of the quartet on the second nine with 35.

Gardner was off his game and was forced to pick up on several holes.

The cards:

Von Elm, out	5	3	4	5	4	4	5	4	4	36

Jones, out	5	3	4	5	4	4	5	4	4	38
In	4	3	3	3	4	4	4	4	4	73

Thirty-six holes of qualifying tests will be played tomorrow and Tuesday, with eighteen each day. For the thirty-two who turn in the lowest thirty-six-hole scores play will be continued on Thursday, Friday and Saturday at thirty-six holes.

St. Louis Browns Take Twin Bill from Boston

Athletics Defeat Chicago in Slugfest, 8 to 6

CLEVELAND, Aug. 21. (AP)—Cleveland made it two straight from New York, winning today's game, 7 to 4. The Yankees knocked Buckeye from the box in the fourth, but Hudlin came to his rescue with the bases loaded, none out and three runs across and tamed the visitors. He granted only two hits after the fourth inning and led the attack on Pipgras in the seventh, which produced two runs.

Ruth retired with a strained side in the first inning after stopping at first base on what really was a three-base hit. It was later announced that he was uninjured. Score:

DOCTORS OKAY BABE RUTH

CLEVELAND, Aug. 21. (AP)—Babe Ruth, who tied the record in the 1927 home-run race with Lou Gehrig when he clouted his thirty-ninth homer over the fence here yesterday, disappointed fans today, when he retired in the first inning, complaining of a strained ligament after he reached first base on what appeared to be a three-bagger. Physicians who examined him said that he was not injured, and that he would be in the game tomorrow. Durst was sent in to run on the Bambino's single.

TIGERS COP

DETROIT, Aug. 21. (AP)—Detroit gained its eleventh successive victory and tightened its grip on second place by beating Washington, 11 to 4, in the third game of the series here today. Haskell Billings pitched the full game for the Tigers and scored his second victory in the two starts he has made as a major leaguer. The Tigers hammered Horace Lisenbee freely. In the seventh inning they punched five hits with a pass and two errors for five runs. Harry Heilmann, making a bid to regain the batting championship of the American League, made three hits in four times at bat. Score:

CHEERFUL CHAFF

BY TIMES READERS

WRITE FOR THE "MOVIES" AND WIN CASH PRIZES

The Los Angeles Times produces a popular fun reel called "Cheerful Chaff," consisting of the twelve best jokes submitted weekly by readers. Twelve $1 prizes are awarded each week, the names and addresses of winners together with prize-winning jokes appearing on the screen.

Everyone is invited to send jokes. No formal letter is necessary. Just jot down your jokes, as many as you wish, sign your name and address and mail to "Cheerful Chaff Editor," Los Angeles Times. Jokes for the screen must not exceed thirty words.

Meritorious jokes too long or otherwise not adapted for screen use, are accorded a place of honor on The Times comic page, receiving a souvenir of acknowledgment.

COLORFUL PARADE TO OPEN SHOW

Floats, Bands Contribute to Street Pageant Scheduled for Huntington Park

HUNTINGTON PARK, Aug. 21.—Literally swamped with applications, Elks' Lodge, No. 1415, sponsoring the Charity Circus and Pageant of Progress, has found it necessary to close the entries for the opening parade at 7 o'clock tomorrow night, according to an announcement made by H. P. Bartlett, chairman of the executive committee.

Already, more than 100 floats and fifteen bands are entered, and it is estimated that two hours' time will be required for the pageant to pass a given point. Sheriff William I. Traeger is to be grand marshal for the parade, which will start at Miles and Florence avenue, proceed to South Pacific Boulevard and continue north on Pacific Boulevard to the exposition grounds at Fruitland Road.

Lieut.-Gov. Buron Fitts will formally open the exposition on the arrival of the pageant at the grounds. Mayors of all surrounding towns will be guests of Huntington Park for the evening.

In anticipation of tonight's throngs, the exposition is gay in old rose and gold, the official colors, from the huge triumphal entrance arch to the confines of the Indian village. The 124 merchants' and manufacturers' exhibits are complete and the automobile show presents a garden of greenery for the opening.

With an accompanying musical program to be played by Roberts's Golden State Band, everything is in readiness for the special performance of the New York Hippodrome water circus, under the supervision of W. H. Rice, featuring a disappearing ballet, Father Neptune and his daughters and the diving clowns.

Eleventh-hour interest is keen in the 100 per cent perfect-baby contest, the awards in which will be announced Thursday, and in the popular-lady competition to be decided Saturday night, interest is at fever heat in these features in connection with the exposition, which will close next Saturday night, the 27th inst.

Van Nuys May Delay Work on Sewer System

VAN NUYS, Aug. 21.—Petitions that were circulated here last week asking for the resurfacing of streets in the mile-square townsite of Van Nuys and the laying of a suitable sewer system will be recalled, if a resolution passed by leading business men and property owners here, and which will be presented Tuesday to the directors of the local Chamber of Commerce, is acted on favorably. The resolution points out that there is a large opposition to the proposal and that if the matter is later put to vote it will not carry at this time.

Property owners here are in favor of the improvement, but not now. Many of them point out that Van Nuys has no need for a sewer system of its own until the proposed San Fernando Valley outfall sewer is constructed, and that the first plans of this cannot be known until after September 13, next, when Burbank is to vote on its share of the expense necessary to the building of the outfall. It is believed that the chamber directors will consent to the withdrawal of the petitions, for there is an overwhelming feeling that a plan now to lay sewers locally and rebuild streets will be snowed under.

Hundreds of residents have stated that as soon as the main trunk-line sewer is constructed will be time enough for Van Nuys to vote bonds for the $600,000 improvement contemplated here.

VAN NUYS, Aug. 21.—Thirty-two thousand booklets, the entire August issue of the Arrowhead Magazine, Union Pacific Railroad publication, devoted exclusively to Van Nuys, came from the press yesterday. The cover design shows a map of Van Nuys, and the magazine is filled with articles telling of the Van Nuys section of San Fernando Valley.

Twenty-nine thousand of the booklets will be handed out to Union Pacific passengers. Three thousand have been given to the Van Nuys Chamber of Commerce, which will send them to eastern and Middle West inquirers about Southern California.

In the magazine are articles written by James R. Goldsworthy, Mrs. Estelle Moehn, Miss Grace Chapman, W. G. H. Russell, C. T. Wardlaw, D. A. Ball, Robert L. Hanley, B. R. Holloway, Frank M. Keffer, Lallie Taylor, L. O. Turner and Harry Baker, local persons who have written of various attractive features.

Other parts of the advertising booklets contain scenes in the Van Nuys section, prominent business houses and streets, and public buildings.

TWO TAX PAYMENTS

PORTERVILLE, Aug. 21.—Hereafter Porterville city taxes will be payable twice a year instead of once, by action of the Board of City Councilmen in passing a new ordinance to this effect. Collection of city taxes will now conform to the county's method of tax collections, thus avoiding considerable confusion and making it easier for large taxpayers. City taxes in the future will be due and delinquent at the same time as the county taxes for both installments.

CHEAPER WATER

SOUTH GATE, Aug. 21.—Lower rates for water will become effective on the first of the coming month, according to the arrangement made by the City Council. Heretofore, the rates have been $1.25 as a minimum for the first 1000 cubic feet. The rate has been reduced to $1 as the minimum beginning September 1. The plant is now owned by the city. When it was purchased two years ago, a reduced rate was given the water consumers. This is the second reduction since the plant went under municipal ownership.

GETTING IN SHAPE FOR COUNTY FAIR

Beauty Feeds the Beasts

SANTA ANA, Aug. 21.—For miles around, on ranches and feed lots, the prize live stock of Orange county and many distant districts is being pampered and groomed in preparation for the annual Orange County Fair, which will have extensive exhibits devoted to cattle, swine, poultry, sheep and other animals of the farm.

With the exhibit scheduled to open on September 8, the rivalry among the ranchers and breeders today was reported at fever heat. Many of them, according to A. N. Stanley, secretary of the fair, are devoting personal attention to making their animals ready for the critical eyes of the judges. He cited Ariel Thompson, Santa Ana girl, who is feeding two young Jersey calves on scientific principles, calculated to gloss their already smooth coats and to put them in the pink of condition. The event will run one week.

While the fair will lean heavily toward displays of Orange county industries, crops and animals, the amusement side is being looked after as well, according to H. A. Lake, president. A rodeo, horse show, sham battle and numerous other special events, he declared, are being whipped into shape.

START HIGHWAY WORK

Counties to Advance Funds, Pending Litigation, So that Construction of Road Will Not be Delayed

VENTURA, Aug. 21.—Plans are being perfected by officials of three counties under which it is hoped that work on the Maricopa-Ventura Highway may be started at once instead of waiting upon the outcome of litigation over the proposed bond issue, now in the courts.

The proposal is that Ventura, Santa Barbara, and Kern counties shall each pay a part of a sum of probably $135,000, to which may be added a $50,000 appropriation by the State.

According to T. G. Gabbert, chairman of the Ventura Board of Supervisors and chairman of the Maricopa Road District Board of Directors, the plan is quite feasible and will come up for serious consideration at the September meeting of the Supervisors here when next year's budget will be under discussion.

The district board feels that a fair pro-rata of the cost would be for Ventura county to pay $60,000, Santa Barbara $25,000 and Kern county $50,000, according to Mr. Gabbert. With the $50,000 that it is expected can be obtained from the State, the work could be started at once. Then, if the courts should validate the bond issue the tax money posted by the county could be used to redeem bonds, so that the counties would not incur any loss of the tax money already used.

The money has not been posted by these counties yet, said Mr. Gabbert today, but they are ready to post it.

The hearing of the application of Paul Durkum and Charles Sansome for a permit to operate a passenger and express stage line between Wheeler's Springs and Maricopa, when the Ventura-Maricopa Highway is completed, was concluded at the Courthouse following an all-day session, and the testimony given by a score of witnesses is to be submitted to the State Railroad Commission by Examiner W. R. Williams, who presided.

A decision by the commission at an early date is expected. Three stage lines, the California Transit Company, the Pickwick Stages and the Harry Hunt Ventura-Ojai Stage Line, and the American Railway Express were the protestants to the granting of the stage permit.

MONEY FOR VALENCIA GROWERS

Anaheim Orchardists Get First Payment for Bumper Crop Shipment

ANAHEIM, Aug. 21.—Returns to Anaheim Valencia growers, who marketed their fruit during the first pool of shipment at the Anaheim Orange and Lemon Association house, exceeded, by more than $36,000, the amount expected to be realized for this fruit, based on an estimate early in the season, according to a statement by Manager C. W. Sandilands.

Final settlement for the first pool fruit, recently made by this house, brings the total amount received by growers to the sum of $326,426.33, Manager Sandilands reports.

The house handled a total of 243 cars of fruit in this pool, with the smaller sizes predominating. Of the fruit shipped, 66 per cent was of sizes 216's and smaller, Mr. Sandilands stated.

With marketing of the second pool of fruit now completed with very satisfactory results, the house is busy on its third pool with prospects bright for a continuation of the good returns that have characterized the other two pools, he said.

Final settlements for first-pool fruit have also been made by the Anaheim Co-operative Orange Association and the Anaheim Citrus Fruit Association. The co-operative recently reported that a total of approximately $460,000 had been paid growers for fruit marketed during this period and, although no official statement was available this morning, the Anaheim Citrus Fruit Association is said to have completed the payment of approximately $400,000 for the early fruit.

The C. M. Brown Fruit Company has completed the shipment of 193 cars, 400 boxes each of Valencias, up to date, for outstripping its shipping record last season and has rounded out two shipping pools. The remainder of this season's crop will be handled by this house on an individual marketing basis, Manager W. H. Johnston announced today.

TAX RATE WILL REMAIN THE SAME

VISALIA, Aug. 21.—Indications are that the new tax levy in Tulare county will not exceed that of 1926, when the outside rate was $2.83, with a similar outside rate the year before. Tulare county Supervisors are busy preparing the annual budget in preparation of naming the tax rate in September. Considerable trimming has been necessary to keep down the rate. Among improvements postponed will be construction of some of the eight bridges already approved. This action is taken in an effort to meet demands of property owners that the rate not be increased.

LOS ANGELES GIRL TAKES BEACH PRIZE

Purse and Silver Cup in Annual Beauty Contest Won by Local Miss

LONG BEACH, Aug. 21.—Helene Louise, 19-year-old Los Angeles girl, was awarded the grand prize, including $250 in cash and the Hotel Virginia silver cup, in the annual bathing beauty contest here today. Miss Louise lives at 2701 Raymond avenue.

Winners in the divisions were as follows:

Bathing beauty division, Miss Louise, $75 and silver cup.

Female comedy character, Georgia O'Dell, Hollywood, $75 and cup.

Male comedy character, Joe Mellish, Glendale, $75 and cup.

Flappers and ingenues, Bobbie Mobeine, Hollywood, $75 and cup.

Impersonations of film stars, Raphael Lang, Mexico City, for impersonation of Adolphe Menjou, $75 and cup. Tied for grand prize on first ballot.

General impersonations, George J. Comley, Los Angeles, for his impersonation of Abraham Lincoln, $75 and cup.

Four other places were also awarded in each division, carrying awards of $25 and cup, $15, $10 and $5, respectively.

A crowd of 100,000 or more jammed into the Long Beach amusement zone. In contrast with former years when official sanction for the affair was given rather grudgingly city officials were prominent around the judges' stand today and the municipal band led the parade. The plan announced by the opposition to have church bells tolled as the marchers walked was not carried into execution.

The parade proceeded the full length of the Pike to the Virginia tennis courts.

The judges included John McCarthy and Hal Todd, motion-picture directors; Gus Porter, a casting director, and T. J. Williams, an artist. Marjorie Williams and Hope Gare, winners in former years, were guests on the judges' stand. From the bathing beauties the judges sifted out forty-two to enter the finals at the Majestic Ballroom at 8 p.m., at which time the prize winners in other divisions were announced.

Catholics to Campaign for Half-Million

FRESNO, Aug. 21.—Fresno Catholics yesterday opened executive offices here for a campaign to raise $500,000 for the payment of debts of forty-seven parishes of the Central California diocese of Monterey-Fresno.

The campaign will be conducted over a period of two years and will be restricted to popular subscriptions. Committees will be organized in each of the parishes, and an extensive campaign will be staged from October 24 to November 5.

The diocese originally planned to give its aid to a campaign to raise funds for the restoration of the old Spanish missions of Central California, but these plans were abandoned when it became apparent that the financial condition of the diocese was such that they needed immediate attention.

Counties in the diocese are Santa Cruz, San Benito, Merced, Monterey, Madera, Mariposa, San Luis Obispo, Fresno, Tulare, Kings, Kern and Inyo.

TEACHES MOUNTAIN SCHOOL

June Graduate Accepts Position in Ventura County Miles Away from Parties and Jazz Music

VENTURA, Aug. 21.—The desire of citizens of the Apache School District for a pretty, modern school ma'm with the good sense of forty, has been satisfied. Miss Anna Cucklenz, young, good-looking and a June graduate of the University of California in Los Angeles, was placed in the position by Mrs. Blanche T. Reynolds, county superintendent, who returned from the district last night.

Mrs. Reynolds left several days ago for the Apache school, going by way of Casaic, where she was to meet three prospective teachers, sent out by a placement bureau. The three were there, but one of them had not realized that she was to make a gruelling, overnight drive back into the mountains so she returned home with her parents, who had driven her up in their car.

The other two went on, but one of them was eliminated when she arrived to find just how far from civilization the Apache school really is. She told Mrs. Reynolds she was afraid it was a little too lonely for her.

The third one was Miss Cucklenz, who was reared from girlhood over on the east side of the Sierra Nevada Mountains, in Inyo county, where she learned what it meant to be isolated from city life for long periods. Miss Cucklenz understood the position she was taking and was pleased with it and the trustees were pleased with her, so the Apache school has a teacher again.

Another teacher had been placed there the first of the month, but stayed only two days. She had brought several suitcases full of fine clothes and had expected to enter into the city life at Apache. Her disappointment was attested to by her almost immediate withdrawal.

Club Active in Pursuit of Fortune

GLENDALE, Aug. 21.—Residents of Southern California, who can trace their relationship with William Jennings, who die in England over a century and a half ago, are planning to present their claims for a share in the estate that he left when he died without heirs and that is now estimated to have reached a figure in excess of $400,000,000. The Jennings Association of Southern California, that meets every two weeks in the Glendale Public Library, is gathering data to present to the British courts in the effort to establish the identity of the claimants and their rights to share in the Jennings estate, which is said to have been in the Court of Chancery since the death of the original owner.

The property is declared to consist of valuable real estate in the city of London, as well as bank deposits of a large amount, and the worth of the estate has steadily increased since the death of Jennings, until today it is believed to rank among the leading British fortunes.

The number of claimants, according to Mrs. H. A. Severance, 1203 Kenilworth street, Glendale, a member of the association, is over 400, scattered all over the United States. The association is now seeking to collect definite information from old family Bibles and other records to substantiate the relationship of the various claimants, and as soon as this can be done the appeal will be made to the British courts for a division of the property involved. Mrs. Severance traces her kinship with Jennings through her great-grandmother, who, she asserts, was a Jennings, and who was closely related to the founder of the fortune.

The Jennings Association of Southern California was founded within the past year, and other associations have also been formed in Virginia and other States to prosecute the contest for the division of the Jennings fortune. Mrs. Annabelle Jennings Moore of Los Angeles is the president of the Southern California organization, and within the past week Attorney Moberley White of Los Angeles started for England to represent the claimants in the initial procedure before the British courts. White is said to be connected with the British aristocracy and to have practiced law in England for many years before settling in Los Angeles. Attorneys Nathan Newby & Son have been retained by the Southern California claimants.

SACRIFICE TREES TO WIDEN HIGHWAY

ONTARIO, Aug. 21.—Ontario's beautiful palm-lined highway, West A street, known to motorists as Valley Boulevard, is about to have its charm taken from it. Workmen have started the task of cutting back the curb and highway four feet on each side to widen the thoroughfare eight feet, as contained in the city's building program.

A great number of palm trees will have to be removed from the side of the highway to make way for the commercial enterprise. Ontario Council has been thrown into considerable discussion over the problem of removing the trees. With women on the job today it is evident the trees are to be victims.

A new ornamental lighting system is to be installed along West A street, which is another reason the trees must go.

STATE FAIR TO SEE PRIZE VALLEY STOCK

ENCINO, Aug. 21.—The Adohr Stock Farms stable of twelve five-gaited thoroughbreds under the direction of Walter Crouch will be among the San Fernando Valley representation at the California State Fair Horse Show that will open at Sacramento at the State Fair Grounds on September 3 to 10, next. Miss J. Callaham's stable of hunters and hurdle-jumpers, which has won prizes all over the United States, also will be in special stalls.

SURVEY COMPLETED OF ROAD TO PACOIMA DAM

PACOIMA, Aug. 21.—The surveying of Maclay avenue to its intersection with Pacoima Canyon, east of here, was completed today. The new highway proposed will be the shortest route to the Pacoima dam, and also will be an additional route into the Antelope Valley country. Much traffic will come into the Pacoima dam country as soon as the huge dam is completed, and engineers are making special efforts to build a suitable highway to the site. Other roads will follow the completion of the main thoroughfare.

INSTRUCTOR TO LEAVE

HUNTINGTON PARK, Aug. 21.—Clyde E. Bundy, who for the past six years has been an instructor in the printing department of the Huntington Park Union High School, has accepted a similar position with the high school at San Pedro and will begin his duties there at the beginning of the new school year.

Van Nuys People to Try Again to Get Park Sites

VAN NUYS, Aug. 21.—Not long ago Van Nuys made an effort to obtain three park sites, but the proposition failed when it was put up to the voters of the community. Following a reorganization of committees from the local Chamber of Commerce in charge of the plan, it is reported that another effort will be made to resubmit the question.

The new committee is headed by Charles A. Bevis, who will work in conjunction with Charles Yunker, W. P. Whitsett, W. C. Cornwell and J. F. Inglis. They will proceed with another survey of the park and playground areas with a view of some time this autumn putting the park-site proposition again before the voters.

It is understood that the present committee will consider the advisability of an entire new program, including a change in the proposed territory which is to be assessed for the gradual payment of the park bonds. Van Nuys is without a park. The plan is to have one on the edge of the townsite and the other somewhere in the heart of the downtown district.

Advocates of the parks assert that if the purchase of the sites proposed is delayed for another three or four years they probably will cost two or three times more than the purchase would be now.

FRESNO FIREMEN OUT OF POSITIONS

FRESNO, Aug. 21.—Twenty-six members of the Fresno Fire Department who will be dropped from the rolls the 30th inst., due to a reduction of the fire department budget for the current year, will automatically take positions at the top of the civil service eligibility list, the Civil Service Commission ruled at a special meeting. In addition to the dropping of these men, three captains and two engineers will be reduced in rank in connection with the budget reductions, amounting to about $40,000 in the department.

TWO-DAY RODEO IN KINGS COUNTY

ARMONA, Aug. 21.—There will be two gala days at the Kings' County Fairgrounds near here September 4 and 5, reminiscent of old-time county fair days. The big event is a two-day rodeo given by the people of Hanford to raise funds to buy the celebrated collection of relics of the San Joaquin Valley owned by Dr. Frank Griffith as a nucleus for a Kings' county museum to be established in the basement of the municipal auditorium.

All parts of the county are showing great interest in the event. R. C. Kendall of Hanford is chairman of the committees, composed of many prominent Hanfordites.

OPEN PLANT TO CARE FOR FRUIT

VENTURA, Aug. 21.—For the first time in two years, the Santa Paula plant of the California Prune and Apricot Growers' Association is to be open for business, it was announced today.

The reopening of the plant is warranted by the large crop of apricots, which is declared to be the largest in this county in years. The plant is to reopen immediately.

Its main purpose is to clean apricot pits and grind them, the resulting product being shipped east to factories where chemicals and various other by-products are turned out.

CITY TO CLEAN HOUSE

FULLERTON, Aug. 21.—Fullerton real-estate men will sponsor a clean-up campaign in the near future, according to plans announced yesterday following a luncheon meeting of the local realty board. Mrs. Mat Reeve was appointed to call the attention of the City Council to the need of removing weeds and cleaning certain lots throughout the city that the community may look its best on Armistice Day, when the Orange county celebration will be held here.

TAXPAYERS MEET

VISALIA, Aug. 21.—Directors of the Tulare county unit of the California Taxpayers' Association are being called together in the City Hall at Visalia, Tuesday evening, the 23rd inst. Notices have been sent out by D. T. Frymire, secretary. It is expected that all members of the board and all others interested will be in attendance.

This will be the first meeting of the directors since last spring.

FIRST CAR OF FIGS

DINUBA, Aug. 21.—The first car of California figs received in New York were marketed for $1.95 a package, or a gross of $5105 for the carlot, according to word received here.

Thirty-one growers of the Cutler, Sultana, Orosi, Dinuba and Reedley districts had figs in the car. They will receive about 25 cents per pound for the fruit. About ten cars of figs have gone out from the Reedley plant since that time.

COLLEGE MEN GET GOOD JOBS

Caltech Graduates Command Attention

Occupy Important Places in Industrial World

Faculty Member Back from Trip East

PASADENA, Aug. 21.—Graduates of the California Institute of Technology are commanding important positions in leading eastern industrial centers and the value of the training given them here is demonstrated by the prominent parts which they are playing in the activities of present-day industrial progress, according to Prof. Royal W. Sorensen of the electrical engineering department of the institute, who has just returned from a six weeks' trip through the Eastern United States.

Prof. Sorensen was entertained by eight different groups of Caltech alumni in as many distinct centers of industry, and everywhere he found Caltech graduates at important posts, he reports.

Clyde Keith of the class of 1922 was at the annual convention of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers to demonstrate the television apparatus recently developed by the American Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, and in the invention of which he played a prominent role. Other California institute men spoke before the convention.

The other alumni gatherings were held in Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, New York, Schenectady, Pittsfield and Chicago.

Junior College Receives Pupils September 19

GLENDALE, Aug. 21.—The Glendale Junior College authorized by the taxpayers at a recent election, will open its classes on September 19.

It has been decided by the Board of Trustees of the district. Forty prospective students, all of them residents of the district, have already signified their intentions to enroll for the first two years of college work.

Elmer T. Worthy, a member of the Glendale Union High School faculty for the past three years, has been named acting dean of the Junior College at a salary of $3000 a year, Principal George U. Muyes and Dean Worthy are now working out the curriculum that is to be followed and the arrangement of the classes and the applications that have been received for positions on the faculty are also being carefully examined in order to facilitate the selection of the teachers.

The Broadway High School will be used at first for the Junior College classes, most of which will be held in the afternoon, when the rush of high-school work is over.

Old Story of "Another Man"

PORTERVILLE, Aug. 21.—"Another man" is listed as the cause for divorce in the suit filed by Clare Jesse Palmer of Porterville against Viola Palmer.

The complaint states that the two were married in Montana in 1916. The husband came to California to make a home a few years ago, leaving his wife and children in Montana. When he was established in the Porterville district he declares he sent money for his family to join him on various occasions, but Mrs. Palmer failed to leave Montana for some time. When she finally came she received letters written in a "masculine" hand. Later, according to her husband, she admitted that she cared more for the other man than she did for him.

NEW PETITIONS ASK SEVENTY-FOOT ROAD

GIRARD, Aug. 21.—Petitions calling for paving Ventura State highway from Sepulveda to Calabasas for a width of fifty feet have been recalled and with the consent of practically all property owners new ones are in circulation providing for a roadway seventy feet in width. This is in order that the boulevard may correspond with the portion about to be improved west from Universal City to Sepulveda. Through this place the road will be 120 feet wide for a distance of two miles and 100 feet the remainder of the way. It is argued in favor of the contemplated improvement that increasing traffic along the boulevard for the entire distance demands many lanes of travel.

LINES ALL BUSY IN NORTH HOLLYWOOD

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 21.—North Hollywood, until recently Lankershim, never tires of telling of its rapid growth in the matter of telephones. Count was kept yesterday on the number of "hello" calls that passed through the local phone exchange. Nearly 7000 were chalked up. Three years ago, the local exchange was so small, one sleepy girl was in charge. An old resident asserts that "to get a number in those days" one had to go over and wake up the operator before a line connection could be made. Telephone growth at Van Nuys and other parts of San Fernando Valley has been almost as rapid.

REORGANIZE CHAMBER

PIXLEY, Aug. 21.—At a reorganization meeting of the Pixley Chamber of Commerce new officers assumed their duties for the coming year. New officials and directors are: President, Harold E. Smith; vice-president, M. L. Askin; treasurer, C. W. Carter; secretary, C. O. Broxon; directors, Harold E. Smith, M. L. Askin, C. W. Carter, C. O. Broxon, George F. Simeral, Merle Howard and William Chamness.

Field Secretary C. L. Kennedy of the Tulare Chamber of Commerce assisted in the reorganization. A constitution and by-laws will be presented at the next meeting for final adoption.

OIL AND MINING

RARE SITUATION AT FULLERTON

Field Among Most Active in Drilling Operations

Number of Shut-in Projects Possibly Greatest

Center of Development Now East End District

The Fullerton district in Orange county, where some of the oldest fields and most valuable oil reserves of the State are situated, just now presents the peculiar combination of being one of the most active drilling districts in the State and at the same time perhaps the possessor of more shut-in wells than any other part of the State.

The eastern end of the district, Yorba Linda, Atwood and East Coyote Hills—is the area which is showing the greatest development. There is no field in the State, barring townlot areas, which is showing greater activity than Fullerton. Large and small companies are engaged in drilling. The total number of active projects is about thirty.

The Standard Oil Company has three wells drilling and the Union Oil Company has three. California Petroleum Corporation is carrying on a consistent development campaign on its Richfield Consolidated leases and smaller companies such as Superior, Delaney, Nugent Drilling Company and Berry Syndicate are responsible for another dozen wells.

The Petroleum Securities Company is undertaking its first development at Fullerton and is prospecting for a deep zone on a lease totaling about 500 acres, taken from the Kraemer estate, adjoining the Standard Oil Company's Kraemer lease.

In the eastern end of the East Coyote Hills the Holly Development Company is trying to prove an extension of the field. The Holly well is about half a mile beyond the edge of the field. About six weeks ago it was reported to have gotten production. But the output was small and after a few days of intermittent pumping it resumed drilling.

Noted Engineer Head of Nevada Mining Venture

RENO (Nev.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—S. H. Brady, noted Nevada mining engineer, and his associates have formed the Verde Contact Mining Company to operate a large group of copper claims near Jerome, Ariz. Delving of a 2500-foot tunnel to open the deposits at an approximate depth of 1000 feet is planned in the near future.

The tungsten holdings of the Humboldt Tungsten Company located near Mill City, have been acquired by the Nevada-Massachusetts Company, the largest producer of tungsten in America. The property is said to contain large deposits of profitable ore, and is to be immediately dewatered, provided with new equipment, and developed along broader lines.

NEW FIELD GAINS ACTIVITY

Round Mountain District Promises to Become Busiest Youngster in California Oil Areas

With one well on production, two wells drilling, a third well rigging up to begin drilling, and another practically completed, the new Round Mountain field in Kern county is developing a degree of activity which may make it the busiest of California's new oil fields in the next few months.

The Elbe Oil and Development Company, discoverer of the field, has a derrick up for its No. 7, which will be its third well there. The St. Helens Petroleum Company has a test down about 1500 feet and Little & Bell have spudded in their first drilling project there.

In the meantime Elbe No. 1, which produced for a week or ten days at the rate of about 300 barrels a day, is still shut down, because storage facilities are lacking, and Elbe No. 6, the second well, is idle without completing the production test which was started about two weeks ago.

The future of the field is far from definite in spite of the substantial rate of production which the first well is reported to have picked up at 2100 feet. The Elbe No. 6 is known to have penetrated a gray sand in the bottom of the hole and there was a report that it was a water-bearing formation. The results of that test were not made public and the well has never been on regular production, it is asserted.

The Round Mountain district is the center of great interest because it is leased up in all directions, both by large and small companies. The Shell company and the Mariand Oil Company both have large blocks of acreage, totaling several hundred acres, immediately adjoining the Elbe property, and while neither of these companies has announced any drilling plans, there is always the possibility of a lively offsetting campaign if development approaches their property.

HELIUM GAS SUSPECTED IN WILDCAT

Test of Product Found in San Diego Project to Decide Identity

The Randall No. 1, San Diego county wildcat, which has pursued the leisurely but interesting tenor of its way for more than a year, now is polluting the atmosphere with a peculiar gas which has some geologists so excited that it is to be tested for helium gas.

One geologist, at least, has declared the gas to be helium, and notwithstanding the fact that real estate men have platted adjoining properties, and are urging others to buy them, many observers are convinced that there is oil or helium or something valuable in the hole.

Drilling with a small rig more suitable for water wells, and stopped frequently by floods, accidents, etc., the drillers have worked on the hole as steadily as they could, and it is now down 2400 feet. Several times there have been encouraging showings of oil and gas, but paying quantities have failed to appear.

The gas now issuing from the hole is said to be different from that encountered heretofore.

Promising Test in McKittrick Area in Trouble

McKITTRICK, Aug. 21. (Exclusive) The Jackson and Harrison well in the Temblor-Belridge district has reached a depth of approximately 430 feet with oil sand logged all the way from 390 feet, where drilling was resumed a short time ago. At present the tools are stuck in the hole and it will probably be several days before drilling will be resumed.

In the same field the California Kentucky's No. 1 well is being cleaned out preparatory to making a production test. The company is experiencing considerable difficulty with cavings coming through the perforations. The prospects at this well are not as encouraging as they appeared a week ago, it is asserted.

The Ozena Oil Company's Kendon No. 1 is drilling below 1075 feet. It is expected that within a short distance the hole will reach the uppermost of several oil zones which are known to exist.

LEAD IN AIR-MAIL USE

PORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Los Angeles and San Francisco use the all-mail service twenty times as much as Portland does, according to figures disclosed by Postmaster J. M. Jones.

GOLDEN HIGHWAY LAID TO MINES

Mistake of Surfacing Crew Rectified Quickly When Disclosed by Rains

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—It comes out of the Lillooet country in British Columbia as gospel truth that a road was literally paved with gold.

Quarrying into some hard rock to get surfacing material near the Pioneer and Coronation mines on Cadwallader Creek, a road gang encountered some white ribbon quartz which it proceeded to use over a two-mile stretch.

When rain fell—so the story goes—the road fairly glistened with gold. It became congested with prospectors. The Coronation mine manager sent out and had the surface material sorted. Much of it was removed in wheelbarrows. The road rock was said to assay $1500 a ton in gold.

SHIPMENTS OF OIL SHOW SLIGHT DROP

Total Near Average of 2,000,000 Barrels a Week; Fuel Tops List

Although bulk petroleum exports from Los Angeles Harbor last week declined about 262,000 from the level of the preceding week, they amounted to 1,820,681 barrels, which was not far from the average of 2,000,000 barrels per week, which has been maintained for upward of a year.

As has been the case for many months, fuel oil shipments topped the list again last week, amounting to 1,046,208 barrels. The heaviest movement went to the Pacific Coast domestic trade, it requiring 998,681 barrels, made up of 267,860 barrels of crude, 530,121 barrels of fuel and 201,000 barrels of gas. The Pacific foreign trade took 289,900 barrels, composed of 194,844 barrels of fuel and 95,056 barrels of kerosene.

The Atlantic domestic trade called for 286,856 barrels, the lightest demand that has been noted for many months. It went out in the form of 114,800 barrels of crude, 76,000 barrels of fuel and 96,056 barrels of gas. The Atlantic foreign trade took 245,244 barrels of fuel.

The shipments were listed as follows:

PACIFIC DOMESTIC

Frank H. Buck to Avon with 62,040 barrels of crude for Associated Oil Company.
J. C. Fitzsimmons to Point Wells with 70,020 barrels of fuel for Standard Oil Company.
Larry Doheny to Seattle with 75,073 barrels of gas for Pan American Petroleum and Transport Company.
La Purisima to San Diego with 49,366 barrels of fuel and gas for Union Oil Company.
Barge No. 41 to San Diego with 4459 barrels of gas for Standard Oil Company.
S. C. Dodd to Richmond with 78,000 barrels of fuel for Standard Oil Company.
Cuyama to San Diego with 67,480 barrels of fuel for United States Navy.
Richmond to Richmond with 85,000 barrels of crude for Standard Oil Company.
Lubrico to Portland with 76,400 barrels of gas for Standard Oil Company.
Olympic to Seattle with 53,450 barrels of fuel for Olympic Steamship Company.
La Placentia to Port San Luis with 64,320 barrels of crude for Union Oil Company.
La Purisima to Oleum with 69,075 barrels of fuel and gas for Union Oil Company.
S. C. Dodd, to Richmond with 76,000 barrels of crude for Standard Oil Company.

PACIFIC FOREIGN

Necanicker to Shanghai with 95,527 barrels of kerosene for General Petroleum Corporation.
O. A. Knudsen to Wellington with 57,998 barrels of fuel for Union Steamship Company.

ATLANTIC DOMESTIC

H. M. Clark to New York with 114,800 barrels of crude for Standard Oil Company.
K. R. Kingsbury to New York with 76,000 barrels of fuel for Standard Oil Company.

ATLANTIC FOREIGN

Ramapo to Guantanamo with 86,138 barrels of fuel for United States Navy.
Cuyama to Coco Solo with 74,116 barrels of fuel for United States Navy.

Copper Queen Blows in New Lead Smelter

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—One of the greatest steps in the development of the lead mining industry in the inland Southwest was taken yesterday with the blowing in of the new lead smelter of the Copper Queen branch of the Phelps-Dodge Corporation here. The smelter occupies part of the old copper reduction plant of the Phelps Dodge, which was entirely rebuilt last year at a cost of $1,250,000.

The new lead smelter, the first operated in Arizona in over a quarter of a century, will specialize in custom ores, and the saving in distance will have great benefits for numerous small producers and hitherto undeveloped properties throughout Arizona and the west coast of Mexico. In connection with the smelter, the Phelps-Dodge Corporation has built a lead concentrator in Bisbee, which is now working two shifts a day.

NEW GAS ENTERPRISE

Huge Carbon Black Plant Being Built in Texas Field

SKELLYTOWN (Tex.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Residue gas from the casinghead gasoline plants of the Skelly Oil Company will be used for the manufacture of carbon black by the carbon black plant which the Cabot Company, subsidiary of Godfrey L. Cabot, Inc., is constructing near here.

The new plant will be one of the largest in the world. It will have a daily capacity of 75,000 pounds of carbon black, and under permit granted by the Railroad Commission it may use 50,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas a day.

SHELL COMPANY ACTIVITY TOLD

Acquires New Holdings in Poso Creek Field

Second Test on Glide Lease Now Under Way

Little Creek Also Scene of Land Filings

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—The Shell Company is opening the way for new developments in the Poso Creek oil field and the Little Creek area just northwest of Poso Creek by obtaining additional holdings on the north front of the proverbial field and on the south side of Shell's Little Creek test on the Glide lease, Sec. No. 1, 27, 27.

The status of development plans is reflected by land documents that are being taken out of escrow and filed here.

The most significant of the filings is that in which Shell acquires from Mary C. Andrews 160 acres of Sec. No. 12, 27-27, just south of Sec. 1 in the Little Creek area.

NO. 1 ABANDONED

The second test by Shell on the Glide lease, Sec. No. 1, is under way with a heavy, caterpillar-mounted portable outfit. Within a month some idea may be obtained of the value of sands encountered in the No. 1 test in the northeast quarter. The No. 1 was abandoned after a long series of unsuccessful cement jobs.

Shell holds 960 acres in the Little Creek area, distributed as follows: Sec. 1, 480 acres; Sec. 2, 160 acres; Sec. 12, 160 acres, and Sec. 26-27, 160 acres. Associated Oil Company is next in importance of holdings, controlling all of Sec. 1, 27-27; and 480 acres in Sec. 35, 26-27. Petroleum Securities has all of Sec. 3. California Petroleum Corporation, Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company, and Barnsdall Oil Company have considerable protection in the area.

Even while other companies were watching and scoffing somewhat at Shell's wildcatting venture which discovered Mt. Poso field, the western youngster of Royal Dutch Shell was looking about for a firmer handhold upon the country that now appears to have an inestimable potential wealth in oil.

WATER SPOILS HOPE

Hardly had Mt. Poso field been proved, and production shut in due to lack of storage, than Shell's Little Creek test attracted the attention of the other major companies. Officials declined to give out figures in regard to the amount of oil and encountered, but scouts generally conceded that a good producer might have resulted had it been possible to shut off the water.

North of Bakersfield the attention of the oil scouts is divided between the Little Creek area and the Mon Bluff area, where Shell has been compelled by lease requirements to begin a wildcat on the northwest quarter of Sec. 3, 26-28. The date for spudding in has not been set. The well will be on the north side of Poso Creek, just below Mon Bluff, which is on the south side of the creek.

Venezuela Oil Enters Mexico for Refining

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Some of the danger of Mexico's decreasing oil production will be diminished and the oil companies will probably be able to add to their incomes by participating in the refining of oil sent here from Venezuela, according to a government announcement.

Much of the oil industry has been badly hit by the slump with the result that many refineries have ceased operations. It is understood that the plant located in the Tampico and Vera Cruz districts will immediately begin to receive Venezuelan crude. Several companies hope by this movement to avoid complete closing of the refineries.

Mexico Levies Fines on Four Oil Concerns

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Fines have been assessed against four oil companies by the Secretariat of Industry, Commerce and Labor, totaling 220,000 pesos, according to an official report. Work was allowed to be resumed although the fine was assessed, the officials say.

The Mexican Gulf Company was fined 140,000 pesos for drilling seven wells without permits; the American International received a 20,000-peso penalty for a single well; the Transcontinental Oil Company was penalized 40,000 pesos, for two wells, and the Cortez Aguada Company drilled one unauthorized well and was fined 20,000 pesos.

IDAHO SENATOR IN OIL VENTURE

Huntington Beach Chosen for Location of Project

Road Oil Will be Principal Output on Opening

Senator Peter Buol of Idaho is the latest politician to go into the oil business at Huntington Beach. He is associated with W. B. Grant and R. L. Musick of Los Angeles, and has started construction work on a $25,000 gasoline refinery. The plant is to be located on Seventeenth street, near Prather Brothers machine shop, just off Huntington Beach Boulevard.

The plant will be designed for the manufacture of road oil, but will be equipped to turn out gasoline, kerosene, asphaltum and road oil. Two acres has been leased to provide room for further expansion of the plant.

S. W. Lea and L. E. Kesselman, individual operators, have leased property in the town lot area in the western part of Huntington Beach and will erect a derrick there soon. The rig will be situated on Eighteenth street between Magnolia and Acacia avenues, five blocks back from the ocean.

F. W. Bishop has obtained a permit to build an oil derrick on property at the corner of Sixteenth street and Olive avenue.

George R. Cloud is a new operator in the town lot section at Huntington Beach. He has obtained a permit to erect a rig at Orange avenue and Sixteenth street.

Five oil companies spudded in wells in the town lot section Friday. They were C. B. Jones, No. 1; Lloyd & Reynolds, No. 1; James & Price, No. 2; Allen & Brown, No. 3, and Standard Oil Company, No. 15.

PLACENTIA AREA SHOWS GREAT LIFE

Several Wells in Atwood Section Now Producing; Lemke No. 1 on Pump

Several recent completions in the Atwood area of the Placentia field mark that section as one of the most active of the older fields in Southern California just now.

The Chickasan Oil Company has just completed its Lemke No. 2 at 4120 feet, with 300 barrels of production and about 1,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day. The oil tests twenty-two degrees gravity. The Lemke No. 1, which recently sanded up, is back on the pump, yielding 200 barrels per day, along with 200,000 cubic feet of gas. The Mathis No. 1 is being brought in.

The Associated Oil Company is completing its Kammerer No. 6 at 4281 feet. The company has just started its Kammerer No. 8. The Union Oil Company spudded in its Stern No. 11 on Tuesday, on the east west of Van Buren street. Its Chapman No. 27, a recent completion, is producing 200 barrels on the pump.

Towell No. 5 is standing cemented, and the Y. L. G., No. 15 and No. 16, are drilling. California Petroleum Coroporation's No. 3 well is producing 380 barrels daily.

NOTED MINE SOLD

Old Richinbar Gold Near Prescott Taken by Unnamed Group

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive) — Sale of the historic old Richinbar gold mining property on the Agua Fria River near here to a group of unnamed New York and Los Angeles capitalists, was announced here this week.

The amount involved was not given, but it was stated that the sale contract provided for beginning of new development operations by October 11.

Local mining men estimate the purchase price and development contemplated, including the driving of a tunnel under the old workings, construction of a new camp, and erection of a 200-ton mill, would involve $300,000.

PLANT READY SOON

Southwest Metals Concentrator Nearing Completion

HUMBOLT (Ariz.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—The first week in September has been fixed for the completion of the work of converting the Southwest Metal Company's concentrator here which has been leased by the Phelps Dodge Corporation.

The plant is being remodeled to treat lead-zinc ores, and will serve the mining districts of Yavapai and Mohave counties. Concentrates will be shipped to the Phelps Dodge lead smelter at Douglas.

DEEP TEST HOLDS INTEREST

Texas Project Changes Formation After Drilling Through 2400 Feet of Solid Schist

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—After drilling for 2400 feet in solid and unbroken schist in the deepest test ever drilled in Texas, the formation in the United North and South Oil Company's Kelly No. 1 in the Luling field, is beginning to change at total depth of 7100 feet, and geologists are debating whether it is going into lime or granite.

United North and South drilled the discovery well in the Luling field of Caldwell county and got production in the Edwards line at 2150 feet when geologists advised against drilling there in the belief that the chance for production was not one in a thousand.

After taking millions of dollars' worth of oil out of the field, North and South sold all production down to 3000 feet to the Magnolia for $6,050,000 cash and $6,050,000 to be paid from oil when, if and as produced.

When the drill in the Kelly No. 1 went into primary schist at 4700 feet, geologists advised North and South to quit, since production in or under the primary schist was unthinkable. Edgar B. Davis, president of the United North and South, continued to drill.

The 2400 feet he has drilled in schist is said to have cost $400 per foot, or practically $1,000,000 to get through the schist alone. One other well—the Tiller No. 2—is drilling at 6575 feet, and it has been in schist from 4700 feet down.

Oil interests are waiting with considerable anxiety to know whether the Kelly No. 1 will run into granite and "blasted hopes" or geologists finally predict or whether it will run into production as Edgar B. Davis confidently expects.

Huge Hydraulics at La Trinidad Diggings Active

La Trinidad Mining Company of Los Angeles, with its No. 4 hydraulic giants in service under a strong water pressure, is able to move 3000 cubic yards of gold-bearing gravel daily, according to a statement made by Arthur W. Stevens, company consulting engineer who has devoted two months in making an exhaustive examination of company diggings on Black Warrior Creek in Idaho, and who estimates the gravel deposits and banks environed by company-holdings contain a gold content ranging from 50 to 60 cents to the yard on an average, with occurrences running much higher.

In his report Mr. Stevens says that operating costs, including all overhead and all expenses, will not exceed 25 cents a yard. With the present force employed, with the giants in commission twenty-four hours daily, the company expects to make a most satisfactory gold recovery this season, as conditions are ideal for successful operation, the gold-bearing banks being large, dumping conditions perfect, and the water supply abundant.

DOHENY ON WEST TEXAS SCOUT TRIP

Visit of Los Angeles Oil Viewed as Preliminary to Development Program

McCAMEY (Tex.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Preliminary to starting an extensive program of oil development upon their holdings in West Texas, E. L. Doheny of Los Angeles and a group of associates have been making an inspection tour of the Texas fields, where their lands are situated. Mr. Doheny stated that the immediate purpose of the visit was to add to their lease holdings.

They are especially interested in the Yates field, where they own 15,000 acres of choice holdings, it was stated. In the vicinity of Justiceburg, in Garza county, they own 7000 acres, and, while this is in wildcat territory, some oil was found a few years ago in a water well.

Geologists, representing the Doheny interests have been busy for several months surveying and determining the oil-producing possibilities of various areas of West Texas. While Mr. Doheny does not regard it a propitious time to join the list of Texas oil producers, he is getting everything in readiness to engage in extensive operations here when the market situation improves, it was stated.

Freight Cut on Patagonia Ores Spurs Activity

PATAGONIA (Ariz.) Aug 21. (Exclusive) Considerable more activity in the silver-lead mines of this district has been brought about by a reduction of approximately one-third in the freight rates on ore from Patagonia to the El Paso smelters. It is now possible to ship ore at $3 a ton for carrying charges and this has encouraged a number of operators to increase their program in the district.

Other factors are combining to insure a brighter lead-silver future for this area. Some of the mines, notably the Big Jim, have been quite successful in opening unusually favorable lead-silver ore bodies and have been able to increase the output of concentrates from them by the use of improvements in the selective flotation method of milling sulphide ores.

NEXT WILDCAT SITE PICKED

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—The next wildcat well to be drilled near Bakersfield will be located one mile south and half a mile west of the intersection of Stockdale Road and Oak street and within two miles of the Stockdale Country Club. The well will probably be drilled by L. S. Barnes, who brought in the Elbe Oil and Development Company well at Round Mountain.

The report that Mr. Barnes will drill on eighty acres recently acquired from the Westland Development Company, on the north half of Sec. 11, 30-27, is substantiated by the wild leasing campaign that has developed in that section, and on Sec. 2, directly north.

Major and minor companies that have taken protection leases on Sec. 2 and Sec. 11 include Standard, Associated, Union, Shell, Pacific Eastern Production Company, Universal and Petroleum Securities.

Among the property owners in the district who are leasing to the major companies at good bonus prices are Jennie McDonald, Michael Shea, Frank Fiorito, Joseph Shea, K. T. Witchita, O. A. Bloomquist, Victor Achin, H. F. Hess, James O'Neil, George Bassett, J. T. H. Wilson, Frank Bianchi, Peter Mattily, John Canaday, Frank Mahler, C. C. Stockton, Anna M. Clark, Manuel J. Gonzales, Joaquin R. Garcia, G. Superino, J. A. Bone, C. F. Thompson, Matteo Michell, H. F. Banks, Joe Pallone, Walter Bennett, M. Souza, Dewey Green, Antonne Ozanich, A. Monroe, E. A. Hawkins, A. Spangler, George Carlisle and perhaps ten others not yet listed on the oil maps.

OUTPUT DECLINE STIRS NEW HOPE

Greater Activity Forecast in Eastern New Mexico

Two Locations Announced for Region Last Week

ARTESIA (N. M.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—With the general improvement of conditions in the petroleum industry, due to the recent decline in many crude producing areas, the next few months give promise of more activity in Eastern New Mexico.

The district near the big gasser of the Texas Production Company on Sec. 25, 16-31, in Eastern Eddy county, has started off with a big play. Two new locations were announced for that region last week. The Texas Production Company is moving in materials for the Robinson No. 2, located on Sec. 25, 16-31. One mile and a quarter south of the gasser, just over in Lea county, the Pueblo Oil Company is moving in materials for the Gessart No. 1 well on Sec. 1, 17-31.

The Texas Production Company has restored the gas flow in the Rhodes No. 1 well on Sec. 22, 26-37, after cleaning out to the bottom of the hole, 3040 feet. This flow is good for 9,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day. Over the western area, the Texas Production Company's Dunken dome well on Sec. 26, 17-18, in Chaves county, has uncovered another flow of hydrogen sulphite gas, estimated to be 500,000 cubic feet per day feet, at a depth of 4590 feet.

The well of Donnelly et al., on the McClay permit, Sec. 24, 17-27, continues to appear favorable. A gas pocket encountered at 1100 feet blew the tools up in the hole and another gas flow was struck at 1180 feet.

The No. 50 well of the F. W. & Y. Oil Company on Sec. 3, 18-28, expects to drill into the sand today. Drilling is now under way below 2475 feet.

The Henderson, Dexter, Blair interests have gotten well under way on their second mile in the Wyatt No. 1 well in Lea county on Sec. 34 17-33. They are drilling below 5370 feet.

Mexico Mining Activity Shows Sharp Decline

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—The number of mining claims granted this year by the Department of Mines, of the Secretariat of Industry, Commerce and Labor is but 10 per cent of the total number granted in 1926, according to an official announcement.

The effect of the new law, which took effect last year, regulating registration of property and granting of new concessions, is assigned as the reason.

A national assembly of the Chamber of Mines will be convened soon to discuss the mining crisis, which at present threatens entire suspension in Mexico. It is expected that the body will petition Federal authorities for aid in clarifying the situation.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY

Qualitative analysis will be given in this department of The Times for readers, and minerals free of charge. Make each sample of an ounce or so in weight. Be sure to write a letter stating what tests are desired and give the approximate locality from which samples were taken. Do not pulverize the specimens. Give your name and address on paper wrapped with samples.

Not Radioactive

MARICOPA, Aug. 2.—Question: I have your kind letter of the 7th ultimo relative to the sample which I sent to The Times and beg to state that I have a large deposit or ledge of this sand or rock on my property in the Cuyama Valley, Santa Barbara county, California, and would like to know mainly what it indicates and does it represent any value.

J.

Answer: The sample is sandstone stained with limonite; native gold absent and it is far away from Carnotite (doubls vanadate of uranium and potassium.) Quantitative analysis might show other values.

Partly Bog Manganese

WELDON, Aug. 2.—Q.: I found this stuff in a limestone formation and the ledge is about two feet wide going straight down and the samples came from a depth of three feet. As I do not have any idea what the specimens contain, and being very much interested in black minerals, I am sending it to your "In the Earth" department to find whether it is worth working.

U.

A.: The samples carry iron oxides; silica in low percentage; manganese oxide found (in part bog manganese.) Mineral represented by the specimens should be of value in the glass industry, and in certain fertilizer plants. Cannot advise you further; all depends on average grade and tonnage available.

Zinc Indicated

BISHOP, Aug. 3.—Q.: Am sending you five samples from the Sierra Mountains, near here for analysis and to learn of commercial values. Many thanks for past favors and in advance for this one.

"An Old Subscriber."

A.: Sample No. 1 carries calcite chiefly, and it was not tested for magnesia. No. 2 is dolomitic limestone. No. 3, lime carbonate with slight manganese reaction. No. 4 is lime carbonate with some little zinc and No. 5 is on the order of No. 4.

Porphyritic Rock

HAWTHORNE, Aug. 3.—Q.: This sample of rock was taken from the Searchlight district, Nevada. Please classify same. I am unable to determine the formation. I note some small specks of some kind of mineral, but I find no trace of gold or silver. This formation occurs in dykes or veins and is found near producers. I have been unable to get any information on mineral represented by the sample. Thanking you in advance.

C.

A.: The question is: Was the specimen taken from a narrow seam, ledge, or from rock present in the district? The sample carry no glassy felspar, (sanidin.) The microscope shows black hornblende and pyroxene crystals, and matter (in traces) probably pseudomorph after titaniferous iron. Further on such rock should be obtained by slides and quantitative analyses.

Not Kaolin

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—Q.: I would appreciate if you will run sample from near Yuma. It may run high in aluminum. It also resembles volcanic ash.

E. T. W.

A.: The sample runs high in silica and it is spotted with microscopic pyroxene and hornblende. It is related to volcanic ash, but the term is a very indefinite one and often far away from the really commercially valuable variety.

A Mixture

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—Q.: Would you please describe the black and brown minerals in this specimen. Comes from Santa Barbara district, in granite formation, with basalt dykes.

K.

A.: Baryte present. The blackish-brownish matter reacts for manganese, and a little brown zinc ore is present, in greater or lesser percentage. Limonite found with some amphibole. Probably represents doubtful commercial values.

Not Meteorite

WILMINGTON, Aug. 5.—Q.: Am sending under separate cover specimen from a volcano or else meteoric matter, and should be glad to learn, through your "In The Earth" department, its composition. Are the crystals carbon, or otherwise? This specimen is from a wash in San Bernardino Mountains; one boulder of ten tons is about half a mile distant from another boulder of forty tons weight, approximately.

P.

A.: We have heard about these boulders, and would like to have samples therefrom. Correspondents have often stated that the boulders were so hard that a sample could not be obtained; why not use dynamite? Your specimen is partly cellular lime carbonate mixed with hematite, silicon dioxide, microscopical garnet, "peacock iron" (of the mining boys in the hills) and crystals of carbon, decidedly absent.

Silicates

PASO ROBLES, Aug. 6. Q.: Please analyze the inclosed sample. It is from a stratum twenty-five feet underground here. It is so decidedly different from surrounding strata that I am curious. Does it indicate the presence of any other mineral near?

F.

A.: The samples are hydrous, impure ferra, magnesium silicates, chiefly. Clay present, and Fuller's earth indicated.

Zinc Present

RIALTO, Aug. 6. Q.: Please find inclosed two rocks; kindly analyze same and give me their contents—with the percentage of each mineral.

L.

A.: Qualitative analyses only are given for this column on average samples received. Sample No. 1 is a grayish, quartzitic rock carrying microscopic sulphides of iron, zinc and arsenic, in greater or lesser percentages. No. 2 is a banded sandstone in part, yielding sulphides on the order of No. 1.

Microscopical

MARIPOSA, Aug. 7.—Q.: I am sending you under separate cover a sample of ore gathered at near Pilot Peak. What is the white, metallic substance in the sample? Thanking you for any information through your In the Earth column.

B.

A.: The thumb specimen of quartz shows under the microscope one crystal of bismuth sulphide partly altered to bismuth ochre. One other crystal is blende (zinc sulphide.) The scattered traces, of microscopical matter, at one point of the rock are flake iron ore. More of the crystalline substances should have been sent in for satisfactory tests. At all events, if the specimen represents average ore it would be wise to let the ledge, or deposit, rest in peace.

Chiefly Silica

TEMECULA, Aug. 7.—Q.: I am sending you a specimen for analysis; would like to know what it consists of and does it represent any commercial value. There has been some excitement around here on rock something similar to the sample.

Y.

A.: The sample swells and breaks down in water. Further tests show silica and aluminum silicate present and not tested for magnesia. It is not bentonite, but would come near bentonite if the silicon dioxide were separated. Mineral represented by the sample—as is—would probably represent problematical commercial value.

Pyrolusite

BARSTOW, Aug. 8.—Q.: Am sending you sample of manganese ore from near the Barstow mining district. Please classify same and oblige.

C.

A.: The specimen is black oxide of manganese. When pure it is the most useful ore of manganese for producing chlorine and in the manufacture of permanganates. It is also used as a flux; in the paint industry, and so forth. It carries more or less hematite, however. Pyrolusite is richer in oxygen than any other ore of manganese.

VETERAN OF MANILA ROW MILLIONAIRE

Inmate of Soldiers' Home at Washington Falls Heir to Brother's Fortune

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Charles Nungesser, Philippine insurrection veteran and resident of the Soldiers' Home here, is now a millionaire.

His brother, Henry Nungesser, who died in Paris July 13, has left him the fortune. Nungesser came to this country from Germany in 1886. He became a policeman later spending eighteen years in the Philippines, three of which were in the United States Army during the insurrection, 1901-3.

"I'd rather have my friends than all the money and that's why I like it here at the home," he said. "Anyway, I haven't got any of the money yet and probably won't for three months."

Nungesser, who will celebrate his fifty-ninth birthday at the United States Spanish War veterans' convention in Detroit, August 27, plans to erect a monument to his brother.

Nungesser is still under the rules of the soldiers' home and draws $30 a month from the government for disability resulting from a tropical fever suffered in Manila years ago.

Press of Mexico Behind Contest

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—A three-division contest for children under 6 years of age will be held between September 10 and 23. Separate weeks will be devoted to the judging of winners of each class. Entries are being made to determine the most intelligent, the most beautiful and the most gracious children of the nation.

The movement is sponsored by the local press, the Department of Public Health, Red Cross, National School of Belles Artes and numerous commercial organizations to encourage parents to give better care to children. The contest is open to youngsters under six years of age, who will be divided into three groups, from 1 to 3 years; 3 to 4 and 4 to 6.

Sponsors say that when parents see the demonstration, they will realize the importance of the well-developed child in the nation's future and thus will encourage better care. Suitable prizes will be awarded both winners and their parents.

MEXICO CITY LIGHTS WAY FOR FLYERS

National Aeronautical Park Illuminated at Night for Use of Aviators

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Night flying by Mexican aviators has been adopted with the installation of the first illuminated landing field in the country at the National Aeronautical Park of Valbuena, near this city.

Army aviators have pronounced the lights as perfect and are making landings regularly after nightfall. The hum of the motors above the city after dark apparently has caused little comment or alarm. The electric apparatus at the field consists of two light towers, from which searchlights similar to those used on big steamboats project rays for great distances. Lights are suspended above the fronts of hangars, which illuminate the entrances. Red flares mark the borders of the field as a signal of landing.

The airplanes are being equipped, for emergency purposes, with searchlights to be operated from storage batteries, which cast a signal beam that can be seen from a distance of thirty to forty kilometers. A number of planes have the apparatus installed and all will be similarly equipped within a short time, says an official announcement.

Nevada Police Seek Angeleno

RENO (Nev.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Charged by California and Nevada officers with the killing of Angelo Gonzales, a Mexican, Mrs. Dora Comps, former Los Angeles woman, is being sought in the mountains and canyons near this city. Officers believe she is being concealed in some lonely desert spot by friends.

Gonzales was shot in the back near an old lumber settlement about twenty miles west of Reno, and was running when killed. Mrs. Comps recently caused the arrest of another Mexican on charges of white slavery, after the couple came here from Los Angeles.

SUNKEN WINES LURE DIVERS TO SEARCH

BROWNSVILLE (Tex.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Fine French wine more than fifty years old fills the sunken ship found recently in the Brazos-Santiago Pass at Point Isabel, near here, according to A. T. Woodhouse, long-time valley resident. He says the hulk is probably the remains of the Congo "French Barque," lost in 1881 with a cargo of wines and liquors. A deep-sea drilling outfit will be brought from Port Aransas and the hulk dynamited.

RADIO SETTINGS AGAIN REVIEWED

Dial Published to Give Idea of New Allocations

Dr. Power Explains How to Locate Stations

Scottish Baritone Renders Popular Program

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

Once more we are publishing the radio dial to give you an idea of the changes in frequency allocations made effective by the Federal Radio Commission.

Instead of the round dial of June, however, that for today is a trifle different in shape. Many of the newer receivers are equipped with the drum type of dial, hence the strip affair that you find in the radio columns this morning.

Of course the settings will not hold good for every set and you may find stations a trifle before or after the given settings.

Various sets have different condensers which accounts for the dial reading changes. Yet the studios will be found in rotation and the general set-up is nearly that set forth.

Fans should remember that a small change in the dial readings at the low dial settings consequently means a relatively large change in wave length and at the other end of the dial the same change in dial reading means but a relatively small change in wave length.

CAUSE APPARENT

In other words, suppose a station on a 200-meter wave corresponds to a frequency of 1500 kilocycles and a station on 220 meters to a frequency of 1365.5 kilocycles. The difference in wave length is but twenty meters while the kilocycle difference is 136.5. Both of these two bands are at the low end of the present broadcast band.

On the other end of the band a 600-meter wave length means 500 kilocycles and one of 580 meters is 517.2 kilocycles. This is a difference of 17.2 kilocycles for the twenty-meter difference in wave length.

The lower band between 200 and 220 meters showed a difference of 136.5 kilocycles in the twenty meters. As the wave length becomes lower the frequency difference becomes high.

SEPARATING STATIONS

If we change the dial setting from say 100 to 120 or ninety the wave is changed from about 600 to some 580 meters, a change also from 500 to 517 kilocycles. The other dial end, from nothing to ten, means a wave-length change of approximately 200 to 220 meters, or from 1500 to 1363 kilocycles. The change in the upper dial gives a seventeen-kilocycles change in the frequency while the lower end gives a kilocycle change of 137.

Twisting a dial a degree or two at the low setting gives a relatively large change in frequency with perhaps a number of stations coming in within one degree of the dial, with the high settings because of the small difference in frequency on the higher waves, if often becomes necessary to twist the dials two or three degrees before it is tuned out.

The present government allocations give frequencies ten kilocycles apart. On the ten upper divisions of the receiver dial it gives room for about two frequency channels and on the lower ten for about fourteen frequency channels.

So we could separate fourteen stations on the lower ten divisions but only two on the upper end of the dial.

FERGUSON GIVES SCOTCH VOCAL PROGRAM

On the KHJ Sunday-night program Thomas Ferguson, Scottish baritone of concert-hall and theatrical fame, entertained with a Scotch vocal program. His part of the hour opened with Hamish Laidler's "Wee Hoose 'Mong the Heather." "Tommy Lad," by Margetson, and other typical numbers from the singer's homeland.

Mr. Ferguson's voice is well adapted to radio for the particular type of songs in his repertoire and his KHJ broadcast was well received.

Olga Mitano, first violin and Roy Hellrigel, second violin, accompanied by Virgie Dugas, presented many delightful numbers including the Barcarolle from Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffman," the Rimsky-Korsakoff "Song of India;" Nevin's "Mighty Lak a Rose," and others.

These two youthful violinists, who play once or twice a month from the KHJ radio station, are rapidly becoming a valuable feature of broadcast entertainment for their splendid musicianship and technique.

MYSTERY IN THREAT TO BOMB HOME

Women Employees of Government Receive Puzzling Phone Call

Whether a mysterious telephone call threatening bombing of their home at 1445 Mohawk street was made by a practical joker or by some one with the object of taking their lives has not been solved by Miss Catherine Seleck and Miss Pearl Stephenson, Federal employees.

Miss Seleck said last night the telephone message was delivered to the colored maid at the Mohawk street address the same night that guards were thrown around government buildings in preparation for any possible Sacco-Vanzetti demonstrations. At that time local police were notified, but no guard has been employed at the house since then, Miss Seleck said.

Both women are employed in local offices of the Department of Justice and they thought that their activities in investigations during their work may have been responsible for the mysterious threat.

Police investigated, but found no evidence of an attempted bombing. Since then, according to Miss Seleck, men friends have been questioned as to whether they were playing a practical joke. They have denied this, however, and the call still remains a mystery.

MEXICO CITY BANS PUTTING UP POSTERS

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 21. Seaside Police Jail 'Wild Man'

LONG BEACH, Aug. 21. (Exclusive) Edward Edwards, 25 years of age, 1845 San Fernando Road, who gave his occupation to police as a clown, was arrested here tonight on Silver Spray Pier while posing as a wild man and biting rats and mice as the feature of the side show. Edwards was charged with vagrancy.

F. L. Gideon, 33, who told police he lived at 253 Golden avenue, with Wilbur Counts, 35, also was booked on a vagrancy charge. Counts, proprietor of the show, was charged with operating an exhibition without a license.

First raided by Captain of Detectives Worley, after patrons complained to police, the three men were taken to police headquarters and released. They returned to their stand, however, and Captain of Detectives Robertson and Sergt. Berry took the three men into custody.

LAYS FAILURE TO END LIFE TO CROSS-EYES

PARIS, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Georges Terret, who recently had become cross-eyed because of a contraction of the optic nerves, decided that life looked too crooked and shot at himself four times in an attempt at suicide. Three shots missed entirely and the fourth only grazed his face. He blames his poor marksmanship to his cross-eyes, but Georges had also been imbibing lightly, say police.

LARGE OYSTER CATCH SEEN

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Reports received here by the State Game, Fish and Oyster Commission indicate that the coming season, which opens at 12:01 a.m. September 1, will witness the largest oyster receipts in many years in the oyster-producing section of the Texas coast.

MEXICO CITY TELEPHONES MONTEREY

Long-Distance Lines Put in Service Later to Link With United States

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Entire long-distance telephonic communication facilities have just been completed and placed in regular operation between Mexico City and Monterrey, State of Nuevo Leon, completing the greatest portion of the service, which will ultimately extend to the United States border connecting the two nations.

When the line was officially opened, a new long-distance record for telephonic communication was established. The line is over 1300 kilometers long and was officially opened with a conversation between Gov. Geronimo Siller of Nuevo Leon and Gonzalez Vasquez Vela, representing the Secretariat of Communications.

International communications between the two countries will be completed by the end of the month, claim officials of the Mexican Telephone and Telegraph Company, branch of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. It will be ready for public use, when the Vanegas repeater station is installed to amplify the voice currents as they pass over several hundred kilometers between this city and the border town of Laredo. The work is almost solely in the hands of American engineers, who have recently completed the Saltillo, Monterrey and Laredo portion of the line.

School Gain in Mexico Shown

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Contrary to published statements attacking the diminution of public schools in Mexico under the present administration, Dr. Jose Manuel Puig Casaurane, Secretary of Public Education, cites figures showing the large number of schools, particularly of the primary rank, now in operation. Primary schools total 1822, he says, and this is a marked advance over previous reports.

The Institutions are located in every State and the Federal District. The administration is praised by the Secretariat for its extension campaign in educational lines and warmly defended from numerous charges that a policy of persecution is pursued by the administration in private primary schools.

Mexico Tobacco Trade Revealed

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 21. (Exclusive)—Thirty million pesos were spent in the manufacture of tobacco in all farms in Mexico during the past year, according to governmental statistics just released.

There are a total of 230 tobacco factories in the nation, of which only 183 operated, last year. The total investment in plants represents approximately 22,600,000 pesos and employees more than 5000 workers. The manufactured products weighed 6,500,000 kilograms. The average expenditure would mean two pesos for each person in the nation, regardless of age.

Council Starts All Over Again on Matter

Aliso Land Offered Being Tabulated

The City Council's present rate toward obtaining a municipal airport for Los Angeles, no action may be taken at the session on the project before December.

The Harbor City Council discussed the airport project for months, and Councilmen tried to jam through a purchase of the Bandini site, but Tom the Council went

The Council started all over again on the airport matter, and sent to the Finance Committee. Maj. Young, in charge of the division of aeronautics of the United States Department of Commerce, visited Los Angeles, and the members of the Finance Committee met in a number of sites that were suggested. Maj. Young returned to Washington.

The Finance Committee has written to all owners of sites that have been offered the city a number of questionnaires asking for further options, etc. Drainage conditions are now arriving at the office. After they have been received, the information will be forwarded to Washington for his recommendations as to the purchase site for the city.

No advice has been received. The Finance Committee and then the Council will take up the question of how to be purchased and, first of all, how it can be done without violating the initial payment that must be made.

DIRECT OFFERS AT AIRPORT

The city officials yesterday proposed the municipal airport between Lankershim and Van Nuys, the new film industrial district.

Harry Merrick, Vice-president of the Motion-Picture District, said he expected at from $2000 to $3000 per acre are offered by valley owners, against $8750 and $6500 in Los Angeles.

"The atmospheric conditions are ideal in the valley," Mr. Merrick said, "but the San Fernando valley is many miles nearer the East than the East Side of Los Angeles from the valley than the Newport Canyon and over the district for Salt Lake cities from the East Side through Cajon Pass back of Ontario, or else fly over the residential districts of Hollywood.

Mr. Merrick also urges the selection of a valley site for the airport

CHAPLINS IN COURT TODAY

Long Threatened Battle Filled With Bitter Charges Expected to be Innocuous Formality

Charles Chaplin and his young wife, Lita Grey Chaplin, will take the center of the legal stage in Judge Guerin's department of the Superior Court at 10 a.m. today perhaps to fight out their differences, but more probably not.

On the eve of their divorce fight, the comedian flitted from conference to conference with his attorneys and friends and his wife spent the day with her mother and children at the beach.

But the attorneys were busy. They worked until later afternoon presumably preparing for a fight which might effect the entire film industry. Actually, however, it was reported they were merely putting finishing touches to the agreement between Chaplin and his wife under which she is to receive $634,000 and the custody of their two children, and he in return will be given legal and mental peace and the right to see his two sons at will.

PUBLIC SKEPTIC

The attorneys, as far as the public is concerned, merely contented themselves with an announcement that they are ready for trial, but whether it is to be a trial on the original charges in Mrs. Chaplin's complaint and the comedian's flood of counter-charges, or merely an innocuous hearing, with cruelty or incompatibility figuring as the grounds for divorce, they did not make entirely clear.

General opinion, however, is that the hearing will not develop into the bitter cross-fire and verbal acid anticipated. A great deal more likely, it was predicted, is a hearing occupying a part of the day, with Mrs. Chaplin receiving a divorce on routine grounds and a statement that the comedian and his wife have reached an amicable greement as to property and finances, custody of the children and other major issues. Whether the actual settlement figures will be made public in the courtroom or elsewhere, however, is problematical.

The comedian is not expected to contest his wife's suit on the minor charges. It may be that he will not appear at all, but in view of his statement upon his return to Los Angeles that he will say what he has to say when the trial opens, his presence generally is expected.

WHEN BATTLE STARTED

The Chaplin battle began late last year when Mrs. Chaplin took her two children and moved from the comedian's great mansion in Beverly Hills to the cottage of her grandfather and

Man Dies in Crash With Ditch-Digging Machine; Student Other Victim

Deaths of two persons as the result of traffic accidents were recorded at the Coroner's office yesterday. They were Ralph B. Hammeras, 20-year-old high school student, 1558 West Avenue 46, and Edward Curtis, address not learned.

Hammeras died at the Receiving Hospital early yesterday morning a short time after he said to have driven his automobile head on into a ditch-digging machine in the 8200 block on San Fernando Road. The latter was being drawn by a truck driven by William Jennings of 3963 Wall eet.

Jennings was not held by the police. He said that his truck was traveling west on San Fernando Road at about six miles an hour, and that Hammeras drove his automobile head on into the fore part of the ditch-digging machine at about thirty-five miles an hour.

Hammeras's car was demolished. First aid treatment was given Hammeras at the Receiving Hospital for a skull fracture, compound fracture of the left leg, dislocation of the left hip, fractures of six ribs, and numerous other injuries. An hour later he died.

Curtis died at the General Hospital shortly after dawn. Officials of the hospital, Sheriff's office, Coroner's office and police department stated they had no record of his address, or details of the accident in which he is supposed to have been injured.

Sam Shubin, 8 years of age, received injuries which surgeons fear will prove fatal, when he was struck by an automobile as he attempted to cross the street at Third and Pecan streets early yesterday evening. Po-

BARNES CITY'S GHOST STALKS

Attorney Fears Los Angeles Has Been Disincorporated

Neighboring Community Was Given Back to County

Attorneys Prepare for Court Battle Thursday

The ghost of Barnes City, supposed to have been recently and legally declared dead and buried more than two weeks ago, has declined to be and has returned to stalk about the Courthouse and leer at the city of Los Angeles. A possibility that Los Angeles was in effect disincorporated by the judgment of the court which held that Barnes City as such was defunct is the fear expressed by Jess Stephens, City Attorney, in an affidavit and motion for a reopening of the proceedings.

Judge Montgomery of the Superior Court will hear this matter next Thursday. In preparation for the event, various attorneys have been filing appearances as counsel for several days. Barnes City was allowed to die without benefit of counsel, not one voice being raised in opposition to the judgment, but the projected revival of the infant municipality has brought forth an almost unprecedented roster of attorneys.

ANNEXATION COMPLETED

The city of Los Angeles by affidavits filed by City Attorney Stephens and Deputy Lucius P. Green, in support of a motion to vacate the defaults and reopen the ouster proceedings, has revealed an extraordinary situation.

Last September, by an election, Barnes City was annexed to Los Angeles. A few months later George F. Bray filed a suit to have the proceedings creating Barnes City a municipality declared invalid on the ground that they were deficient. In April the final annexation papers were filed with the Secretary of State. This consummated the annexation. Neither Barnes City nor Los Angeles, however, filed an answer to the ouster case.

Eventually, on the 11th inst., the ouster case came to trial as a default matter and Judge Montgomery granted judgment ousting the town from municipal rights and privileges, and declaring its territory to have reverted to the county of Los Angeles as unincorporated lands.

CITY REORGANIZED

By this judgment, Stephens contends, the municipal existence of Los Angeles is threatened, for, after the annexation elections, proceedings were taken to alter the boundaries of the city to include the annexed territory, a sort of technical reorganization. Now the court has decreed away part of the city's territory, Stephens holds, leaving technical reorganization of Los Angeles defective. The judgment, according to the affidavits, "in effect attempted to decree a disincorporation of the municipal corporation of Los Angeles," and has given ground for serious questioning of the city's bonding capacity and other functions.

An affidavit filed in opposition to the city, by Gray, plaintiff in the ouster proceedings, and the roster of counsel he has retained, indicates that the matter will be bitterly contested. He relates that he is interested in so much realty in the territory affected that his taxes will be $30,000 more a year under city government than if it is unincorporated. In addition to Loris V. Cady and C. A. Lindeman, who represented him in the original proceedings, he has retained Attorneys Biby and Biby, Marshall Timson, and Mott, Vallee and Grant, all specialists in municipal law.

He contends that the city of Los Angeles had full knowledge of the ouster case at all times and plenty of opportunity to oppose it regularly, but that it purposely refrained from doing so for its own selfish reasons.

LOCAL MAIL PILOTS GAIN RECOGNITION

Two Los Angeles Flyers Among Eight Elected to Flying Association

Official recognition of the coastwise air-mail service for the first time by the organization, two Los Angeles pilots are included among eight Pacific Air Transport flyers elected by the Air-Mail Pilots' Association of America, according to word just received by L. L. Mushett, traffic manager of the air-mail and passenger line operating between this city and Seattle.

The association was organized in 1920. Requirements for admission are that a pilot shall have not less than six months' continuous service on a regular mail run.

Manipulator of Driverless Auto Arrives

Bringing with him equipment for manipulating a driverless, "phantom," automobile in downtown traffic by radio control, R. L. Mack of New York City arrived here yesterday for participation in the "Radio Show Beautiful," to be held September 5 to 10, next, in the Ambassador auditorium.

The machine, he said, will be thoroughly tried out on country roads before being demonstrated in the city and at the radio show.

The "ghost car" will be exhibited also in several suburban cities.

LARGE TUNA LANDED BY WOMAN

Fish Brought to Gaff in Record Time

After the Battle

Mrs. Hillman, the catch, and Capt. McGann, who gaffed the fish.

AVALON (Catalina Island) Aug. 21.—Mrs. Lloyd Hillman of 344 Muirfield Road Los Angeles, is the first woman to bring to gaff a tuna for the 1927 season. Fishing from her yacht the Silver King, Mrs. Hillman hooked a 124½-pound tuna and brought the big game fish to gaff in the record time of twenty-two minutes. Capt John McGann, game fish scout, gaffed the fish.

This is Mrs. Hillman's first experience at deep-sea fishing. Her feat of successfully landing a record tuna is considered remarkable in sport annals. The day before, fishing with light tackle, a nine-thread line, Mrs. Hillman caught a twenty-six-and-one-half-pound albacore. The tuna was taken on regulation Tuna Club heavy tackle of twenty-four-thread line. Mrs. Hillman is now trying for a marlin swordfish record.

What is said to be the world's largest broadbill swordfish has just been taken in Catalina waters by R. C. Grey, fishing from the cruiser Gladiator. Mr. Grey's great catch weighed 580½ pounds and exceeds the catch made by his brother, Zane Grey, last year by six and one-half pounds. The broadbills taken by the Grey brothers are the largest ever known to be taken on rod and reel in any waters on the globe.

The broadbill is the seventh that R. C. Grey has landed this season and establishes also a new record for the largest number of Xiphias Gladius caught by one man in a single season.

NEW INYO CASE MOVE DUE

Information on Felony Charges Directed Against Wattersons Expected Today

Information on forty-three felony charges made against Mark Q. and W. W. Watterson, Owens Valley bankers, is expected to be filed in the Inyo county Superior Court today by Dist.-Atty. Hession as the next step in prosecution of the two men held responsible for failure of five Owens Valley banks with asserted shortages in bank accounts and their own enterprises said to total $2,330,000.

Failing to find concealed assets expected to amount to more than $500,000 in safety deposit vaults in Los Angeles, Dist.-Atty. Hession checked out of his hotel rooms in Los Angeles yesterday presumably to return to Independence to resume prosecution of the case today.

BONDS FOUND

A search of two safety deposit boxes in a Los Angeles hotel was made by Dist.-Atty. Hession Saturday in the presence of Los Angeles authorities. The opening of three other safety deposit boxes held in the Wattersons' names in Los Angeles banks revealed only $264,000 worth of unsold Owens Valley Irrigation District bonds.

Speedy justice has been promised in the trial of the Wattersons. According to Hession the brothers have waived preliminary examination on the forty-three felony counts and are expected to waive prosecution of the forty-fourth. If this is done, Hession said, the men probably will be arraigned not later than Thursday of this week and their trial set for an early date.

HUNT GOES ON

While Hession continues preparation of evidence to be used in the trial, State Superintendent of Banks Wood, bank examiners and officers of the State Corporation Commission continued their investigation of the Watterson enterprises and instituted a search throughout the entire West for concealed assets.

It was indicated by these officers that they do not believe the entire amount of missing funds is lost and that the Wattersons still have large holdings, which may be used to rehabilitate the closed banks.

Writer of Songs Leaves $40,000

A $40,000 estate was left by Charles F. Caldwell, song writer, who died last May, according to a petition for letters testamentary filed in the Superior Court by Attorney N. O. Freedman, in behalf of a brother. Besides the petitioning brother, the heirs at law are the widow, a sister and Caldwell's father.

PAVING PROJECTS PUSHED

All Quarters of City Share in Improvement Under Major Traffic Street Plan

Additional relief for motorists through the installation of wider and better pavements on a number of streets included in the Major Traffic Street Plan is announced by City Engineer Shaw, who said that the street-design division under Assistant City Engineer Shultz has completed plans for several important projects.

The ordinances of intention for these projects are now in the hands of the City Attorney for approval and should be presented to the City Council within a short time. These projects have been given the support of the Traffic Commission.

ANGELES MESA DRIVE

One of the most important is the paving of Angeles Mesa Drive from Vernon avenue to Sixtieth street. The pavement will be fifty-eight feet wide on each side of the street-car right of way. This section connects with the pavement just completed between Sixtieth and Seventy-ninth streets and also with Liemert Boulevard, which soon will be paved under private contract from Vernon and Angeles Mesa Drive to Santa Barbara and Third avenue.

Verdugo Road will be paved from the Glendale city limits to Avenue 35, the roadway varying in width from forty-eight to fifty-six feet.

Gower street will have a new paved roadway forty-eight feet wide from Hollywood Boulevard to Melrose avenue.

San Fernando Road will be widened to thirty-six feet with five-foot shoulders from the city of San Fernando nearly to the Newhall tunnel.

SOUTH SIDE PLANS

The thirty-five-foot strip on Central avenue from One Hundred and Seventeenth street to the south city limits is to be paved, hooking up with county plans to extend Central as a well-paved artery to Compton.

Silver Lake Boulevard will be paved from Ayr street to the dam at the south end of the lake and a new entrance to Mulholland Drive will be available as a result of the paving of Woodrow Wilson Drive from Cahuenga avenue to the drive.

In several of these proceedings, additional widths of roadway have been secured through the dedication of land by property owners, thus saving the cost and time of condemnation proceedings.

TENTH STREET PROTEST WEAK

Only 7 Per Cent of Owners In District Opposed

Widening Assured Because of Lack of Objection

Council Will Take Up Matter Day After Tomorrow

Protest against the widening of Tenth street from the east to the west city boundary, which was the first great street-widening proceeding inaugurated in Los Angeles, will be heard by the City Council Wednesday. A check of the protests filed shows objects from only 7 per cent of the property in the district to be assessed for the improvement.

City officials, when informed by the Engineering Department of the results of the check of the protests, declared that the small number of objections clearly demonstrates that the people of Los Angeles are strongly favorable to the value of opening and widening streets and thus making great arteries of travel.

FIVE YEARS OF WORK

The Tenth-street opening and widening project, which is twelve miles in length, was started under way five years ago. Then followed the preparation by engineers and the adoption by the people of the Major Traffic Street Plan, which is a comprehensive plan for opening and widening streets and the making of efficient through arteries of travel in all parts of the city.

The first Tenth-street proceedings were attacked in the courts by a few objecting property owners and the proceedings were declared invalid because of technical errors. This made necessary the institution of new proceedings. A friendly suit was instituted to have the proceedings declared legal by the courts and thus prevent delays after the new proceedings were under way. The California Supreme Court declared the new proceedings valid and directed the Board of Public Works to post the necessary notices. This was done and then came the filing of protests. The 8th inst. was the last day for filing protests. Those received were sent to the City Engineer for checking. It generally is predicted at the City Hall that in view of the few protests the Council will deny them, thus paving the way for the adoption of the final ordinance.

GIGANTIC PROJECT

The magnitude of the Tenth-street widening project was set forth in the Supreme Court decision, which declared the proceedings valid. Tenth street is to be made a 100-foot through-traffic artery from Lucerne Boulevard and Country Club Drive on the west city boundary through the city to Indiana street and Mines avenue on the eastern city boundary.

Because of the general public benefit to be received the city will contribute $1,500,000 from general city funds, probably the public-improvement fund, toward the cost of the street opening and widening. The remainder will be paid by the large assessment district.

The Supreme Court decision was a complete victory for City Attorney Stephens who had battled before the court as to the right of the city to open and widen streets for the benefit of the general public and of the property owners directly adjacent to the improvement. The court decision was a victory for the city's right to open and widen streets wherever the city deems such improvements necessary. The court's findings will give an impetus to the carrying out of the widenings recommended in the Major Traffic Street Plan. Specifically, the court validated each step in the city's procedure for street openings and widenings including the contribution of general funds toward the cost of the improvements.

PUBLIC CONCERN

Of the magnitude of the Tenth-street opening and widening proceedings the Supreme Court said:

"The proceedings under review admittedly contemplate an improvement of great magnitude. The termini of the proposed improvement are many miles distant and the project is doubtless a matter of much public concern. From these facts the respondents conclude and insist that the improvement is not of a local nature and hence a local district cannot legally be created to meet any part of the expenses thereof. This objection to the proceedings is grounded upon the fact that in Section 1 of the ordinance of intention, it is declared 'that the public interest and convenience requires, and that it is hereby found and determined that

COURT RECORDS WILL FACE QUIZ

Evidence May Bring Order to Obtain Audit

Two Cases Show Failure to Demand Forfeiture

Large Sums Uncollected in Eleven Instances

A crisis in the investigation of the operations and asserted manipulations of Los Angeles bail-bond concerns is expected today when the county grand jury resumes its sessions and hears evidence indicating that long delays have marked the forfeiture of many bail bonds while in other cases the criminal court records carry no notation of the bonds ever being declared forfeited.

This evidence was obtained by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Murray last week and at that time he announced that he would present it to the grand jury and leave to that body's discretion the question of whether an audit of the records and accounts of bail bonds should be ordered.

Two more bail bonds included in Murray's evidence were made public yesterday.

RECORD SILENT

One is the case of R. L. Hilbert, arrested April 17, 1925, for violation of the Wright Act. According to the record Hilbert's bail was fixed at $1000 at that time. When he failed to appear in Superior Court for trial July 1, 1925, the record says merely: "defendant not present, cause off calendar." There is nothing in the court record to show that the bond was forfeited when Hilbert failed to appear for trial.

The other case is that of Archie Witkoff, accused of issuing checks without sufficient funds. He was released July 17, 1925, on $1000 bail. His trial was set for September 22, 1925.

According to the Superior Court record of Witkoff's case he failed to appear on the date fixed. This was September 22, 1925. The clerk's entry in the record states: "Defendant not present, cause off calendar."

The following day, September 23, 1925, the following entry was made in the record: "Defendant not present; cause dismissed; bail exonerated."

NOT EXPLAINED

The record carries no notation of the dismissal being ordered because of lack of evidence which is the custom when such procedure is followed. Neither does the record advance any other reason why this case was dismissed and the bail exonerated after Witkoff had failed to appear for trial.

Murray has in his possession the records of eleven bail-bond cases which involve a total of $33,000. A summary of three of these records follows:

Case No. 91740 (Municipal Court:) Walter Guest, bail $15,000; record shows forfeiture proceedings continued to January 4, 1926. There is no notation on January 4, 1926, or afterward to show whether this bail bond was forfeited after Guest failed to appear for trial.

Case No. 27608 (Superior Court:) Glenn Leon Aiken; bail bond $2000. This bail was ordered forfeited June 21, 1926. This order was later set aside. Then it was again forfeited, only to be vacated again. Finally, after numerous continuances, the bail bond was ordered forfeited, technically, June 13, 1927, nearly a year later.

Case No. 35570 (Superior Court:) Eli Stanton; bail bond $2000; court record shows no forfeiture when Stanton failed to appear.

The six remaining records in Murray's possession, concerning bail bonds amounting to $11,500, probably will be made public following the grand jury session today.

More than twenty witnesses are expected to be called to testify regarding bail-bond deals when the grand jury resumes its session. Among them is believed to be Isobel Blodgett, former head of the firm of the bail-bond firm of Blodgett & Fronk.

Miss Blodgett was questioned at the last session of the grand jury regarding two bail-bond deals. At that time Dep. Dist.-Atty. Murray stated that he would question other witnesses in the case before deciding whether he would ask for indictments.

RECORD SET AT GERMAN FETE HERE

Park Celebration in Honor of Pioneers Brings Out More Than 10,000 Throng

More than 10,000 persons of the German-American League of Los Angeles conducted an all-day program in Rosehill Park yesterday in honor of German pioneers. Proceeds of the event will be delivered to the German Lincoln Hospital Association.

As honored guests of the day Count Felix von Luckner, former commander of the German cruiser Seeadler, and Capt. Lauterbach, navigation officer of the German cruiser Emden, gave addresses.

Max E. Socha, president of the league, was chairman of the day and gave the opening talk. He introduced William A. Monten, Vice-Consul of Sweden, who, in turn, presented Countess von Luckner. William Schreider, president of the Civil Service Commission, talked on citizenship.

Starting in the morning guests at the park participated in athletic events and a picnic before the speaking program. Music for the day was provided by Roberts's Golden State band and the Swedish Male Chorus. Dancing in the park pavilion was a feature of the late afternoon entertainment.

Yesterday's celebration is the only annual event given by the league, and, according to Mr. Socha, the attendance set a record over previous years.

COUNCIL HAS PROBLEM IN PAVING CASE

Asserted Change Made in Petition Declared to Call for Patent Mixture

Who, if anyone, changed the petition of property owners to pave Citrus avenue, from Lexington avenue to De Longpre avenue, with cement concrete pavement to a patented pavement?

Mrs. W. C. Marshall and other property owners have filed a communication with the City Council asking that the street be paved with cement concrete. The property owners told the Council that this is what they asked for when they signed the paving petition, only to discover recently that the proceedings were for a patented pavement.

The City Council asked for a ruling from City Attorney Stephens as to how to proceed in view of the property owners' protest. A report from the City Attorney is expected to be received this week.

Fish and Meat Peddlers to Defend Rights Before Council Committee

The City Council's Health and Sanitation Committee will hold a public hearing at the City Hall at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon on an ordinance which would prohibit the sale of meat and fish from wagons unless the food had been previously ordered from an established place of business.

Protests against the adoption of the ordinance have been filed by the Fish and Meat Men's Association, which has retained Attorney Griffith Jones to present the association's case to the Council. Members of the association, it is said, contend that the ordinance will work a hardship on them and on their customers and declare that food products sold from the wagons are healthful and that their business is conducted with due regard for health and sanitary laws.

Son of Commoner Acts So Daughters May Get Share Left Them by Nebraskan

In order that his three children may receive their shares in the estate of their grandfather, William Jennings Bryan, a petition for appointment as their guardian was filed in the Superior Court Saturday by William Jennings Bryan, Jr., son of the commoner.

By Mr. Bryan's will, each of the three grandchildren living in Los Angeles is left $2000. According to the petition, the estate is ready for distribution and it is necessary for the children to have a guardian to receive and administer their inheritances.

TENTH STREET PLAN ASSURED

the public interest and necessity require, and that it is the intention of the Council of the city of Los Angeles to order the following improvement to be made:

"We find no merit in the contention. Section 1 of the act of 1903 provides that 'whenever the public interest and convenience may require, the City Council of any municipality shall have power and authority to order the laying out . . . of any one or more of any public streets,' etc. Section 2 of the act authorizes the City Council to establish a district 'to be benefited by said improvement, and to be assessed to pay the expenses thereof, and to be known as the assessment district.'

LOCAL IN NATURE

"Admittedly the proceedings are taken under the act of 1903 and the assessment district is described in the ordinance of intention. The fact that the city is proceeding under said act is evidence that the improvement is local in its nature, beneficial to the property in the assessment district and there is nothing in the record justifying a conclusion to the contrary. The power to determine primarily the confines of the assessment district is one of legislative discretion.

"The fact that the improvement is of great magnitude and also of certain public benefit does not deprive the city of the authority to proceed under the act of 1903. If it were otherwise it is conceivable that all similar proposed improvements might be subjected to attack on this ground and the act practically nullified. Unless an abuse of discretion is manifest, and none here appears, the proceedings cannot be disturbed on this ground."

CHAPLIN BATTLE TO OPEN TODAY

grandmother a mile or so away. A hot and heavy exchange of charges followed between the two. It developed that Mrs. Chaplin had left her husband as the climax to a party for some friends she had given.

In January Chaplin suddenly left for New York and on the heels of his departure came Mrs. Chaplin's divorce complaint of forty-two pages. In this, she hurled a veritable tidal wave of charges at the comedian, many of them unprintable. The complaint mentioned seven women, none of them by name, but five of them understood to be in the first flight of Hollywood's feminine film celebrities.

The comedian made stinging oral retort on the train bearing him East, but delayed his formal legal answer for some time. In this, however, he accused his wife of heavy drinking, mentioned two young men as her frequent companions on parties where liquor flowed freely and in liberal amounts, charged her with extravagance, neglect of her children and cold-blooded scheming to wrest a slice of his fortune from him. Likewise, he denied in detail each of her charges.

Since then charges and counter-charges have filtered back and forth almost without let-up and a brilliant staff of legal talent employed by both sides to handle their respective cases. Loyd Wright, Gavin McNab, Charles E. Millikan, Nat Schmulowitz and Nathan Burkan represent the comedian. Edwin T. McMurray, Mrs. Chaplin's uncle, is her chief counsel. At present he is associated in the case with the law firm of Lee & Lee and previously had been associated in the present case with the firm of Young & Young.

Repeated efforts toward a settlement failed. Offers and counter-offers were made and rejected. It is believed that an agreement now finally has been reached, however.

Jump Proves Harmless But Legally Futile

A leap from a second-story window of a hotel at 928 West Eighth Place early yesterday morning was both lucky and unlucky for James L. Lewis, 23 years of age, according to a report at the Sheriff's office.

Lewis made the leap, according to the report, in an effort to escape from Deputy Sheriffs Coulter and Rodgers who had visited the hotel to place him under arrest for authorities at Downey on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Rodgers called at the man's room. The latter, apprised of his imminent arrest, leaped through the window to an alley below. Rodgers said. Coulter, waiting in the rear, caught the suspect as he scrambled to his feet. Though his leap was about thirty feet Lewis was uninjured.

Lewis, whose real name is said to be Forbstein, was placed in the County Jail.

BAD TEMPER CALLED MAN'S WORST ENEMY

Dr. Bruce Brown of South Park Christian Church preached yesterday on "The Cure for Bad Temper." He said in part:

"Most of our troubles are home-brewed. This is especially true of bad temper, the greatest enemy of our peace and happiness. Nearly all the evils of life can be overcome if they are met with confidence and good humor. Bad temper is the unclosed fire door that allows the conflagration to spread to every other passion. Ill temper is the egg that the moth deposits in the bud, destined to eat out the heart of the fruit and flowers of life. This is a fine world for the one who sees it through the window of hope, but it is a mighty black old world to the hater and to the blind man. Bad temper poisons friendship, kills love, wrecks the home, divides the church and bars the gates of heaven."

CHRIST-LIKE LIVING HELD ABOVE BELIEF

Supplying the pulpit for Dr. H. C. Culbertson of Plymouth Congregational Church, Dr. George A. Andrews of University Congregational Church of Tucson, Ariz., a former pastor of Plymouth, preached yesterday on "The Religion of the Master." He said in part:

"In his book, 'The Believing World,' Rabbi Lewis Brown makes a well-considered distinction between 'Jesus' and 'Christ.' Jesus was the name of the man who walked in Galilee and Judea and went about doing good; Christ is the name which has been applied to Jesus when He has been separated from His natural and earthly life and has been made the supernatural center of a system of theology and ritual.

"In our exclusive interest in the religion centered about Christ, very little effort has been made to discover the religion of Jesus. Yet Jesus must have had His own religion. There must have been certain convictions which actuated His doing good. They were convictions, not mere beliefs. He did not believe in God merely as 'the Father Almighty.' He was convinced that God was His Father, Whose will He must do. He did not believe merely in a universal brotherhood of man. He was convinced that men were His brothers whom he must save into the abundant life. Consistent with his convictions, He commanded men not to believe something about Him nor yet to try to get some benefit from Him, but to share his ideals and to follow in His way of service.

"It is probable that there are many real followers of the religion of Jesus who are not counted in the organization of Christianity. It is possible that there are some credal and ritualistic Christians whom He would not count among the followers of His own religion. At any rate, the pertinent question for us is not whether we are mere Christians in the sense of the acceptance of certain beliefs about Christ, but whether we are real followers of Jesus in the acceptance of the compulsions of the convictions that God is our Father, Whose will we must do and that man is our brother whom we must help."

FAITH HELD NEEDFUL FOR MAN'S SALVATION

Rev. E. T. Coyner, pastor of Fifth-avenue Lutheran Church, preached yesterday on "False Teachers." He said in part:

"Jesus warns us, 'Beware of false prophets,' and also mentions that they will come most plentifully in our times, which are 'the last times.' He was no false prophet, for they are evident and plentiful and are deceiving many by their 'mighty signs and wonders.' How shall we protect ourselves against their wiles? Jeremiah tells us to use the great, old and clear doctrines of the Bible to defend ourselves against false prophets. The first is the doctrine of inspiration of the Holy Scriptures. He who holds this doctrine will not easily be moved by new teachers who do not teach this Bible.

"Next, we have the doctrine of the divine wrath. False teachers deny His anger and say 'peace' when there is wrath coming upon the wicked. A whirlwind of destruction shall overtake these teachers and their followers. The wrath of God is to protect you, who are true believers, and keep you from falling, because you fear. The word of the Lord never makes us forget His name, but the opposite. This is a trick of false teachers today. They leave out God and Jesus with His atoning blood. They teach community uplift and social welfare. These are good in their place, but when they displace God and His grace in Christ they are damnable heresies."

AND CHEAPER
Come to think of it, the "passing show" is just as thrilling on the street as in the theater.

GLUTTON FOR PUNISHMENT
Can anyone misunderstand the viewpoint of the bigamist who pleaded in court that he had been punished enough already?

INSURES 'EM
Speaking of accident insurance, nothing else can insure so many accidents as the common or highway variety of damphool carelessness.

SQUEEZED DRY
The trouble is that the average fellow who gets the habit of buying on credit never realizes it when he reaches his desaturation point.

DISTANCE LENDS ENCHANTMENT
Scientists have decided that the limits of the universe extend 196 quadrillion miles. That ought to be far enough, but we still are curious to know what lies beyond them.

PEALING

HEARTBREAKING
Permanent bachelor says he is through with women for good because he has nine sweethearts and not one of them is true to him.

A NEW CROP
Sugar cane and pineapples have been until recently the great products of Oahu. But now the biggest thing is the Hawaiian hop.

BEHIND THE FAIR
Folks back East are just beginning to set their teeth into the annual crop of corn-on-the-cob weeks after Californians have had the succulent knife-fork-and-spoonless food easy to hand.

NOT SO SLOW
The Chicago Tribune now employs only old men as messengers. Not a bad idea. A rheumatic octogenarian can get around faster than some of those dashing kids who take all day to get nowhere.

A LONG WAIT
It's a good thing the Chamber of Commerce is prodding up the City Council about that long-deferred airport. Otherwise we might have to wait till the cows begin to fly, or till Birnam wood do come to Dunsinane.

SOME FAST
A Toronto woman had indigestion. She was advised by her physician to try fasting. She fasted forty-nine days, and was completely and permanently cured. A testimonial to the efficacy of the treatment is inscribed on a white stone in a very quiet corner of the municipality.

TWO MOTORISTS
"I've sold my car," said Grouchy Gus;
It got to be a regl'ar bus.
I'm sick o' hauling folks around;
The thing was run into the ground."
"I keep a family car," said Lou,
"And all our friends are welcome, too.
We don't care if it is a bus—

AT SIXES AND SEVENS
Things are still looking a bit thick to Dean Inge, whose latest blurb is that "only a new heart and a new spirit can save us." At that rate our salvation would seem to be a long way off. But the dean might hurry it up a little by tossing away his hammer and getting in line with the boosters.

DISAPPOINTED
Faint signs of life were visible along Broadway, New York, recently. They got ready to throw a few tons of confetti at the German transoceanic flyers, but they didn't arrive, so there they are keeping the stuff for the American who makes the round trip, and they may not have long to wait, judging by the big aviation talk now heard in all parts of the country.

RANCH AND RAWNCH
If the Prince of Wales has not yet found out the difference between a ranch and a rawnch it might be explained to him that a ranch is a place where they don't wear four-plus suits when they dig the cans of corn out of the field, while that is part of the routine of the rawnch, as is also the practice of chasing the wild potato bug over the snow with a pitchfork as well as oiling the tractor once a year and setting White Orpington hens on golf balls. Such methods are not employed on ranches, where straight tillage and not time-killage is the rule.

ONE-SIDED ECONOMY
When Undersecretary Mills of the United States Treasury spoke of the marked contrast between the financial policies of the Federal and State governments in a recent address he said a mouthful. He called attention to the fact that while Federal taxes from 1921 to 1926 were reduced $1,458,000,000, the total State and local taxes of the country increased $1,415,000,000, and then added the pessimistic note, "One is almost tempted to say, 'What's the use?'"

"Yes, what's the use?" the average taxpayer echoes. We have been promised another Federal tax cut soon, but what promise of State and local tax cuts or what decrease in bonded indebtedness is extended to property owners in California or other States?

Mr. Mills contended in his speech that while Federal taxes are fairly apportioned among those best able to pay, the heaviest burden of local taxation falls upon the owners of real estate of large or small areas. It would seem strange that State and local governments have followed exactly the opposite course from that of the Federal government, spending more and more from year to year and borrowing wherever they needed to make up the discrepancy between tax collections and expenditures, but that has been the case, and no let-up is in sight.

People have been prone to lay total tax increases to the war, but while it put a heavy burden upon the shoulders of taxpayers, there has been a rank disproportion between the increase in Federal and local taxes. Since 1915 Federal governmental cost payments have increased 144 per cent, according to Mr. Mills, while those of the States have increased 183 per cent.

With no direct war payments to make, the States have piled up other costs in a reckless way. It costs too much to run State governments, California's in particular, and the people are entitled to know the reason why.

One particularly obvious reason is found in the high cost of State bureaus. We are prone to condemn those who dip so greedily into the Congressional pork barrel, but our California State pork barrel is in proportion a more extravagant provider for the taxeaters.

For a single State of the population of California Gov. Young's $193,500,000 budget of last January topped all records. It was nearly twice as heavy as the Richardson budget of two years before, and as the budget always has been exceeded by the actual expeditures in high ratio, we can expect expenditures of $250,000,000 during the present biennium.

To provide for such increases in expenditure higher and higher tax rates must be fixed. The people are right in demanding to know when we shall have an economical State administration.

FROM THE INSIDE
"China's salvation must come from within the Great Wall, when the people grow weary of exploitation by war lords," declares A. J. Evans, who represents the United States Department of Commerce at Peking and who recently was a visitor in Los Angeles.

According to Mr. Evans, "any solution to China's problems, superimposed by outside powers, would be temporary in its effect and, in the last analysis, a hindrance to China's unification and development."

The Chinese see, or soon will see, that they can gain nothing from Russia excepting the wisdom supplied through Communism's pitiable failure. In the light of modern progress, rays of which have penetrated even plodding China, it is unlikely that China will return to the old imperial form of government. The students and thinkers of China (and China is a land in which scholarship is valued above all other gifts) will not allow their country to attempt the adoption of a "pure" democracy, which history proves has always ended in mobocracy or mass anarchy.

There remains for China but one sane, progressive course if she is to win a place as a strong power in the sisterhood of nations, and that is a form of representative government, regardless of the name by which it is called. That such a government—somewhat along the lines of the governments of America and England—will finally be established, there is good reason to expect. That such a regime will be slow in coming to fruition there is also little question.

Even Japan, with much of the national psychology of and training by the Occident behind her, is only now beginning to catch the spirit of western democracy and the newly-formed "democratic party" is staking its hopes on the national election to be conducted next May.

NATURAL MONUMENTS
Mt. Rushmore in the Black Hills is to bear on its face the graven images of Washington, Lincoln, Jefferson and Roosevelt, if the work initiated under the direction of Gutzon Borglum, mountain sculptor, and his supporters is consummated. President Coolidge honored the ceremony of carving the first lines of Washington's profile with a notable address on the significance of the four former Presidents in American history.

Such monuments are unique. They may form the beginning of a new manner of outdoor sculpture and art. But the four giant names symbolized by carved likenesses will add more to the fame of the Black Hills than the Black Hills will add to them. Such is the compensation that noble monuments return to the communities that create them. There is Mt. Washington in New Hampshire—how easy to speak that name and how it enhances the fame and even the very grandeur of the 6293-foot hill that bears it! There is Mt. Mitchell in the Appalachians, the highest peak east of the Mississippi. Mitchell is a good name, no doubt, but the mountain's 6711 feet of scenery has not taken so much fame from it as New Hampshire's green dome has secured by honoring the first President. These two most-mentioned eastern peaks are comparable in elevation to the peaks back of Pasadena; there are much higher peaks in the San Bernardino and San Jacinto country.

Borglum's wizardry applied to Mt. Rushmore may create there a new national shrine, but God raised ranges in California that could honor America's loved patriots more than the chiseled sculptures of any genius, no matter how marvelous his conception and how skillful his execution. In the high Sierras there are many lordly peaks that are as nameless as unborn babes. Naming them for giants who have served the nation well would not only do honor to the noted persons selected, but would set up a new touch of intimacy between these tremendous monuments reared by God and the millions who will look up to them tomorrow in respectful awe.

BAG OF TRICKS
New forms of competition, new processes, new methods and new products recently drove a Chicago corporation to appropriate $21,000,000 for a new "bag of tricks," as the president expressed it.

Gibraltar has fallen without benefit of gunpowder or publicity, said a bank president not long ago. The rock is merely a museum of 1914 security. It is just as hard as ever to pass in a ship; but there are other ways of flying over it.

The automotive industry is bursting with secrets; a new kind of carpet is about to revolutionize the business; talking motion pictures are making Hollywood burn up phosphorus in the brain; television is making the telephone companies tremble. Everything is in a state of flux and readjustment.

Competition is more than price cutting. Installment selling has brought on a bitter battle for every dollar. Where both cannot be bought, folks are preferring radios to vacuum cleaners. Automobiles are hard on oriental rugs; for home is not what it used to be.

Electric refrigerators have made inroads on kitchen cabinets. High-powered salesmanship at your door has taken away the choice from the buyer. The movie is taking the place of the magazine. The preacher finds himself in competition with the radio announcer.

The distributor's per cent of every dollar is modern tribute money. Chain stores that control the producing end are putting little shops out of business.

Some of the new tricks in the bag are: guest-size soap, drive-it-yourself cars, glass transparent to ultra violet rays, light European automobiles, radio battery eliminators, co-operative apartments and a thousand and one others.

The great problem is to "keep enterprise synchronized with the new American tempo," says Robert R. Updegraff in System. Fresh ideas are the ammunition for the battle of business. And yet ideas without thorough test are insufficient. Too many have been "flops."

Keeping the public interested is a big job. The plums are for the sensation providers. The sign that flashes on and off catches the eye. Trout and men both like live bait.

A new subdivision may change the trend of the city's growth. A new street leaves an old business section high and dry. Prophets in business are as essential as in religion. Customers come to the alert. The King's Highway to success has to be eternally resurfaced, widened, straightened, and grades cut down to keep it from running into a blind alley.

THE BRITISH BREAKFAST
We are accustomed to thinking of the Britisher's breakfast beverage of tea as a national heritage from the past. The coldness with which the Englishman on or off his native heath regards a matutinal meal in which coffee plays the star part was thought to be due to the influence of countless generations of ancestors who had consumed their morning cups of tea with gusto and relish.

However, historians have a way of dashing even the most respected illusion, and they have now turned the light of investigation upon the Briton's breakfast, with the result that we learn that tea was a comparatively recent innovation on the English breakfast table. The people of Shakespeare's time were wont to consume a real he-man breakfast, with beer as the liquid refreshment enjoyed in the early morn.

Queen Elizabeth was accustomed to breakfasting daintily upon beer and oatmeal porridge. Perhaps that was what made the Virgin Queen rather irritable at times; certainly it was a combination much more deadly to the digestion than coffee and hot cakes, with a slice of pie thrown in for good measure. Tea had been introduced during her reign, but it was so fabulously expensive that few could indulge in it. A queen, of course, need not have worried over the item of expense, but there was nothing effete about Elizabeth, and she preferred her good old breakfast beer and ale to all the cups of tea that were ever brewed. And the beer had to be strong, according to tradition, or the chef's head was likely to find its way to the block.

It was not until Queen Anne's time that tea appeared regularly on the royal breakfast table. Even then her subjects could not follow the fashion she set, as it cost 16 shillings a pound, so all except the swankiest persons stuck to a breakfast beaker of beer. As the price was gradually lowered more and more people followed the example of the wealthy nobles and began to drink tea for breakfast, until only the servants were left with beer for their morning beverage. No wonder the Britons wandered forth to conquer the world; digestions that were tortured with beer for breakfast must have made their owners too restless to stay at home peacefully following their own pursuits.

SHOCK ABSORBERS
Shock absorbers do not appear to be as essential as in days of old. Either the bumps on the road or short skirts and candid views have made the public numb. As a result you can hardly make it sit up and take notice, much less be susceptible to shock.

Whether this be a sign of better days or mere adjustment of the nerves to a species of high frequency, it is difficult to determine. You cannot shock a man who is half paralyzed.

There is such a thing as being so used to repetition of sensations that the system becomes tolerant of almost anything. It takes much to make some characters either disturbed or groggy.

A few bachelor maids and spinster men yet become jumpy. But even these have a way all their own of being skittish when occasion whistles them up or horns them out. There is considerable evidence that about all the highly shocked need is opportunity.

Certain sorts of virtue affect an air of superiority because they have been perennial wallflowers. So they are seldom able to withstand taking a spin in either the latest vintage of Detroit sport model or temptation.

Just why legs and arms ever should have produced need of shock absorbers is a mystery. Deity created these appurtenances even as he did mountains and noses. Why should their appearance excite suspicion?

Then again why portions of the anatomy that do not shock even the most sedate on the seashore in this good old summer time should stir up such a seismic hubbub on Broadway in the winter has never been tackled by either H. G. Wells or Will Hays.

The whole subject is open for exploitation. However, shock absorbers will still be in demand for old anemic hypocrites with skeletons in their closets as well as in their clothes.

RELIEVING THE FARMER
Gov. Hammill of Iowa, in an earnest speech to the members of the governors' conference held at Mackinac, Mich., set forth what he considered to be the views of the corn-belt States generally on the problem of farm relief. This may be considered as a challenge to the actions of President Coolidge in choosing South Dakota as his summer vacation place with the intention—at least so generally considered—of winning the West to the administration's plan of farm relief. In that speech the Governor served notice on the President and through him on the Republican party that thus and so must be done or there will be ructions in the next Presidential convention.

But that is some months away and in the meantime the problem is being met in another way. H. P. Goodrich, nationally known as an able investigator of agricultural conditions, shows that the lesson of diversified farming is being rapidly learned through the corn-belt States, and he presents an array of figures to show that prosperity always follows such farming. It required the boll weevil to impress that lesson on the cotton-growing States and hard times to emphasize it in the fertile States of the Mississippi Valley.

Mr. Goodrich points out how completely we fail to appreciate the great change in farming methods of following the increased use of electricity and improved machinery, which developments will continue on an increasing scale. Such men as Ford and Schwab, leaders in great industries, unite in saying that it needs only the further application of scientific management, such as the elimination of waste in the production and marketing of agricultural products, to change the whole aspect of agriculture.

CONSCIENCE IN BUSINESS

BY BAILEY MILLARD

I doubt if there was another man in the country who exercised more influence in the improvement of business ethics during the last thirty years than Elbert H. Gary. He was a "square shooter." When he undertook to solve the problems growing out of the steel consolidation he encountered a code of practice that has almost disappeared from the realm of big business, and which he, more than any other man, helped to efface.

The managers of some of the large business institutions in New York, then his field of activity, had believed that as long as their conduct came within the strict rules of law it was immune from attack and could give rise to no valid criticism. To one who had sprung from old Puritan stock and served in a judicial capacity in a small town, where he gained an enviable reputation for square dealing, Mr. Gary looked askance at the practices that had grown up among New York business men. He found that many of them, as he afterward said, gave no thought to the Golden Rule. Competition was tyrannical and destructive. As the big combinations rose weaker competitors were forced out of business by means which he characterized as "not only unethical but brutal as well." Along the paths of industrial development were strewn the graves of insolvents. Instead of competition destroying monopoly, it thus encouraged it.

Evil deals were consummated in the dark. Big business concealed its ugly doings, and there were many of them to conceal. When Mr. Gary became one of the leading figures in the United States Steel Corporation he insisted upon complete publicity concerning its affairs. "All the cards on the table," was what he wanted and in time succeeded in getting. Many of what he considered the false ethics of the concern's managers were abandoned at his suggestion. He would stand for no shady practices. Nor would he uphold the prevalent idea that the welfare of workmen was to be subordinated to utility and profit.

He was strong in the assertion of his belief that "a clear conscience is as mighty a weapon of defense for a business enterprise as it is for an individual." And he stuck to his code in a way that challenged those of his colleagues who had been brought up in the school of false ethics, and in time made them see the point and appreciate it.

All over the land there has been of late years a stouter insistence upon square business dealing than there was formerly. It has come to be accepted as an axiom that a business man inclined to sharp practice, though he may seem to succeed for a time, will be less successful in the long run than a man of uniform fairness—fairness in representation as well as in intention.

"As business is unquestionably one of the biggest things in the world," Elbert Gary once said, "so honesty is the biggest thing in business."

Always he was strongly for the upholding of the laws of the land. He held that no citizen had the right to select which laws he would obey and which he would flout, and for that reason would countenance no violation of prohibition rules.

What a blessing to the country it was to have had so stalwart an exponent of business and individual honesty in so high a place—a beacon shining brightly on the industrial shore, radiating good will, representing fair play and quickening the conscience of the business world.

SEEING MEXICO

VIII

Every now and then we hear something from well-meaning people about the wicked Americans who have, are, and want to exploit, to his hurt, the Mexican.

There has been very little exploitation of the Mexican by the American. The average American who has dug a hole in Mexico has left something in it which has materially added to the profit of that country.

Example No. 1: The National Railways in Mexico, some 7000 miles or more, were constructed with American capital, and no one can gainsay their benefits.

Example No. 2: American and British capital has invested from $200,000,000 to $300,000,000 in light and power construction and street railways. The original stock purchaser would be glad to get back 20 cents on the dollar.

These examples might be carried out into three figures, but we will mention oil, because the average individual is tuned to the idea that the American oil companies have ridden Mexico to suicide. Gentle reader, a great deal more American money has gone into dry holes, wages and improvements in Mexico than has been taken out. These oil companies have paid the Mexican government annually in taxes more than the total upkeep of the Mexican government under President Diaz. Not an American oil company of importance, to my knowledge is working under a "concession," but on lands bought from Mexican owners or leases wherein the royalties go to native owners of the soil.

No Mexican of intelligence will maintain that the American has wrongly exploited his country. He may insist that foreign capital, and very particularly American capital, is acquiring alarming proportions in oil, land, industrial and mining investments and he may believe that this influx of foreign capital is a menace to Mexican sovereignty, but he knows that foreign capital has made Mexico what it is materially, and that without foreign capital the country can never completely come into its own.

We sell to Mexico approximately two-thirds of all the stuff she buys abroad, because we sell cheaper or better, or both, and have the advantage of proximity. Also, the United States is Mexico's best market for about everything she has to export. Just who is being exploited here?

If Americans have acquired extensive tracts of what they considered cheap lands, the Mexican has been paid his price and it has taken additional millions to bring the lands into production. They have also raised the price of labor, in many cases several hundred per cent, and elevated the condition of the man who works with his hands. American and British companies generally are looked upon by the native laborer as desirable bosses.

When you read about the American who exploits the Mexican close one eye and repeat three times slowly, b-u-n-k.

PHILADELPHIA'S INSECT PEST
Japanese beetles are everywhere in Philadelphia. Armies of them are to be encountered in the downtown streets. They are flying through car windows and stealing rides on men's straw hats and women's dresses.

But if their only effect in the business district is to worry pedestrians and car riders, they are working havoc with green things in the residence districts and in the suburbs. Bushes and shrubbery are burdened with them. They are carving the heart out of hollyhock buds. On cherry trees the foliage has been stripped down to the veins of the leaves.

The numbers of these pests have been greatly increased by the hot weather and the warm rains. It has been necessary to place an embargo on all farm products being shipped from Philadelphia to points outside the quarantined district. There is a demand for beetle traps and sprays and other means of combatting the invaders. But the quarantine, the traps and the sprays seem to be doing little more than slowing down the steady advance of these enemies of most green and growing things.—[Philadelphia Public Ledger.

SPORT FOR WOMEN NOT WASTE OF TIME

Sport is not a waste of time. It is, in some instances, the best use that can be made of time. Who does not play golf, or tennis, or ride horseback these days? Yachting, polo, cricket, baseball, swimming, football—these have come into vogue as never before. They are found to be as necessary as office routine.

And the best of it is that women have found their logical place in tournaments of all kinds. There are almost as many women professional and amateur golf champions as there are men. The athletic girl in George Ade's old play, "The College Widow," who was ashamed of her sunburnt arms and throat does not exist any longer. She is proud now of her evidences of outdoor life.

The simplicity of modern dress, sanitary bobbed hair—anything that lends freedom of movement to the girl of today—these things have come and come to stay. The Junoesque beauty has gone out. Slenderness, grace, girlishness have arrived. If women have found political freedom, likewise they have found a greater freedom in the clothes they wear. This is the most sensible age in which men and women have lived; only, women have outdistanced men in the race for mere comfort of attire.

One has but to look at fashion plates of the gay '90s to realize the metamorphosis that has taken place. Bloomers were looked upon as immodest in 1900. Today, they are looked upon with laughter. Crinoline is a joke. Long skirts are taboo. Heavily trimmed hats are ridiculed, with their cherries and plumes and aigrettes. Dolmans and sealskin sacques have gone the way of veils, corsets, trains and all the rest of the foolish impedimenta that poor women so slavishly wore in vanished times.

Sport has done it. Sport and common sense. There is not the slightest doubt of that.

There are heroes and heroines of sport, as there are heroes and heroines in any other walk of life. Miss Ederle, Miss Wills, Miss Hollins, Mlle. Lenglen, to name only a few, are in the running with Lindbergh, Jones, Chamberlin and Tilden.

Women have proved that they can compete with men in business and the arts. They have proved, too, that they are man's equal in the water, on the links and on the tennis court. The day may soon come when they will achieve what man has accomplished in the air. Women aviators? Why not? And the day that one crosses the ocean . . . Imagine her reception in France!—[Charles Hanson Towne in Harper's Bazar.

Many residents of London have never crossed the Thames.

PEN POINTS

Alas! Most of the people who clamor for tolerance need too much of it.

At that, Mr. Hoover might become President—if he is tired of universal praise.

It might serve better than an apology if Henry would name the flivver's successor. Both.

You should love your neighbor as yourself, but in Bible times there were no lawn mowers for neighbors to push at 6 A.M.

If we have another war we ought be ready, except that everybody will know what stocks to buy.

Fable: She was chosen by Podunk in a beauty contest, but she still gets up to help mother cook breakfast.

So many of the dear creatures want a divorce and custody of the pocketbook.

Americanism: Wondering if you look as fat as that person.

There are two kinds of democrats: Those who think Al can win, and those who had rather have a Republican elected.

FIGHT INQUIRY LIKELY TODAY

Encounter in Julian Tangle Will Come Up Before Grand Jurors

Inquiry will be made today by the county grand jury into the facts surrounding the fistic encounter in the offices of stockholders of the Julian Petroleum Corporation, it was indicated yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Murray of the District Attorney's office.

In the fight Arthur J. Loeb, representing one set of stockholders, lost the sight of one eye when he was said to have been struck by H. J. Kimmerle in the office of De Kalb Spurlin, then chairman of the stockholders' committee. Loeb charges he was struck while wearing glasses. Kimmerle is awaiting trial on an assault charge.

It was intimated the investigation today will go into the facts which led up to the battle and the possibility of a conspiracy in connection with it.

the story of his next and most astounding promotion, the story of Western Lead.

He began the Western Lead campaign a year after he had abandoned his crippled child, Julian Pete, to its fate and S. C. Lewis. First he printed a series of come-on advertisements.

Shortly thereafter he sprang this "new wonder" on the breathlessly waiting hordes. It was the Western Lead Mining Company, whose property, according to his statements, had been discovered by a death-defying "desert rat." On February 1 he stated that, "out of forty assays, the lowest value I got was $30.15 a ton, and ran as high as $99 a ton. Our mining, milling, transportation to railroad and smelter should not exceed $6 a ton," a simple computation showing profits of $22 to $62 per ton of lead ore at current prices.

A few days later he announced a world shortage of lead which should drive the prices of the metal to 14 cents to 15 cents a pound "this year," the doubled price more than doubling the Western Lead profits, of course.

BIGGER AND BETTER

On March 8, he devoted three columns to a denunciation of men who robbed the public of its savings through dishonest stock-selling and manipulation. He called men engaged in this lucrative profession "human parasites, unscrupulous, black-hearted tricksters preying and fasting on unprotected widows, ulcers of humanity," etc. I don't know why he published this denunciation, unless it was done in a moment of honest self-analysis. Anyway, while Julian was denouncing the black-hearted tricksters who preyed on unprotected widow, the 50-year-old widowed cook of a Los Angeles banker came to her employer for advice. After the death of her husband she had "invested" the estate, consisting of $2000 home life insurance policy, in forty shares of Julian Pete preferred, bought from C. C. Julian at $50 a share. It had paid none of the promised dividends. It was quoted that day at $15 a share. Should she take her loss of $1600 and sell or should she hang on?

On March 19 Julian wrote: "Every day we are opening up bigger and more startling ore bodies." On April 12, he stated: "Folks, the constant daily telegrams from the mine of new ore bodies being opened up at Western Lead would positively knock your eye out."

TRUE ENOUGH

How true! If the suckers could only have seen the telegrams, somebody's eye would have been knocked out.

A month later he shifted the responsibility for the glowing statements to his mine superintendent who, according to the advertisement, had said to him: "C. C., you can tell the world for me that I believe we are sitting on top of the greatest silver-lead deposit on earth, that within ninety days from today I will have trainloads of high-grade ore on their way to the smelter."

Two months later trading in Western Lead was suspended on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange and the stock was kicked off the list.

The facts as disclosed by the Corporation Commissioner and Ira B. Joralemon, a reputable mining engineer of high standing who made a personal investigation of the property, were as follows:

There was no "mine." The property consisted of fourteen unpatented, undeveloped claims on which a total of $7000 had been spent when Julian took it over.

There was no ore assaying either $30, $50 or $90 a ton.

NOTHING THERE

No high-grade ore bodies were ever opened up; none has been opened up yet. Julian has practically abandoned the prospect. He admitted to me that he didn't know much about mining when he went into Western Lead, that he had made a mistake and had learned a lot.

In other words, the statements on the strength of which the public threw millions of dollars into Western Lead stock were either made by a self-confessed reckless ignoramus, who should be held civilly liable for the huge losses he caused, or else they were the deliberate utterances of a designing crook against whose activities the public should be protected through criminal action. In the course of a long talk Julian told me that he had only $75,000 when he went into Western Lead, that he came out of the short campaign with $1,200,000. How did he make it?

He evaded the blue sky law again. Instead of selling the stock directly to the public, he caused it to be listed on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. To some members of the listing committee he sold blocks of Western Lead stock prior to trading at 50 cents a share; when trading began on January 30, 1926, the market was properly rigged. The very first sale of Western Lead was made at $1.50 a share: it closed that day at $1.57. And Julian was constantly urging the public to get into Western Lead, predicting a rise to $9 a share, telling in large type of the opening of nonexistent high-grade ore bodies, buying and selling through half a dozen different brokers, manipulating the stock to ever higher levels, until it reached its peak at $2.50 a share within six weeks after the first quotation.

And while he was booming and boosting, washing and matching the stock to constantly higher prices, he was feeding out his shares to the suckers and pocketing the proceeds.

WORTH TEN CENTS

Again the Corporation Commissioner stepped in. An investigation was started. The stock dropped like lead, real lead. Julian bowled, made the usual conspiracy charges, but nevertheless the stock was knocked out of the exchange, where it never should have been listed.

Now, folks, open your eyes wide, take a good long look at the full size of the financial miracle performed by this magician; the shares he induced the public to buy at $1.50, at $2.50 and $3.50, these shares had a par value of 10 cents!

No wonder the horses laugh in Los Angeles.

The entire 2,000,000 shares of the Western Lead Mining Company had a total par value of $200,000. Read that and weep, oh, you incurable suckers. At the peak price established through Julian's efforts that $200,000 had been transmuted into $7,700,000! And there was no ore body assaying $30 or $90 a ton, only a piece of more or less mineralized desert ground under the blue sky of the desert. That blue sky put $1,200,000 into Julian's pocket in less than four months, but it will never be missed. The blue sky, I mean. There's plenty of it left.

BITE AGAIN

Next Julian tried the old "reloading" game by organizing the "Julian Merger Mines, Inc.," and offering its stock in exchange for Western Lead shares. He capitalized this concern for 15,000,000 shares with a par of $1 each and put into it four or five mining properties scattered throughout the West, including the Western Lead prospect. He had no permit to sell stock in California; he had just finishing milking the Western Lead suckers for at least a million and a quarter, yet they bit again, taking 1,286,000 Merger Mines shares at $1 to $1.25 between September 16 and October 12 of last year, when the Corporation Commissioner stopped him again. It's incredible, but it's a fact that the people who got burned in his syndicates, who got whang-doodled properly in Julian Pete, who had their financial eye teeth extracted without gas or novocain in Western Lead, that these same people three months later with their gums still bleeding should hand over another million and a half to the man with the long vulpine nose and the close-set eyes who did all the extracting, but never put in the promised gold bridge-work.

Why shouldn't the horses laugh in Los Angeles?

Balked in his Merger Mines promotion, Julian found a prettier, more suggestive name for his company. Its present title is the New Monte Cristo Mining Company. It's all dressed up, painted and powdered and lipsticked and rouged, but it's got no place to go. The nicely engraved stock certificates are mildewing in the vaults, the high-pressure salesmen are standing morosely round the Monte Cristo silver sarcophagus in the center of the Julian office, the suckers are getting hungrier and hungrier for the new bait, all because the Los Angeles newspapers, as a result of the "great anti-Julian conspiracy," won't open their columns to his advertising, because Julian knows that a cruel Corporation Commissioner won't issue him a permit to sell the stock.

SULKS IN TENT

And so Julian, like Achilles, sat sulking in his tent while his successor in Julian Pete, S. C. Lewis, worked both sides of the street, Spring street, Los Angeles, in this case. But he emerged with a bound, his vulpine nose twitching, when Julian Pete crashed to the ground, revealing a colossal new fraud. Then Julian saw his chance. Posing as the champion of the Julian Petroleum stockholders, he launched a series of sensational radio attacks against the character of a group of outstanding Los Angeles bankers and business men, accusing them of having wrecked and plundered the Julian Petroleum Corporation. Many thousands of his listeners believed him! And the Angel City horses laughed again.

Why did C. C. Julian make these attacks?

I am informed that prior to his first radio accusations, emissaries asserting to speak for him approached friends of the men whom he was about to attack, informed them of the nature of the charges to be made and intimated that Julian would cooperate with them, would be a "good dog" and say nothing if they would use their influence to put him in a position to sell his new stock legally and to open the columns of the Los Angeles papers to his advertising.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

With almost everyone at the seashore or in the mountains this is an off season for artists, the only activities of those remaining in Paris consisting of entertaining visiting members of the craft, and in discussions of forthcoming fall exhibits.

One of these approaching exhibits, which is exciting much interest is that to be given by Teall Messer. Messer comes of a family of artists, his mother also being a painter. He taught in the Cornish School of Seattle, Wash., before going to Paris by way of Chicago and New York. This will be his first one-man show.

Miss Janet Scudder, the sculptress, formerly of Terre Haute, Ind., and Cincinnati, O., has returned to Paris from New York to start work on a Baptistry for the Church of Heavenly Rest, now being constructed in Fifth avenue at Ninety-first street.

Mrs. May Wilson Preston, the New York artist and illustrator, who had been passing the month in Paris, left last week for Vichy, France.

The artists of the quarter still are discussing the American exhibition, and with it another, that of Alfred Wolmark at the Hotel Jean Charpentier. Several Quarterites collaborated to put through the exposition and many names familiar along both sides of the Seine were connected with it.

Up in Montmartre art has gained such a foothold that even the taxi-drivers refuse to start their meter in the presence of an artist. At least, so says "Rube" Goldberg, New York cartoonist and creator of the "Boob McNutt" comic strip. Goldberg used a taxi-driver as a model the other night, without charging him anything, and the chauffeur returned the compliment by taking the cartoonist all over the hill fee gratis.

Miss Lillian Fisk, who has just exhibited with the other American painters in the exposition held by Jacques Seligman in his salons on the Rue Saint Dominique, has left Paris for a holiday of several weeks in Savoy.

Dr. Frank Alvah Parsons, president of the New York School of Fine and Applied Arts, 9 Place des Vosges, Paris, has left the French capital for a month's stay at Lido-Venice.

Visiting in Europe for the summer, Miss Eleanor Mellon, the New York sculptress, arrived in Paris recently for a short stay. Miss Mellon studied under Charles Grasley in Philadelphia for three years.

Another of America's well-known women sculptors, Miss Bashka Paeff, recently went to Paris for further study and work. She has taken a studio at 214 Boulevard Raspail.

Ashton Knight, the American painter, and Mrs. Knight are passing the summer at their Normandy country place and have with them Mrs. Knight's niece, Miss Prelinghuysen, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Joseph Prelinghuysen of New York.

Between sojourns in Deauville and Brittany, Abel Warshawsky, the Cleveland (O.) painter, is in Paris for a few days. While in Deauville, Mr. Warshawsky painted the portrait of Mrs. Montague Glass, wife of the author.

Mrs. Alice Michaud has been visiting in Milan, Italy, as a guest of the Grand Hotel et de Milan. Among the latest California arrivals at the Select Palace Hotel in Viareggio, Italy, are Mr. and Mrs. William Stockton and Miss Marion Thomas of Los Angeles. Miss Barbara Greenwood and Miss C. Mitkiff have arrived at the Hotel Saint-James et d'Albany in Paris from London. Meirnier S. Sladem has been visiting in Baden-Baden, Germany, as a guest of the Hotel Stephanie.

Max Isaacs is in Lucerne, Switzerland, with his family.

Other guests of Lucerne hotels include: Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Nielson, Mr. and Mrs. McGregor and Mrs. H. Stratton, also stopping at the Hotel Schweizerhof, and Miss Ruth Welch at the National. Commander and Mrs. Oliver Locker-Lampson, the latter nee Paget of Pasadena, were in the group at tea on the terrace of the House of Commons in London last week when the ex-King of Greece was being entertained.

R. W. MacFarland of Hollywood has arrived at the Hotel Ambassador in Paris from Vichy, France. T. G. Mauritzen of Los Angeles and John C. Mathwig of Seattle, Wash., who have been for the last month in Norway and Sweden, have arrived in Stockholm. Later, they will go to Denmark, Germany, the Netherlands, Belgium, Switzerland and France. The Martha Washington of the Cosulich Line has arrived at Naples, Italy, from Boston and New York. Among the passengers were Robert L. Moore and Mrs. Hansen Moore. Mrs. Sylvester Weaver, Sylvester Weaver, Jr., and the Misses Sylvia and Rosemary Weaver, all of Los Angeles, have arrived at the Hotel de Crillon in Paris from Chinon. Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Eisaeser have been enjoying the season in Bad Wildungen, Germany, as guests of the Hotel Furstenhof.

Recent California guests of the Grand Hotel Miramare in Genoa, Italy, include George E. Dory of Pasadena, and P. L. Barney, Harry W. Dalson, S. James Shelton, Joseph F. Rothgeb, Dr. W. R. Tellesper and Harris Fallon of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe C. Cline, who have been touring Switzerland, were recent visitors to Lucerne, stopping at the Hotel Schweizerhof.

Mrs. Therese Stubb and Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Spinney are visiting in Geneva. The lines Arabic on its most recent trip to Europe, took a party of twenty interior decorators, department heads of American furnishing houses, who will tour England and France under the auspices of the Good Furniture Magazine. In the group is W. A. Marquard of Pasadena. The party of American editors who arrived in London last week was guest at luncheon at the offices of the London Times. In the afternoon, the editors had tea on the terrace of the House of Commons and later were guests of the Pilgrims' Club at dinner. Members of the party from California include: Arthur L. Clarke of the Mercury, San Jose; Wade L. Harris of The Observer, Los Angeles, and J. Earl Langdon of The Bee, Sacramento. Conditions in Russia are improving considerably, according to Crane Garts, who has just returned from several weeks' stay there. "Things are progressing generally in Russia," said Mr. Garts, "and affairs seem to be conducted on quite a business-like basis, with fairly good outlook for future activities." Mr. Garts is a resident of Los Angeles, though he spends much time in business in Paris. He expects to remain here for a protracted stay.

James Ovitt has returned to Paris from a visit to the Lido, Venice.

OATMEAL BISCUITS

One and one-half cupfuls flour, one tablespoonful sugar, seven teaspoonfuls baking powder, one and one-half teaspoonfuls salt, one and one-half cupfuls uncooked rolled oats, four tablespoonfuls shortening, three-quarters of a cupful milk.

Mix and sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Mix in the rolled oats. Rub in shortening with the finger tips. Add milk gradually and mix to a soft dough. Turn out on floured board, and roll, or pat to three-quarter inch thickness. Cut with biscuit cutter. Brush tops with milk and bake in quick oven (450 deg. F.) fifteen to twenty minutes. This recipe makes fourteen to sixteen biscuits.

HAM A LA KING

Two cupfuls ham cooked and diced, two cupfuls medium white sauce, two hard-cooked eggs sliced, one cupful mushrooms quartered, one pimiento cut in narrow strips, one minced green pepper. Heat the white sauce. Add green pepper, pimiento, mushrooms and ham. The egg may be used as a garnish or added with the other ingredients.

LOGANBERRY PUNCH

Juice three oranges, juice two lemons, one quart water, one cupful loganberry juice, one banana, one cupful sugar.

Mix orange juice, lemon juice, water, loganberry juice and sugar. Add banana cut in thin slices and serve cold. Makes seven glasses.

BEEF TONGUE, ROMAINE

Place a beef tongue in boiling water to which add one teaspoonful of black pepper corns, one tablespoonful brown sugar, one large onion, one large tablespoonful salt. Parboil for two hours, drain off juice, cool and remove the skin, then place in a deep Dutch oven or skillet with two tablespoonfuls of butter, brown on both sides, add another large onion, cut fine two or three carrots, cut in inch pieces, one and one-half cupfuls of broth in which the tongue has been cooked, one tablespoonful of flour dusted over this. Place in oven and bake one and one-half hours longer in moderate heat, cover tightly so as to keep in the steam. One-half hour before serving add one and one-half cupfuls of chili sauce, slice tongue keeping it together to look as if it were whole when placed on the platter.

BEET AND BERMUDA ONION SALAD

One-half cupful sliced Bermuda onions, one and one-half cupfuls shredded beets, one bunch of water cress, one-eighth teaspoonful carraway seeds.

Slice onions crosswise very thin, dredge with salt and pepper and carraway seeds, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar, and a teaspoonful of sugar, let stand an hour to season, cut the beets in strips, mix with three tablespoonfuls of French dressing and add the drained onions. Toss the cress in; and the additional dressing and arrange the salad upon it.

PARADE of FASHION HERE AND ABROAD

Visiting Buyers See First Winter Showing

PARIS, (AP)—The princess silhouette in coats and dresses is characteristic of the first winter collection shown. Christiane, a comparatively new house among the dressmakers, opened the season with a showing which might have been called "an afternoon with Irving Berlin."

His compositions were played throughout the parade of models, most of which are named for Irving Berlin pieces.

De luxe furs and expensive embroideries are missing from the Christiane collection. Self-trimmings in the form of appliqued bands, some stitching and piping is used. Coats which flare at the hem and cuff and button right up the front to a close-fitting neck are typical.

Shawl wraps of velvet combined with crepe de chine and chiffon are made to match evening dresses at this house. Dresses and coats hang four inches below the knees, as a rule.

Metallic Woolens Lead Fall Fabrics

PARIS, (AP)—Woolen fabrics which show a metal thread design are among the prettiest novelties in the winter dress collections. The metallic designs take the form of stripes, zig-zags, waterfall effects and small gold and silver patterns. Dresses of these fabrics are made on simple lines and rely for the most part on the material for trimming.

Rodier, who sponsors much of the gold-weave material, has inserted the syllable "dor"—French for gold—into many of his scientifically named fabrics. One of them is burador, a tweed weave with a metal thread in it.

NICOLE GROULT SHOWS SOME GIRLISH FROCKS

PARIS (AP)—Not many designers have the courage to appear in their own models, particularly if they are startling. Mme. Nicole Groult herself wore the most interesting model displayed at her winter fashion opening.

A high, fitted waist, full skirt and feminine trimmings characterize the new Groult collection. There were four ruffles on her straight gathered skirt. In her hand she carried a red chiffon handkerchief and her shoes were bright red velvet.

Letter on Night Terrors Causes Comment

Mrs. A. B. W. writes: Our baby acted the same as the lady's who screamed at night. We discovered she had pin worms but no one seemed to know what to do. Finally we heard of treating them with injections of salt water three nights in succession at bedtime. That will remove the worms present in the intestines and need not be repeated for several weeks.

Mrs. E. L. offers a like suggestion for night terrors though she advises worm medicines with a caution as to their dangerousness. I agree with her heartily.

The agility with which mothers jump to the conclusion that children are suffering with worms, causes me to admire the effectiveness of advertising. All the well-known symptoms believed to be caused by worms can also be caused by many other things, and I strongly disapprove of giving a child worm medicines unless there are actual evidences of the worms. The fact that a child grits his teeth or cries out in his sleep does not constitute cause for dosing him with dangerous drugs. One must be able to actually see the worms in the stools.

Worms are caused by the child swallowing the worm eggs, which later hatch in the intestines and stay there. Sometimes there are no symptoms whatever. A child who eats a heavy night meal of fried potatoes and pork will be much more likely to cry out in his sleep and grit his teeth than a child who has worms.

If worms are found in the stools by all means get rid of them quickly by the use of medicines and injections. Such a procedure should be dictated by a doctor and afterward the child must be kept from infecting himself by washing his hands carefully after going to the toilet. Worm eggs can stick to dirty fingers and the child may scratch himself and cause the eggs to become buried under the skin again, or put the fingers in the mouth and cause a fresh batch of the worms. That is why pin worms are harder to get rid of than the other types of worms, which are far less common, too.

If Keeping "That Schoolgirl Complexion" Is Your Aim

By NORMA SHEARER

DON'T think a naturally clear skin is denied you, or that costly beauty treatments are required to keep one. That has been disproved.

Beauty experts of this country and Europe advocate a rule so simple, so economical, that millions have adopted it. As a result you see that schoolgirl complexion wherever you look today.

The modern rule for beauty is a simple one: a proved complexion soap and water to keep the skin and pores clean; "make-up," powder and rouge thoroughly cleared from the skin every night before bed.

Wash the face gently with Palmolive. Massage its balmy olive and palm oil lather into the skin. Rinse with warm water; then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be naturally dry, apply a little cold cream. That is all—it's nature's rule for keeping that schoolgirl complexion.

Do that regularly, and particularly at night. Note how much better your skin in even one week.

GET REAL PALMOLIVE

Costs but 10c a cake. Use no other on your face. But be sure you get GENUINE Palmolive. Crude imitations, represented to be of olive and palm oils, are not the same as Palmolive. REMEMBER that and TAKE CARE. The Palmolive-Peet Co., Chicago, U. S. A.

"Times" Daily Short Story

"THAT GAY YOUNG SET"

The Pageant

By LUCILLE VAN SLYKE

NOTE: This is one of a series of short stories, each complete in itself, in which is retailed the uncivil war between the youngsters and the oldsters of an old-fashioned town

MISS ADA WINSLOW hadn't any methods about anything. And she never went at anything properly. She was sweet and twenty and moved by hunches. If she was "crazy about it," the whole world knew it; if she couldn't "see it," she ignored it completely. But for "it," whatever it was, she would dash about, violating the speed laws, rooting enthusiastically, recruiting everybody, man, woman or child—but preferably man! Her mode of attack was generally utterly unscrupulous and completely shameless. She made no bluff at noble motives. She would simply grab the nearest male, hang to his coat lapels, and, in a throaty, breathless, confidential tone, murmur:

"Oh, please, please help, won't you?" and the dazed man would.

Miss Ada was not for the new war memorial for any civic reasons. She happened to have fallen in love with a good-looking young sculptor who needed a commission.

"Though, of coiurse, my dear," she confessed to Babe Bliss, "I'm not quite so mad about Gideon as I was when I was first engaged to him last week. I simply won't leave a stone unturned to get enough money raised so he can strut his stuff, and he has that old maid Ralston just eating out of his hand. She says she's going right to work."

With Miss Ralston to round up the older citizens, and the fair Ada to organize the younger element, it did look as though the two factions were going to pull together, for once. Then she began to talk about a pageant.

"Pageant!" squealed the fair Ada, jumping to her feet, completely forgetting to address the solemn chair. "My dears, nobody does those things any more! They cost more money than ever they earn, and everybody looks like the dickens in those flopping costumes. What we thought would be a wow would be a nice zippy street fair. I know of a chap who puts on a dandy show and only grabs down a third of the receipts. He provides the posters and advertising matter and the junk for booths and the costumes and the whole slambango—it's a cinch. My cousin over in East Orange was on a committee that got him, and she says he's the smoothest proposition in the amusement world. You see, because it's charity, nobody stops you from—well—you know yourself how everybody falls for raffles and, well—wheels—and oh, everybody in the whole county will come!"

"The pageant will be led by the Honorable Philander Munro Findley, as the Spirit of the Pioneer, and Mrs. W. Herbert Warrington as the Spirit of Progress," announced the Clairmont Clarion. The list of those taking part read like a census of old Clairmont.

But the street fair chap simply plastered the billboards up and down the Post Road with dazzling yellow and red announcements that, although they mentioned no names, promised incredible things.

"Bound to attract highly undesirable riffraff!" Miss Ralston told her unhappy brother-in-law.

The Honorable Philander had put in many busy and uncomfortable days. Running multitudinous errands, chasing down pageant properties, wrangling over prices for costumes, arranging for grandstands to be erected. All the thousand and one things that his sister-in-law and his wife and their various committees thought of doing seemed to hinge upon some actual preliminary work on his part.

He came into the tearoom one afternoon, looking so harassed and fatigued and plain hot that Babs smiled at him pityingly.

Serene and cool in a crisp green linen smock, she brought him lemonade with her own fair hands, and murmured:

"What price pageant?"

And she laughed when he growled:

"You're pretty wise! You've kept out of both projects!"

Very demurely she tilted her sleek dark head sideways and said softly:

"Oh, I've not time to be philanthropic! And besides," she laughed, "I feel like a traitor to my kind to tell you this, and you must cross your heart and promise not to tell, but Ada isn't engaged to Gideon any more, so she doesn't care about raising the money for the memorial! She's only going on with her old street fair because she's so mad at the rest of you. She says she's going to get the money raised and then think up something for our crowd to spend it on!"

When Ada ran into the tearoom at noon, all pepped up with an idea for the "something worth while" that they could spend their money on, Babe's sympathies swung to youth, once more.

"No old monuments for this gang!" Ada shouted. "There's not a decent hospital for miles around—a memorial hospital—peach, eh?"

"Ada! Started just for spite!"

"Not exactly," Ada explained. "At first—y-yes—" She was honest! "But not afterward, for we do need a hospital, and Gideon doesn't need that job. I don't guess he even really wants it! I've found out he is the laziest coot! I think his sculptoring is mostly talk—I can't find he ever finished anything. But this hospital—isn't that the real thing?"

"You may need it, personally," Babs teased her. "Miss Ralston is trying to get an injunction against your showman—bricks will fly!"

"She can't get it!" Ada was decisive. "I've a pull with the county board, and she can't stop us!"

The Fourth of July dawned cool and lovely. Babs watched the pageant organize in Ralston Drive. It wasn't scheduled to start till three o'clock, but it takes time to trim a score of really beautiful floats, and hordes of persons struggled with costumes.

But, at four o'clock, with the festive line still waiting, Philander, his costume sadly rumpled, raced to Babs's door.

"You can ride!" he gasped. "I can't find anybody—er—older—I mean any lady—who can!" He flung a costume at her. "It's Mrs. Warrington's! She and Eunice and my wife—and—er—several other committee ladies can't—er—pageant today! That young Gideon fool cut the vines they worked with, and he and they are all swollen up—it was poison ivy!

"I'll have that street fair or die in the attempt, and I think I'll have it July Fourth."

Miss Ralston went at the thing with 200 neatly engraved invitations that read:

"Miss Ralston invites you to confer with other Clairmont residents on a matter of much civic importance at her home on Ralston Drive, Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock."

Most of these invitations went to her staid friends and enemies, but a score of them went into letter boxes that previously had not been honored with her envelopes. Miss Ada had given her a list of young matrons and maids whom she thought would "snap into it."

The youngsters would have gone from curiosity alone, for the stately old doors of the Ralston house had never been opened to them previously.

For the first half-hour the younger contingent behaved with utmost discretion, not one of them so much as murmuring when their hostess called the gathering to order, stated a purpose grandiloquently, and, with their kind permission—which she didn't wait for—appointed Mrs. W. Herbert Warrington to preside.

Mrs. Warrington, who once had been told she resembled Queen Mary, and who had, since that time, done everything she could to accentuate the fancied resemblance, assumed her duties in a truly regal manner.

She appointed Mrs. Philander Munro Findley secretary pro tem, and the pair of them were so parliamentary that the awed young listeners felt as though they were attending the opening session of Congress.

"We've a simply dandy scheme!" screamed the fair Ada.

"My dear Miss—er—Mrs.—er—Miss Ralston has the floor!" the chairman informed her icily.

"Right-o—be ready in two jiffs!" And was! Because she was already in her bathing suit and paused only to add the helmet and the coat of mail, leaving the miles of draperies designed for Lady Warrington on the back porch.

Like a shining young crusader, Babs rode beside Philander in what would have been a beautiful pageant if there had been spectators. For the grandstand, designed to hold a thousand, held a handful. And down the street the fair was languishing, having no customers. Suddenly Babs's eyes danced with fun. She leaned from her "palfrey" to shout at the lugubrious Philander:

"I have it! We'll lead them to the fair! There are hundreds of us in this foolish parade, with nowhere to go but out—we can make it pay!"

If the pageant ladies followed reluctantly, the pageant men did not!

"Break ranks! Play ball!" Philander cried through a megaphone, and, as one man, they dashed toward carousels, shooting galleries, dance floors and wheels of chance presided over by the youth and beauty of new Clairmont! Throughout the sunny afternoon and heavenly moonlit evening they frolicked. Young and old played together for the first time. War was over, peace reigned.

At midnight Ada, dancing with a new swain, called to Babs, who was waltzing with Philander.

Babs, this is Frederick Dyvoe—the well-known architect—he loves to design hospitals!"

"Philander!" confided Babs, "that girl's fickle affections are going to reconstruct our Clairmont!"

Murder Call Leads to Fine on Rum Charge

"Help! Murder! Police!! He's killing me, come quick!" breathlessly came a voice over the phone.

"Must be something wrong somewhere, everything's running according to Hoyle here," warned Mrs. Brown. "Just walk in and see for yourselves."

Appearing before Municipal Judge Bush on a charge of possessing liquor, Mrs. Brown was assessed $100 or the alternative of ten days in jail.

Despite the fine, Mrs. Brown says she believes the police missed the correct house.

Extra Money Calls Swamp City Council

The new City Council is learning that the money in the City Treasury is much desired by all city departments, with the result that the Council appropriated in July for "extras" $88,326, while the monthly budget allowance for additional appropriations was only $30,000.

The Council's Finance Committee at its meeting this afternoon is scheduled to take action on a large number of requests for additional appropriations. These "Gimme" requests include $351,000 for additional traffic signals, $202,000 for motorcycles, automobiles and added personnel for the police department, $48,000 for the care of prisoners and $30,000 to pay additional salaries to those members of the police department who have qualified as marksmen.

Cold Day When He Took Stove

Judge Sproul, new judge in the divorce court, thinks that Howard E. Swift is the meanest man he has heard about as yet. Mrs. Nellie Louis Swift told him about it.

"The day he left me was a col., cold day," she said. "I came home from work. He was gone. So was the stove. He had taken it with him. I nearly froze that night."

Milton N. Golden, her attorney, argued that this was not only desertion, but cruelty, and Judge Sproul granted Mrs. Swift a divorce.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

THREE CAUSES OF TUBERCULOSIS

The bacillus of tuberculosis is usually found in the sputum of patients suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis, but with many well-advanced cases it has often been impossible to find any trace of this bacilli which is so commonly cited as the cause of tuberculosis. The fact that it is not always present should show us that the infection with this germ is not the primary cause of tuberculosis.

One in every ten deaths in the United States may be attributed to this disease and, although the death rate is decreasing each year, there is still an appallingly needless loss of life from a disease which could be easily prevented if the fundamental cause were better understood.

From practical experience in diagnosing and treating thousands of cases of pulmonary tuberculosis, I have been forced to the conclusion that there are only three important underlying causes of this disease. I will mention them in the order of their importance:

Every tubercular patient has a tight, almost immovable diaphragm.

The diaphragm is a flat muscle separating the chest from the abdomen, and it is with this muscle that we do all of our breathing. As the diaphragm expands and contracts, the air is drawn in and forced out of the lungs. The lower ribs should open up and expand at inhalation, and be able to depress and contract at exhalation. This action of the chest the tubercular patient is unable to do satisfactorily.

The tendency to a tight thorax and diaphragm can be discovered early in life and corrected by suitable breathing exercises.

Enervation always precedes the state of tuberculosis.

Such weakness may be caused entirely by lack of exercise, and can be prevented by the use of calisthenic exercises, long daily walks, or any other desirable kind of physical culture training. Weakness simply means the absence of strength, and strength can only be produced by the requisite amount of physical exercise.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Boiled Puddings

A saucer placed in the bottom of the pan in which a boiled pudding is cooked will prevent the pudding from sticking to the pan.

A Rusty Fender

Rust on a steel fender can be removed with damp ashes. After which, rub paraffin oil well into the metal to prevent it from rusting again.

Better Teeth

Crusts of bread and zwieback should be given children as soon as they can eat them, as they will harden the teeth and cause them to grow healthily.

Stuck!

Lay a thin paper over the stamps that have stuck together and run a hot iron over them. You will then be able to separate them without injury to the mucilage.

A Time Saver

If you preserve and can a great deal, it will pay you to weigh your preserving kettles and pans and note them in the back of your cook book. Then you will not have to continually shift the dial of your scales.

When "Stacking" the Dishes

If you are going to "stack" the dishes, try to find time to wash the silver. If any water happens to be upon it, it is liable to rust and cause more work than if not washed.

Your Own Dustless Duster

To make dustless dust cloths at home, put cheesecloth into strong hot soapsuds to which a few drops of turpentine have been added. Allow cloths to stand for two hours, then wring and dry.

LAUGHLIN'S REVUE SETS RECORD PACE

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

Jack Laughlin, "California's young producer," branched out on the Orpheum Circuit yesterday afternoon, when his "Revue Novelette" aroused an audience which had remained persistently lethargic through the acts preceding. As an showman, Laughlin arranges his individual numbers so that one will run into another with no cessation in the breakneck speed he sets for the entire act, and besides keeps his performers making so much noise that the spectator has no time to think about such things as logic and continuity. This is perhaps, just as well, because there is nothing of either in "Revue Novelette."

The result is a sort of free-for-all nations, with nautch dancers, swarthy Spaniards, gypsy sweethearts, tumbling clowns, Volga boatmen and American sailors all rubbing shoulders in the mad melee, to which a semblance of order is restored long enough for two youngsters, Mureen and Sonny, to carry off the honors of the performance. Laughlin's company is variously talented, those taking part including Susette and Jose, Bert Frival, Amie Way, Carl Eyal, Babe Henley, Carney and Warner and ten girls.

The audience yesterday afternoon was stirred to its highest pitch of enthusiasm—and this did not shake the well-known rafters by any means—when Harris and Holley, a couple of colored comedians, shuffled on in the spot next to closing. They have an amusing line of languid bantering and a little boy with a treble voice whose arrival on the scene is nicely timed. Harris and Holley are not head-lined but they are good.

Solly Ward, comedian, makes the most of his opportunities in "Off to Maine," one of those family affairs with people falling over valises and a telephone which keeps ringing after the receiver is off the hook. Ward is quite funny and he works hard for laughs. He is assisted by Marjorie Hamilton and Estelle Wood.

Another playlet is "Auto Row," by Frank Davis, who has a leading part in it. There are four characters listed on the program, and after the last one, the Mechanic, appear four perplexing question marks. Well, I've guessed and guessed, but it's no use. Is it Solly Ward? Long Tack Sam? Long Tack Sam and his one-ring circus continue to dazzle by a display of ancient and modern arts, which leaves the occidental mind floundering for an explanation and drives home the truth of Kipling's accurate if misquoted "Darn' clever, these Chinese!" Edith Meiser, also retained for a second week, presents her characterizations from the Garrick Galeties with a vast impersonal charm while the audience listens respectfully.

The bill opens with the Dancing Kendreys in a skillful exhibition which would do credit to whirling dervishes. They are followed by Haru Onuki, Japanese prima donna, with a repertoire of melodious standard and operatic selections.

Knights Visit Grauman Temple

With Jacqueline Logan scheduled as star hostess, preparations are virtually complete for the observance of "Knights of Columbus Night" at this evening's performance of "The King of Kings" in Grauman's Chinese Theater.

A block of seats is reserved for several hundred members of Los Angeles Council and their families who will attend in compliment to the honored guests, high officials of the order, including Thomas P. White, supreme director; Howard J. Callanan, grand knight; Thomas G. Flanagan, secretary; Benno M. Brink, district deputy director; and Rev. Joseph Sullivan, president of Loyola College.

Presentation of a Roman scroll of greeting will be made to Grand Knight Callanan on behalf of Sid Grauman and an ancient Roman chariot, purchased from a private museum in Rome for the filming of "The King of Kings," will be unveiled in the forecourt. The chariot will be on display at the Chinese until September 1, when it will be transferred to the Los Angeles Museum.

SCREEN KIDDIES TO SEE FOX PHOTOPLAY

Le Roy Lane, director of the Screen Kiddies' Guild, will bring about 125 members of his organization to the Carthay Circle Theater Monday afternoon to see Frank Borzage's production of "Seventh Heaven."

The members of the Screen Kiddies' Guild include all of the most important juvenile members of the screen profession and they will be the guests of Fred Miller of the Carthay Circle, who believes it is a picture that will be an inspiration to these young members of the motion-picture profession.

Actor Meets Versatility Test

John Litel

Whose popularity is eloquent testimony to his appeal in the many roles he essays as leading man with the Morosco resident players. He plays Lord Dilling in "The Last of Mrs. Cheney," currently running.

HALEY STOPS THE SHOW

Although his jokes are but jokes and his singing voice certainly could be improved, Jack Haley with his comely partner, Flo MacFadden, took the Hillstreet audience by storm yesterday.

Haley is a good-natured, genial individual with a cocked hat, a cigar and a bread, broad smile. He has an apt way of taking his listeners into his confidence and when the laughs come they are positively uproarious. Miss MacFadden has personality as well as her share of pulchritude and makes a very able second in the act.

It's always a time for celebration when Ken Howell brings his Collegians back to the Hillstreet. Yesterday was no exception. The rah-rah lads in their striped blazers changed away at string instruments and trumpeted their horns, and in general made merry. It isn't so much what they do as the way they do it. For instance, one of their "gags" yesterday was the old familiar musical "Trip Around the World." Somehow or other, they gave it a strictly 1927 collegiate touch, which, of course, would be up to the minute.

A surprise of the bill was the appearance of Mildred Harris in a playlet entitled "Movie Mad," built around the attempt of an ingenue to break into pictures. Although Miss Harris proved a favorite personally, the playlet was not received with any great enthusiasm. It would seem that it was too long for its frail plot and that with some eliminations, the suspense could be heightened.

Another unheralded-in-advance attraction yesterday was the William and Bessie Ramadell Revue of local origin. This, too, could be snapped up considerably with good effect. In its favor, it must be said, that the the costumes are very nice, the setting is colorful and the participants are entirely pleasing in personal appearance. The two small oriental maidens do better at their dancing than at their singing, however.

An enterprising and peppy young man is the juvenile xylophonist, Michel, who pounds out several tunes, all the while keeping time with seemingly unmanageable and jazz-mad toes.

The picture feature of the week stars Lew Cody and Renee Adoree. It is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer release, "On Ze Boulevard," directed by Harry Millarde, and as would be gained by the title, is a gay French farce.

Chorus Lauded at Music Box

Will Morrissey's "Exposures," sparkling Hollywood revue, will enter the sixth week of its run at Macloon's Music Box Theater Wednesday night. The business which has marked the engagement locally has continued consistently and indications are that the production, starring Will Morrissey and Midgie Miller, will run into the fall.

One of the individual hits of the revue is the chorus of thirty Midgie Miller girls. The girls are said to be one of the greatest collections of feminine pulchritude ever seen on a local stage, and their beauty and dancing ability hav been praised by theatergoers and critics alike.

Ray Mayer, making his debut in a stage production, is being heralded as a "second" Will Rogers, and Morrissey has made him his protege.

GITTELSON PREDICTS BANNER SHOW YEAR

That Los Angeles is on the threshold of its greatest theatrical season in years, is the prediction of Harry Gittelson, prominent ticket broker, who has just returned from his vacation.

That he is qualified to know is evidenced by the fact that he and his brother have been in their present business and have watched Los Angeles theatrical production grow, for the past fifteen years.

George Gittelson, the other member of the firm, is leaving on a short vacation.

Troupers Will Attend Theater

Tonight will be "Troupers' Night" at the Hollywood Playhouse. Through the courtesy of Ed W. Rowland, managing director, members of the Troupers' Club will witness the performance of "If I Was Rich," the comedy now playing at the theater.

Members of the club are thespians who have been active in stage work for a period of thirty years or more. The roster contains names which were household words a few years ago, and who still stand at the peak of their profession. It is expected that approximately 200 of the stage veterans will attend the theater party which is honoring Ed Rowland, new members of the Troupers, and Charles Dow Clark, "old-timer" who is appearing in "If I Was Rich."

Lionel Belmore will deliver a short speech of welcome to his colleagues. The gathering will be somewhat in the nature of a reunion when reminiscences may be stepped and old scenes relived.

Among the prominent troupers who will be present are: Spottiswoode Aitken, William H. Crane, Joseph De Grasse, Frank Cooley, Harry English, James Gordon, Charles Thuleon, Burr McIntosh, William V. Mong, Al Fremont, Banks Winter, Felix Haney, Thomas Jefferson and W. A. Orlamond.

Notable Ones View "Oh, Kay"

The new Mayan Theater next to the Belasco drew more than its share of celebrities at the premiere a week ago, but the attendance of such was by no means limited to that performance. Hundreds equally notable with the first-nighters sought seats too late, and were not able to come. The attraction of a dedication, however, was not the sole lure for them, and distinguished audiences have been the rule at all performances.

Among those who attended after the dedication were Norma Shearer, Fred and Fannie Mation, Noah Beery and L. Crane, to name but a few.

Tonight, twelve executives and stars of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will be present.

STAR IS ANXIOUS TO REVISIT HOLLYWOOD

That malignant dread, homesickness, has overcome Edith Roberts, according to a cablegram received from this film actress, who is now en route to Hollywood on the S. S. Sonoma, which recently left Sydney, Australia.

For the past four months, Miss Roberts has been residing in the Fiji Islands, where she was being costarred with Edmund Burns in a feature picture directed by Norman Dawn. However, immediately following the completion of her contract with the Australasian producing organization, this actress made reservations on the first available steamer to return to America.

The popularity of filmland's satellites in the Antipodes was evinced by the cordiality extended both Miss Roberts and Burns during their stay.

GOOSSENS CONDUCTS LAST CONCERT HERE

English Guest Leads Orchestra Through "Phantasmania" of Simmons

A popular program less standardized than those usually heard at the Hollywood Bowl on Saturday evenings marked the eighth and last appearance there of Eugene Goossens, guest conductor, and the first appearance in America of "Phantasmania," a concerto for piano and orchestra by Homer Simmons, who was present as soloist.

In a footnote Simmons states as his aim in "Phantasmania" the expression in an art form of "the spirit which is America and the spirit which is jazz"—a large order, truly. He further defines jazz as a combination of rhythm and melody; he makes no mention of virility; and if he fails in his stated objective it is because he has ignored this virility, which is so essentially the warp and woof of, for example, Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue." Simmons's composition may be traced, one divines, to French modernistic influences rather than to American or African; and this divination persists despite the inclusion—each time with suddenness—of certain broadly syncopated passages.

"Phantasmania" is decidedly worth listening to. Simmons played well, and the orchestra was never taxed beyond its ability as it was during the previous week's performance of the Gershwin rhapsody.

The polonaises of two Russians were included on the program. Tschaikowsky's—from the opera, "Eugene Onegin"—was the more colorful of the two. The other, from a ballet suite, Opus 52, of Glazounow, was aggravatingly reminiscent of Chopin's Polonaise Militaire—mostly, perhaps, because a polonaise is so circumscribed within limits of form and tempo.

The lovely, limpid "By the Tarn" of Goossens and the popular Praeludium of Jarnefelt, the latter repeated, were gratefully received, as was the favorite "Caprice Italien" of Tchaikowsky.

Two Wagner numbers lent a sonorous beauty to the program: the preludo to the third act of "Die Meistersinger" and the Huldigung's Marsch ("March of Homage,") the latter performed for the first time in Los Angeles.

At the conclusion of the concert, Conductor Goossens was called back again and again to receive the plaudits of those who had gathered for his farewell bow.

Horton Talks on Gentlemen and Blonds

"When gentlemen pursue blonds—that's mellerdrammer," says Edward Everett Horton, star in "In Love With Love," which is in its last week at the Playhouse, "but when blonds start pursuing gentlemen—it's comedy."

Though Eddie maintains an innocent bachelor hasn't a chance when a determined young flapper starts pursuing him, he manages to make a hilarious process out of the pursuit. Helene Millard plays the role of the fickle flapper whose suitors don't suit her after she discovers the one remaining male in the universe who can remain indifferent to her charms. For two whole acts of laughter the farce frolics on, with Horton unaware that the lovely lady is trying to lure him. When he finally does succumb—and, of course, he does—everybody's happy except the disappointed suitors in the offing.

Stewart Wilson, popular New York juvenile, and J. Anthony Smythe as the ardent and unsuccessful swain, are scoring a real hit, 'tis said. They will both be seen with Horton and Miss Millard in the forthcoming production of "Going Crooked," Horton's next starring vehicle, which will have its Los Angeles premiere Monday night at the Playhouse.

Fans to Greet John Gilbert

More than usual interest is centered upon the personal appearance of John Gilbert at the Criterion Theater tonight, the management reports.

For when he steps on the stage, Gilbert will have thrust precedents and traditions into the celluloid limbo by appearing in person at the request of motion-picture fans in a theater showing a picture that was produced more than two years previously.

Gilbert's appearance will mark the beginning of the third year of the war picture's popularity. Its first run in New York is scheduled to close in September; this is nearly the ending of its fourth week in Los Angeles, where it is being popularly shown for the first time.

Gilbert will be introduced by Jan Rubini.

DONLAN MOVES NEXT DOOR FROM BELASCO

James Donlan is "Shorty" McGee, the cohort of the ringleader of scofflaws in "Oh, Kay!" at the Mayan Theater. Donlan—or McGee—wouldn't poison any one except a hi-jacker, and his "stuff" is the "finest imported stock" obtainable, although he admits that it is "cut and cut."

Donlan's comedy gifts were developed by the late Frank Bacon, who picked him up in Omaha and gave him parts. Al Woods later took him for bedroom farces, and for three years kept him crawling under beds. On his recent return to the Coast, Donlan made a hit as a member of the carnival troupe in "The Barker," at the Belasco Theater, and subsequently was cast for the part of Squibbs in "The Great Necker." Gerhold O. Davis, producer of Elsie Janis in "Oh, Kay!" obtained his release from the Belasco production because "Oh, Kay!" next door offered more opportunity for his talents.

Although he is really a "bootlegician's" assistant, circumstances force him to pose as a butler, and later as a married man, although he is as unmarried as the Prince of Wales. His gaucherie as a butler is one of the high lights of the comedy in the production.

CLUB WILL PRESENT COMEDY, "RELATIONS"

Edward Clark's "Relations," a comedy of Jewish life on New York's East Side, will have its premiere at the Garret Club, 132 1-2 South Spring street, Wednesday evening, and will be kept on the boards for one week. The players will be the author himself, Marie Chapelle, Grace Glaser, Allegn Carlyle, Geraldine Madsell, Lennox Sexton, William Parker, William Reynolds, Demetrius, Emanuele, Jerry Hall, Floyd Storm and Roland MacLane.

MINIMUM CHARGE 2 LINES.

To estimate the cost of want ads count 5 average words per line. Words containing more than 6 letters should be counted as two words.

Advertisers should retain receipts given by The Times for payment of Want Ads, as no mistakes will be rectified without them.

Cancellation of advertisements before appearance cannot be guaranteed to take effect until after the advertisement has appeared once. Countermands must be received by 3:30 p.m. for daily issue and 6 p.m. Friday for Sunday Times.

Rates for display advertising will be furnished on request.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

The inadvertent omission or incorrect publication of advertising will be rectified only by cancellation of the charge made for the service rendered.
